REPORT "DAGO FRANK" GUNMAN CONFESSED

THE WEATHER.
Fair and continued cold tonight; Tuesday fair with rising temperature; moderate, variable breezes.
Sun rises 5:07 a. m., sets 6:23 p. m.
Length of day 13:16.
High tide 1 a. m., 1:30 p. m.
Temperature: Boston 30, Chicago 16, New York 34, Los Angeles 60, San Francisco 58, Philadelphia 38.

BOSTON AMERICAN

SPORTING EXTRA

VOL. II—No. 24. BOSTON, MONDAY, APRIL 13, 1914. PRICE ONE CENT.

GAFFNEY CHARGES BASEBALL PLOT

Johnny Dundee Is Here Fights Matty Baldwin

Johnny Dundee, the little New York featherweight who boxes Matty Baldwin at the opening of the Atlas A. C. at the Boston Arena tomorrow night, came to Boston today. He is one of the young fighters who has managed to stand ring prosperity without trying to fly in "high life" circles.

Johnny has been fighting professionally exactly four years and has a houses in New York to show for it. He has an ambition to amass $100,000 worth of kayoes and a couple of cops, retire from the ring a champion and go into the real estate business.

He isn't anxious about getting the money for himself, but he has a charming young wife and a fourteen months' old daughter, Lucille, both of whom he wishes to put beyond the fear of worry in case anything should happen to him. Which accounts for the fact that he is one of the busiest fighters in the world today, appearing in the ring on an average of twice a week throughout the year.

When a youngster at school, he used to work afternoons at his father's fish store on Perry-dise street, New York. Johnny particular job was guarding the front from the ravages of the youngsters of the district. Consequently, he soon learned to use his hands.

One of the managers of a New York club spied Johnny one day standing off a crowd of kids and signed him up.

That was nine years ago, when the little scrapper was about fourteen years old. He started boxing lessons, and when he was sixteen started to appear in the amateur classes. His success was immediate and he soon had several titles.

Just four years ago he switched over to the professional end of the game, and has been winning ever since. He has battled more than two hundred times, and the worst he ever got was a "raw decision. He had two fights with the featherweight champion, Johnny Kilbane, and both came out even.

The little Italian is in mighty good shape for his go with Matty Baldwin tomorrow night, and this morning weighed in at 125 pounds. He will have to concede his opponent about five pounds.

Johnny Dundee, the aggressive young aspirant for the featherweight and welterweight titles, and his wife and child.

FEDERALS OPEN THE SEASON

BRAVES SUE FOR $25,000

NEW YORK, April 13.—President

LOU CRIGER IS DYING

ELKHART, Ind., April 12.—Lou Criger, once known as the greatest of all catchers, when he was a member of the Boston American League champions in 1903 and 1904, is dying at the home of his sister here, a victim of tuberculosis. The famous battery mate of "Cy" Young cannot, according to his physicians, live more than a month at the most.

He has been sick for the past year, but it was not until recently that his illness took such a bad turn that the doctors despaired of saving his life.

George Cupp, one time pitcher, who was a member of the Cleveland team with Criger before the American League came into being, lives here, and is continually at the bedside of the dying catcher.

Criger was born in this town in February, 1872. After the usual run of semi-professional playing, he entered league baseball in 1895 as a member of the Kalamazoo team of the Michigan State League. The following year he was purchased by Pittsburg Wayne of the Central League, and so great was his showing that at the end of the season he was taken over by Cleveland, then in the National League.

Though the Naps at that time had two star backstops, the new youth displayed such ability that he was used regularly and soon had the reputation of being the star man in his league baseball.

When in 1900 the American League started in earnest to rival the old major organization, the Boston American agents approached and signed up the great Cy Young. Criger had been catching Cy, and when his pitcher jumped so did he.

With the Boston team he was a star of the brightest kind, and it was his splendid work, behind the box that helped the team into a pair of pennants. In the world series against Pittsburgh in 1903, Criger caught every game, and his magnificent coaching of the ers buoyed them up and enabled them to pull the title out of the fire after Pittsburgh had the series practically won.

He remained with Boston till 1910, when he was traded to St. Louis and of the latter his partner, Young, is now to Cleveland. After a year with St. Louis, the once great catcher was released outright to Milwaukee in the American Association, where he played a couple of seasons, only to come back to the Browns in 1912 in the capacity of scout and coach of the young pitchers. It was then that his illness became acute, and he was obliged to give up his active connection with the game.

30,000 AT FIRST 'FED' BALL GAME

BALTIMORE, April 13.—Mad with enthusiasm and cheered on by clear skies and a bright sun, 30,000 "fans" flocked to the ball grounds on York road here today to witness the opening of the new Federal League in Baltimore. Buffalo vs. Baltimore was the opening attraction.

Never since the days of Ned Hanlon's champion Orioles has there been so much enthusiasm in baseball circles around this town. Early in the day the "fans" began their rush for the ball park, and long before the hour set for the beginning of the battle all the seats were filled. All the reserved seats were disposed of a week before the opening date.

BIG PARADE BEFORE GAME.

The game was preceded by a parade of players, officials and rooters, in which brass bands, autos and vehicles of every kind participated. "Booster clubs," consisting of boards of "fans" on foot and in various kinds of vehicles, were also in line. The route of the parade was lined with thousands of persons.

Mayor Preston threw out the first ball, which was caught by Governor Goldsborough. Among the notables on hand were: President Gilmore of the new league, Charles Weegman of the Chicago club, William Watkins of Indianapolis and the Ward brothers of Brooklyn. A big delegation of the faithful, accompanied by Mayor Furham and the directors of the Buffalo club, came down from Buffalo to whoop things up for their team.

A MUNICIPAL HOLIDAY.

Several weeks ago an effort was made to have the government declare today a State holiday, but this failed. Mayor Preston, however, declared the day a municipal half-holiday and many of the business houses and factories closed down at noon.

Sympathy and regrets were expressed today over the severe injury Enos Kirkpatrick, third baseman of the Baltimores, received on Saturday when, in an exhibition game, he broke his ankle, which will probably put him out of the game for the rest of the season. He had been loaned on as a big factor in today's game.

NO HOPE FOR STAR CATCHER

FIRST BASEBALL DEATH

Misjudged Fly Fatal

NEW YORKER VICTIM

NEW YORK, April 13.—John Nelson, eighteen years old, a printer, is dead at his home, No. 682 Hicks street, Brooklyn, as a result of being struck in the head by a baseball while playing Saturday.

He was knocked unconscious when a misjudged fly ball struck him in the forehead, and stayed the game out after he was struck. Yesterday he complained of pains in his head. A physician was called, but the young man died in an hour of hemorrhage of the brain.

GALLANT AND DUFFY READY FOR FAST GO

BOUTS TONIGHT.

At Cambridge—Johnny Gallant vs. Freddy Duffy, Gus Murphy vs. Victor Fleurie, Peter Greene vs. Johnny Duffy, Fulgo Murphy vs. Johnny Boyle.

At Buffalo—Jess Willard vs. Dan Dailey.

At Philadelphia—Johnny Kilbane vs. Frankie Daly.

At Baltimore—George Chaney vs. Joe Coster.

At Union, Ind.—Gus Christie vs. Frank Roe.

At Rochester, N. Y.—Pal Moore vs. Frankie Burke.

By RINGSIDE.

If Freddy Duffy succeeds in getting a decision over Johnny Gallant at the University A. C. in Cambridge tonight, he intends to go out after some of the big guns in the lightweight division, and will make Eddie Murphy of South Boston his particular aim. Duffy has been progressing very steadily for a number of years, but has not been very fortunate in the matter of getting good matches. He has decided to forego the waiting policy hereafter and to get out and hustle, so that he will have a chance to show just where he fits.

* * *

In Gallant, however, he tackles an opponent who is much better than he is generally given credit for—a boy who can battle in any style and who is never licked. He also is anxious to get in the ladder and is in splendid condition for the battle. Like Duffy, he has the idea that a bout with Murphy would be a good chance to move things along, and if victorious will fling a gauntlet at the clever South Boston boxer.

* * *

Some time ago, according to Duffy, Murphy agreed to give him a battle if he could make the poundage the day of the fight. The Jamaica Plain boxer is now down to this weight and says he is just as strong as ever. He is willing to post a forfeit to clinch a match with Murphy. As several of the local promoters have this matter in view, it is a good bet that it will be staged very shortly. It would be a good drawing card, as both camps have very big followings.

* * *

Murphy will probably be one of the principals in the star bout at next week's Columbia meeting, though his opponent has not yet been decided. If he is willing, there is a possibility that the winner of tonight's main battle will be put up against him.

FOUR SLAYERS DIE IN CHAIR

NEW YORK, April 13.—It is reported here that "Dago Frank" Cirofici made a confession before he and the other three gunmen went to the chair this morning.

The report was that at 1 o'clock this morning "Dago Frank" asked to see his spiritual adviser, Father Cashin, and that he gave Father Cashin a complete story of his share in the crime. The story he told, taken down in writing, was forwarded to Governor Glynn—according to report.

When the report was brought to the ears of Attorney Wahle, chief counsel for the gunmen, he denied it absolutely. He said:

"I haven't heard about it and I don't believe it."

Nevertheless, so complete was the report that even the slayers of Rosenthal were named. According to the "confession" the men who fired the actual shots were "Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood" and Harry Vallon. Vallen is alive. The other two paid the penalty this morning.

CALLED AWAY TO HELP WOMAN.

Dago Frank admitted—so the story goes—that he was to have had a share in the killing, but that he was called away to help a young woman who had been arrested.

The four gunmen were electrocuted at dawn today. True to their predictions, they died game.

It required just thirty-nine minutes to execute the gunmen who went to their death in this order: First, Frank Cirofici, alias "Dago Frank;" second, Jacob Seidenschner, alias "Frank Madler" and "Whitey Lewis;" third, Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood." Fourth, Lewis Rosenberg, alias "Lefty Louie."

Whitey Lewis alone made a statement in the death chamber. It was a jerky assertion that Witnesses who swore that they shot Rosenthal were perjurers.

Whitney's was on the verge of collapse. He suffered an emotional breakdown in the death house at the last moment. This unexpected turn of affairs compelled the execution plans to be changed at the last moment.

Whitey was shaving and his razor was also. Only seconds elapsed as electricians strapping the slender form upon the condemned seat and deathly silence of the death house.

Continued on Page 2 Column 1

Bride Witness in Siegel Case

Mrs. Diana E. "Dolly" Eddy-Brown, the bride of James Salisbury Brown of Providence, testified today before the Suffolk Grand Jury probing the failure of the Siegel bank in Boston and Henry Siegel himself, of fairs generally. Mrs. Eddy-Brown, who was the central figure at the courthouse today, sat in the Grand Jury room for fifteen minutes. She was the first witness.

The Grand Jury began its inquiry at 11:15. The second witness was James E. Lynch, chief clerk of the Siegel bank in Boston.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle announced that Mrs.

Continued on Page 2 Column 1

China Cock Wins the Queen's Prize

KEMPTON PARK, Eng., April 12.—P. Nolan's China Cock, aged 4 years, won the Queen's Prize handicap, worth $5,000, here today. Bonfire ran second and Lady Carnarvon's Rivoli third.

SOX RETURNING FOR 1ST GAME

By JACK CONWAY.

SPRINGFIELD, April 13.—The Red Sox party passed through here late this afternoon enroute for Boston, where they are due to arrive at 8:35 o'clock tonight.

Before quitting the West Carrigan's men stopped off at Cincinnati long enough to trounce Charley Herson's Reds by a count of 4 to 0.

The Red Sox played a fast, snappy game of ball and outclassed the Reds. They secured six hits off Rowan, while they connected with one safety off Yingling's benders.

Everett Scott was one of the chief stars of the game. He made two of Boston's runs, while he lined out a smashing hit. In the field he played a sensational game, accepting thirteen chances without an error. He is as fast as a young deer and covers a great deal of ground.

Lewis and Hooper each got two

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

James E. Gaffney of the Boston National League club announced today that he intends to take legal action for conspiracy against the officers of the Federal League and its president, James Gilmore, individually.

"The action will be brought to recover the damages to which the Boston club is entitled by reason of the conspiracy entered into by those parties, which resulted in Quinn's breaking his contract with the Boston club."

Gaffney denounced the Federal League leaders as "hypocrites, who have been going around telling how upright and honorable they were." The amount to be asked by Gaffney is said to be $50,000.

Gaffney's statement follows:

"No action has been taken against Player Quinn up to this

Continued on Page 8, Column 1

Children Gain Flesh Taking Father John's Medicine, pure, wholesome food.

THE BASEBALL SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Complete Stories of All Games and All Other Sport News in the SPORTING EXTRA of the Boston AMERICAN.

President Insists on Mexican Apology

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The United States will insist upon the firing of a salute to the American flag by the Mexican Federals at Tampico for the insult in arresting and penalizing as prisoners a party of American marines.

It was plain from President Wilson's attitude today that there is no intention on his part to pursue a conciliatory, policy toward the Mexican outrage, but he let it be known that he will not seek hat

Continued on Page 8, Column 3.

LATEST BASEBALL GAMES

At Philadelphia—Athletics 1, Phillies 0, end 3d.
At Baltimore—Giants 1, Baltimore 0, end 2d.
At Baltimore—Buffalo Feds 0, Baltimore Feds 0, end 3d.

VERRIER ESCAPES WHEN 'PLANE HITS TREE.

MARSEILLES, April 13.—Aviator Pierre Verrier, who set out from London to Monaco, had a narrow escape when his aeroplane crashed into a tree on Arnet Plain, wrecking it.

BRIDE HERE AS WITNESS IN SIEGEL CASE

Continued from First Page.

Henry Siegel would not testify before the Grand Jury today. He declared that her appearance as a witness would depend on developments.

In all thirty witnesses have so far been called—ten of them for today. Originally Mrs. Siegel, wife of the ex-banker, was on today's list. She is reported ill in New Jersey.

Mrs. Eddy-Brown reached the court house at 10 o'clock. She was accompanied by her husband and her counsel, Henry B. Tiepke, former Mayor of Nantucket, R. I.

Mrs. Eddy-Brown is an attractive woman—even more attractive than her photographs show her. She has blonde hair and a fair complexion. She was dressed in a medium blue suit and wore a white blue hat.

The Judicial temple swarmed in Mr. Lavelle's office while the Grand Jury disposed of a minor case that it had was investigating. The Siegel investigation was expected to follow as soon as this smaller case was disposed of.

MANY WITNESSES CALLED.

Mr. Lavelle denied today that he had gone to New York, to summon Mrs. Siegel to Boston. He said the District Attorney's office had been in communication with her and stated that she would not testify today. He refused to say definitely whether she would be called later.

Those were the witnesses summoned for today:

Mrs. Dolly Eddy-Brown — the woman Mrs. Siegel names in her divorce suit.

Joseph Siegel, Henry Siegel's nephew and resident manager of the former Siegel store, Boston store.

James W. Hall, who has supervised the examination of the Siegel books here for Mr. Pelletier.

James E. Lynch, chief clerk at the Siegel bank here.

John F. Toland, assistant clerk at the bank.

James L. King, a bank employe.

Mary F. Fitzgerald, a bank employe.

Mary A. Doyle, a bank employe.

Police Inspector Silas F. Waite.

Police Lieutenant John J. Mooney.

Report Sealer Kite and Seventy Lost in Blizzard

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 13.—The steamer Kite and her crew of seventy men are believed to have been lost in the blizzard which overcame three-score of the men on the Newfoundland ice floes. The Kite is the converted Southern Cross with 175 aboard.

Captain Winsor of the steamer Bloodhound, which arrived from the northern seal fishing grounds, reported that a member of the Kite's crew had been found on his ice floe. There were no trace of any other men from the Kite, which is now nearly a week overdue. Captain Winsor said that his ship had passed through a quantity of wreckage off Cape Bauple.

Bigelow Asks for Review of Old Dominion Decree

Albert S. Bigelow of Cohasset has filed in the Supreme Court a petition for a review of the decree by which the Old Dominion Copper Mining and Smelting Company was given a judgment of $1,292,433.35 against Bigelow.

That decree was the result of the claim that Bigelow and his associates had sold the company certain mining properties at an excessive value. Bigelow now claims that new evidence shows those mining properties were, as a matter of fact, worth more than the price for which he and others sold them.

Kitty Gordon's Gems in Care of Her Maid

After Miss Kitty Gordon, the actress, had called Pemberton police headquarters a stir by reporting through her husband that some of her jewels were missing the gems, a $1,500 pair of earrings and a $700 cluster ring, were "found" today. Miss Gordon's anxiety was relieved when her trusted maid, Mary Gray, produced the jewels. The gems had been in her care and when she heard of the stir she explained and the police stopped work.

Coldest April 13 in Forty Years

Shiver! Now do it again. Shiver!

This, ladies and gentlemen, is the coldest April 13 Boston has seen since 1874, which is forty years ago. The mercury touched 28 this morning—four degrees below freezing. In 1874 it went down to 22, which is the nearest approach to today's low record.

And the prediction is:

"Continued cold tonight. Rising temperature tomorrow."

Rosebud Pendants

A lovely innovation in 14K gold and coral.

14K Gold, $6.00 to $33.00
Gold Plated, $1 and $1.50

Smith Patterson Co.
52 Summer Street

BISONA PILE REMEDY
gives immediate relief and in a reasonable time cures the worst cases of Piles. Sold on a positive guarantee. Send for booklet and testimonials. BISONA CHEMICAL CO., 64 Broad St., Boston.

U. S. BACKS UP MAYO; MEXICO MUST SALUTE

Continued from First Page.

position explicitly until he has conferred with Envoy Lind and Secretary of State Bryan. Secretary of the Navy Daniels in commenting upon the situation at Tampico said:

"There is not the least doubt that the salute will be fired. Admiral Mayo has been informed that the government approves most heartily of his action in demanding this salute and that the United States will take steps to see that this demand is backed up if the Mexicans refuse to comply with it.

OTHER MOVES TO-DAY.

"There has been no time set. If the Mexicans promise to salute the flag that will do for the present; if they refuse, we will have to resort to other measures.

What these measures would be, the Secretary of the Navy declined to state, but it is believed they will include a naval demonstration, possibly of the entire Atlantic fleet off Tampico. Secretary Daniels conferred with Secretary Bryan concerning Admiral Mayo's demand.

OTHER MOVES TO-DAY.

"There has been no time set. If the Mexicans promise to salute the flag that will do for the present; if they refuse, we will have to resort to other measures.

What these measures would be, the Secretary of the Navy declined to state, but it is believed they will include a naval demonstration, possibly of the entire Atlantic fleet off Tampico. Secretary Daniels conferred with Secretary Bryan concerning Admiral Mayo's demand.

SPAIN ASSURED OF U. S. PROTECTION OF SUBJECTS IN MEXICO

MADRID, April 13.—Protection for Spaniards in Mexico was today declared by the Spanish government to by the government of the United states in reply to representations made by the foreign office on Saturday through Ambassador Willard. A telegram was received today from Secretary Bryan promising protection and saying that General Carranza, Provisional President of the Constitutionalists, would not molest the property of the expelled Spaniards.

TORREON THREATENED AS VILLA PURSUES VELASCO AT PARRAS

TORREON, Mex., via Juarez, April 12.—(Delayed by censor.) Three thousand Federal troops are marching northward to attack Torreon while General Villa and the main body of the Constitutionalist forces are attempting to destroy General Velasco's rallied forces at Parras.

Though there is a large force of rebel troops here a hurry call was sent today to General Villa to hasten back to resist the threatened attack. On a train carrying Mexican troops from Pedro were 208 Constitutionalists wounded and 265 Federal prisoners. The Federals, under Colonel Medina, made have appealed to the Constitutionalist leaders for permission to join the rebel army. They said that hundreds of the soldiers fighting for Huerta were starving and would be glad to join the Constitutionalists if given an opportunity. From the wounded rebels it was learned that the town of San Pedro had been recaptured by the Federals on Friday after Villa had gone to Parras in pursuit of Velasco. The little force of defenders were put to rout by the soldiers of General Arguemedo and General Campa and began to retire to the westward to await reinforcements. The water supply at San Pedro was poisoned by the Federal troops before General Velasco led his army to Parras. Many Constitutionalist officers were poisoned before this fact was learned and several of them died.

MERCHANT STEAMSHIP FIRED ON BY A REBEL GUNBOAT, SAYS CAPTAIN

VERA CRUZ, April 13.—The steamer Libertad was fired upon by the Mexican gunboats at Tampico when the vessel made to enter the harbor, according to the story told by her captain when the steamer arrived here today. The steamer Iberia sailed today for Tampico to meet the offensive.

Golden Wedding of Chester Marr

Chester Marr, well known by wholesale fish dealers of Boston as a buyer for a Gloucester concern at the old T Wharf Market, and Mrs. Marr quietly celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Gloucester today. This evening they will hold an informal reception.

"THIS IS THE LIFE"

So get the best in it. As for us Hampshire pa. that's Cosmopolitan. The May number is just out. Get your copy today at any news stand.

MISS FAY BERNICE TUCKER of Brookline, whose engagement to Edward Thomas Richardson of Newton Centre has just been announced.

Brookline Girl to Wed Newton Man

An engagement of interest to society in that of Miss Fay Bernice Tucker to Edward Thomas Richardson, Cornell '13 of Newton Centre. Miss Tucker is the talented daughter of Mrs. Henry Otis Tucker of Brookline and is prominent in the affairs of the younger social set.

Marlborough "Heir" Held for Burglary

HARTFORD, Ct., April 13.—Lester Dyson, an eighteen-year-old Southington boy, who claims to be a descendant of the last Duke of Marlborough and an heir to an estate valued at millions of dollars, was arrested here last night charged with the burglary of the Vogel jewelry store on March 17, when $1,050 worth of jewelry was stolen.

Kitty Gordon to Root for Red Sox

Kitty Gordon and the members of her company in "Pretty Mrs. Smith" at the Cort Theatre will attend the game tomorrow between the Red Sox and the Senators. Miss Gordon and her associates will be the guests of the Red Sox management on Wednesday night the ball players will see the play at the Cort. They will be the guests of Miss Gordon.

Accused of Hurling Woman to Death

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 13.—Charged with hurling a woman from a window on the fourth floor of a hotel and killing her, Joseph Weitz, who says he is a New York fireman, was held without bail today by Recorder McGovern.

Boston Artists Show at the Paris Salon

Marion B. Allen, Bancel La Farge and Phillip Roger are among the Boston artists showing pictures at the National Salon of Fine Arts, Paris. Mrs. Lucy Richards is a Boston sculptor represented.

5 MAIN 8

Any time, night or day, it's most convenient. Just to say, Main 5180.

Boston American "Want Ads" Bring Results.

WOULD HAVE U. S. OWN RAIL AND WATER LINES

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Three bills introduced in the Senate today by Senator Lewis of Illinois propose to revolutionize the entire transportation system of the United States through the purchase by the government of all interstate railroads and the construction by the government of 100 ships to be chartered as a government merchant marine.

The bills also propose the creation of a commission of twenty-one members, seven from each political party, to settle the Interstate Commerce Commission problems now to be handled by banking and finance and the third to hold jurisdiction over manufactures and industry.

A complete system of government regulation of issues by the railroads and transportation enterprises is included.

The bills authorize the government to lease all of the railroads and steamships up to 1925 at a fixed rental, giving to the public supervision of prices, wages and conditions of service. A minimum profit of 6 per cent. is to be allowed the lessees of these railroads.

Delay in Writs for Billard Witnesses

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Application to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for a writ of mandamus to compel Henry V. White, the famous Hemenway, Edward S. Field and Samuel C. Stoneham to testify before the Senate committee investigating conditions in baseball, was denied today by Justice Stafford. Justice Stafford announced tomorrow he would issue a writ compelling the witnesses to appear before the committee.

Lowell Boy Killed in West as Burglar

LOWELL, April 13.—A telegram was received today by the police of this city stating that Charles Hellwig, twenty years old, of No. 19 Tucker street, was killed when caught in the act of attempting to break into a store in Los Angeles, Cal., and Arthur Ioy, also of this city, was captured after a chase by the police.

Two Men Killed in Automobile Crash

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—George L. Ham, the Mexico City banker, and "Pud" Elder, son of a millionaire, were killed in an automobile accident near Whittier, Cal. Ham was the father of Harry Ham, the automobile racer. The banker's capture by Mexican soldiers recently created worldwide interest.

Lowell Man Dies as Result of Fall

LOWELL, April 13.—Octave Dendreau, sixty-four years old, of No. 16 West Third street, died today at the St. John Hospital from a fractured skull he sustained while falling down a flight of stairs.

Committee Favors More Compensation

Workmen's compensation law changes allowing injured workmen 66⅔ per cent. of their earnings, instead of the present 50 per cent. rate, and increasing their total payments from $3,000 to $4,000, were agreed to for favorable reports to the Legislature by unanimous vote of the Committee on Judiciary today.

As agreed to by this committee, the law also will give an injured workman the right to employ his own physician in an emergency.

Pennsylvania State Property Inventory

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 13.—Governor Tener has appointed a commission to take an inventory of real estate of the Commonwealth. Questions frequently arise as to value of state property, showing an absence of accurate statistics. Further revisions may be accomplished with considerably little effort.

A complete census of government regulations of scores by the railroads and transportation enterprises is included.

The bills authorize the government to lease all of the railroads and steamships up to 1925 at a fixed rental, giving to the public supervision of prices, wages and conditions of service. A minimum profit of 6 per cent. is to be allowed the lessees of these railroads.

Clay Model for Hay Monument Complete

The clay model for the monument to John Hay, which is to be erected by the Hay family in Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland, O., in memory of the diplomatist and statesman, who was Secretary of State in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, was completed today by James E. Fraser, the sculptor of this city.

Kipling Right, Says Aviator Ovington

Earl L. Ovington today declared that he agrees with the prediction of Rudyard Kipling that in a few years it would be possible to reach the remote points on the globe by aeroplane in a week. The aeroplane of the future, he declared, would be a light, steel affair, with small wing surfaces and capable of a sustained speed of 500 miles per hour.

Plan Boston Naval Field Day in July

Captain DeWitt Coffman, commandant of the Boston navy yard, is making arrangements for a big navy field day, in which both officers and men will participate, in July. The proceeds will be used to swell the fund for indigent widows and orphans of enlisted men.

Dr. Spencer Tells War Time Stories

Rev. W. H. Spencer, D. D., formerly major of the Sixty-First New York Volunteers, spoke of the battles of the Civil War today before the Methodist ministers at their meeting at Chipman Hall. He was for six months in Libby prison and is one of the ministers of his terrible experience.

Paris Detective Chief Is Dead

PARIS, April 13.—M. Pujalet, chief of the Paris detective Bureau, died today, aged forty-six.

CURLEY HOLD-UP ON $500,000 OF STREET WORK

Recommendations to the City Council to hold up the $500,000 order for the widening of six suburban streets under the Horgan act were submitted by Mayor Curley today at the regular meeting of the council.

In vetoing the order Mayor Curley asked that a sub-committee be appointed to investigate the streets to be widened, and designate which should first come up for consideration. He has already signified his intention of vetoing every street improvement order until the abutters directly benefited by the improvement have agreed in writing to a reasonable award for damages.

The council also has before it today the expenditure of a million dollars for sewers; $600,000 for the Stony Brook sewer and $400,000 for separate sewerage for the Charles River Basin. An order for a $150,000 loan for the high pressure fire service, comes up for second reading today.

Gunboat Tacoma Here for Supplies

The United States gunboat Tacoma from Portsmouth, N. H., in charge of Commander Nathan C. Twining, arrived at the port this afternoon and was anchored at the foot of State street. She comes here for supplies and is on her way to Savannah, Georgia. Members of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs are today inspecting the battleships Nebraska and Virginia at the Charlestown Navy Yard for the purpose to ascertain what repairs are needed.

Cramps Lose Appeal in Turbine Case

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Supreme Court today dismissed the appeal of William Cramp & Son, shipbuilders, from a decree in favor of the Curtis Marine Turbine Company, which alleges that the Cramps infringed on Curtis' patents by installing steam turbine in torpedo destroyers of the U. S. navy.

Bartenders to Seek Increase in Wages

Boston Bartenders' Union has voted to present a new agreement to the employers calling for better wages and shorter hours. The exact terms have not been announced, as the proposition must go to the International Union executive officers for their approval.

Bark in Peril Off Peaked Hill Bar

PROVINCETOWN, April 13.—The bark Matanzas, from Boston to Philadelphia, was in danger today of being wrecked on the Peaked Hill Bar. The vessel, with sails gone and both anchors down, appeared to be perilously near the inside bar. Superintendent Bowley of the life-saving service declared that if the bark's anchors held, she would be in no danger on account of the incoming tide.

Curtis Heads Committee.

Former Collector the Port Edwin U. Curtis has been named chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on transportation.

Identify Woman Found Unconscious

Mrs. Caroline A. Weaz, a widow, of No. 290 Shawmut avenue, was the woman found unconscious in front of No. 165 Tremont street yesterday and who died later at the Relief Hospital. A woman friend identified her body today at 178 North Grove street morgue. She said Mrs. Weaz was on her way to mass.

Italian Army and Navy for Strike Duty

ROME, April 13.—In addition to the army the whole fleet will be employed to facilitate communication and maintain order in case a general strike is inaugurated by the railway employes on Wednesday.

Business Notice.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Did you know? —No other store in the world is like this.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

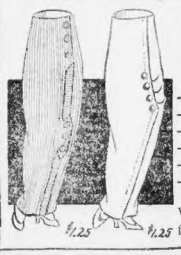
Make it a plan to "Walk Through" whenever in town

NOTE: We are always ready with cash to buy any sample lines, possible "seconds," retail stocks, or overmakes, etc. The purchase below is an example of how we get rich values.

Just Bought, 1,110 Skirts

Entire surplus stock of a big mail order house. They will be ready tomorrow at 8:30 A.M. at this extraordinary FIRST price.

$1.25



—Wool Serge Skirts.
—Diagonal Skirts.
—Mixtures, Whipcords.
—Embroidered Voiles.
—Smart Pencil Stripes.
—Bedford Cords, Mohairs and Men's Wear Serge Skirts.

Wide variety of style and sizes for women, misses and juniors.

Misses' and Women's Wanted Top Coats

Smart loose fitting Balmacaans, in tweeds. All have full wide sweep to skirt... $5.75

Also 200 Misses' and Women's Sample Coats ready tomorrow, at $7.75, $10.75, $13.50, $16.50.

MEN Silk Half Hose

Made with double soles, spliced heels and toes; black and colors. FIRST quality. 15c

Misses' and Women's Natural Linen Dresses $2.65

Sailor collars with hand embroidered ornaments. Contrasting masaline tie and buttons.

Hundreds of Other Bargain Lots

WHEN Timothy Jimson hez a good crop, he's a' administration man, but when crops is bad, he's agin' the gov'ment. I say, principles is one thing, an' pocketbook another. Both of 'em's in right when you smoke VELVET.

Velvet Joe

VELVET, the Smoothest Smoking Tobacco. Full 2 oz. tins, 10c.

Georges

Ready for Spring

With My New 1914 Models for Men and Young Men

The two-button sack suit, with broad lapels and natural shoulders, as produced in our own workrooms direct from the models of Fifth Avenue's leading style creators, will be the most favored this season among exclusive dressers, $15 to $40.

Many other styles to select from, with materials in pin stripes and Tartan plaids predominating.

NEWEST SPRING
BALMACAANS

Always "a year in advance of the ready mades"—we are introducing NOW the very latest new Raglan Coat—with deep undersleeves, full skirted, slash or patch pockets, notch collars; brought out this season by both London's and New York's exclusive tailors. In the highly colored Donegal Tweeds, and plain blue, gray and brown English Knitted Fabrics.

$10 to $25

FINAL CLEARANCE
Of All This Season's SUITS
Many suitable for late Spring and Summer wear.

$10.50
Originally Marked $15 to $35

In our recent sales the lower priced grades were completely eliminated, leaving the cream of the stock for you now. This is the supreme, final stock-reducing effort of the season. A swift, sure method for clearing the racks for our immense spring stocks.

Alterations Free

Georges
BOSTON
384 Washington St.
(Corner Franklin)
ALSO STORES AT
NEW YORK 42 West 34th
NEW YORK Broadway at 36th
PROVIDENCE 369 Westminster
BUFFALO Washington & Swan
PHILADELPHIA 15th & Chestnut

LIVE, BRISK NEWS
for the man with SOME cash, who's "looking around" for an anchorage in the business world—the American's columns of "BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES." Now, if YOU'RE the fellow with the "anchorage" for sale, and want to reach the man who's LOOKING,

TELEPHONE IT TO THE BOSTON AMERICAN
MAIN 5180

"Want Ads" Accepted Over the Telephone for Afternoon Editions.....MAIN 5180

FUNERAL OF EX-GOV. DRAPER

Thousands of Boston citizens thronged Tremont street today to do honor to former Governor Eben S. Draper, whose funeral services were held in King's Chapel at noon. Only a small number were admitted to the chapel, but in the street outside men stood with bared heads while the cortege emerged and carried the one-time Governor's body away.

Flags were at half-mast everywhere—on the State House and public buildings. All State departments suspended business for the hour from 12 to 1 while the exercises were in progress.

The simple King's Chapel burial service was read by the minister, the Rev. Howard N. Brown, and his assistant, the Rev. Sydney B. Snow. There was no eulogy.

Prominent city and State officials and their wives were among those in the chapel, and representatives of the various clubs and corporations of which the former Governor was a member were present. Fifty uniformed policemen were stationed along Tremont street and in front of the chapel to maintain order.

Hundreds of beautiful floral tributes completely filled the chancel before which the plain broadcloth casket was set.

Malcolm Lang, the organist, rendered selections from "Parsifal," Beethoven's Symphony and Handel's "Largo."

BY TAKES TO HOPEDALE.

The King's Chapel Choir rendered softly "Now the Light of Day," to the tune of Holley, and "Oh, Where shall Rest Be Found," to Dennis.

Among those in the carriages were Mr. and Mrs. Bristow Draper, Eben S. Draper, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Gannett, Robert S. Taylor, Grafton D. Cushing, Alfred A. Glidden, Alfred P. Benin, Colonel Edward W. Converse, Adjutant-general J. C. White, Henry Lloyd, Chief Justice Aiken, Charles H. Cole, and P. Powers, ex-Governors Brackett and Foss, Robert Bennett, Colonel Sohier, Charles H. Barnes, Henry Parkman, Major Henry L. Higginson, Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara, Sheriff John Quinn, Chairman Thurston of the Republican State Committee, Mayor Hermann A. Metcalf of Beverly, President Maclaurin of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, ex-Senator Kline, Dr. Francis Brown, Charles W. Birtwell, Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot and Rev. Dr. Frederick Trothingham.

After the services here the body was placed aboard a special train and taken to Hopedale, where the former Governor will be buried. Only relatives and the pallbearers went to Hopedale.

MILLS SHUT DOWN.

At the Hopedale services, which were held in the Memorial Church, the Rev. Lewis G. Wilson of the American Unitarian Association and the Rev. F. E. Lewis, pastor, officiated. Governor Aram J. Pothier of Rhode Island and Mayor Curley were in the entire staff, Colonel Latimer of Halifax, Colonel Edmund M. Guerin, Colonel Harry L. Rathbun of Woonsocket were present.

The Hopedale mills, the principal industries of Milford and the four large mills of the Manville Company, three in Woonsocket and one in Manville, were closed all day out of respect to the ex-Governor. He was president of the Manville Company.

The pallbearers were: Henry F. Lippitt, United States Senator from Rhode Island, Frank J. Dutcher and Eben D. Hancroft of Hopedale, Louis A. Frothingham, John T. Burnett, Colonel William D. Sohier, Henry Sherman, Curtis Guild, George H. Lyman and Charles B. Barnes.

The ushers were: Major Philip S. Sears, L. Devens, Thomas Russell, Colonel George H. Doty, General Francis H. Appleton, Edwin U. Curtis, Stephen O'Meara, Colonel Everett C. Benton, L. Medowell Garfield, Talbot Aldrich, Ferdinand Thieriot, Eliot Wadsworth, William A. Murphy, J. A. Lowell Blake, Charles M. Bulkley, William I. Bullmon.

Two Men Fall 60 Feet from Staging

John McInnes of Rockland street, Roxbury, and Fred Harrington, both employes of L. M. Rogers & Co., No. 9 Province court, had narrow escapes from serious injury today when they fell from a staging in the elevator well, Barristers Hall, Pemberton square, a distance of sixty feet. Harrington received but slight contusions and was able to resume work, but McInnes was taken to the relief station with a fractured ankle and bruises.

Easter Poverty Drives Girl to Death

NEW YORK, April 13.—Because her savings for an Easter bonnet were lost or stolen, Paola Liella, twenty-one, a dressmaker, jumped to her death Sunday from a window of her third floor room in Harlem to a throng of w raders on the sidewalk. Her brother saved her life on Easter Sunday when she tried to inhale gas.

Gray Hair

If you have tried "any of those" so-called restoring" preparations, or the tonic, some "two-bottle" dye, you will appreciate

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer

as it is does just what it says. No sediment, and no "two-step" to apply. Does not stain the skin, nor rub off. Sold on a guarantee that if, after using one bottle, you are not entirely satisfied, return the empty bottle to us and we will refund the purchase price. $1.00 at leading stores or send direct to Woodward Soap Co., 102 Bromfield and Province sts.

BOSTON WOMEN SOCIAL FAVORITES AT WEST VIRGINIA SPA

©BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N.Y.

At, left, Mrs. F. Murray Forbes, and, at right, Mrs. Richard S. Russell, two Boston society leaders now at White Sulphur Springs.

Among the Boston society leaders "Eastering" down at White Sulphur Springs are Mrs. F. Murray Forbes and Mrs. Richard S. Russell. Both are prominent in the social activities at the West Virginia spa.

Mrs. Forbes was Marjorie Cochrane. Her husband is a graduate of Harvard '06, and they live at "Deerfle" at Wellesley.

Mrs. Russell was Mary G. Sutton. Her husband graduated from Harvard in 1901 and is a well-known clubman. They live at No. 101 Commonwealth avenue.

Twenty eMn Lose Jobs in Beverly

Twenty men were dropped from the Beverly street department, permanently, when the new public works department took over the street, sewer, park and water departments there today. Two watchmen at the city stables were dropped. The new department is in charge of James W. Hinckmer, for seventeen years superintendent of the water department.

Motor Trucks for Ash Collection

The public works department of the city was ordered today to secure two gasoline or motor trucks as the beginning of a discontinuance of the system of hiring teams by contract to do the work of collecting garbage and ashes. The new trucks will be put in use in the South End Sanitary yards.

$700 Pay Cut for Health Inspectors

The medical inspection department of the Board of Health, which has been doing yeoman work in the recent scarlet fever epidemic, has been reduced by the transfer of Drs. John A. Cronin and Frederick A. Bailey, assistant inspectors, salary $1,000, to the positions of school physicians at $300 a year.

Fine Charlestown Woman.

Mrs. Helen Atkins was fined $20 today by Judge Sullivan in the Charlestown District Court on the charge of maintaining a disorderly house on Foster court, Charlestown.

Beautiful Silver

The Cromwell pattern illustrated here is much admired by all who love beautiful silver. Ask for 1847 ROGERS BROS.

"Silver Plate that Wears"

and you will get the heaviest grade of plate. Famous for over 60 years for its durability and beauty.

Sold by Leading Dealers

THOUSANDS AT WHITE HOUSE 'EGG ROLLING'

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Favored with delightful spring weather, the annual "egg rolling" on the White House lawn attracted thousands of Washingtonians and visitors today. All of the traditions of the event were observed to the letter. President Wilson watching the ceremonies throughout the morning and afternoon. Miss Eleanor Wilson was hostess in the absence of her mother. She had all the cabinet children as her guests.

Among the children present were John Bryan, son of the Secretary of State; John McAdoo, son of Secretary McAdoo; Elizabeth Howe Wilson and Virginia Wilson, daughters of the Secretary of Labor. Not any was admitted unless accompanied by a child, and from 9 o'clock in the morning until late in the afternoon the sport was continuous.

'HATRACK' WIFE DOOMED, SAYS MABEL POWERS

NEW YORK, April 13.—Two presidents of the United States—man and a woman—were forecasted, the doom of the "hatrack women" was sounded, and equalization of the sexes was predicted at the Women's Political Union by Miss Mabel Powers, the political speaker. She began by denouncing sex antagonism, and said sex co-operation is what we must expect, and to prove it quoted eleven-pound Winifred Scott, the "wonder child of Pittsburgh," who speaks nine languages, is ready to enter college and is a perfect physical being. This child says, according to Miss Powers:

"I think we should have two presidents of the United States—Mr. President and Mrs. President. They ought to be of the same political party, and it would be better if they were married. But they ought not have very many children to look after; and while they are President the doors of the White House should be closed to the stork."

Miss Powers continued by saying that the best man is 49 per cent. feminine; the best woman is 49 per cent. masculine. There is no "man's work" and no "woman's work." "Whereas now," said Miss Powers, "when a woman works she gets a woman's wage; when she sees she gets a man's wage, and then some."

Had Eve been loyal to the perfect comradeship Miss Powers attacked the segregation of the sexes—particularly that which men set up in their stag dinners and clubs.

Miss Powers has a particular dislike for some kinds of individuals; and chief among those is that to which she referred as the "elegant purposeless patterns of feminity on the Fifth avenue pavement, content to live the life of the luxurious lapdog."

The origin of this type of woman Miss Powers explained by saying that when primal man had won a victory he had to have some place to deposit the heads and necklaces and other spoils of war. He had no homes—not even a cave, as yet—and it was too much trouble to carry them around. So he hung them on his partner; woman was degraded from a mate to a hook, and from this beginning we have the plaything women of today.

Sentence Woman for Knife Attack

Charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, Mrs. Chris Burke of No. 22 Dwight street was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction today. Patrolman Twomey of Station 1 told the court that Mrs. Burke cut Mrs. Cecelia Stevens of Hudson street across the face, slashed her three times in the shoulder and arm and cut her on the head.

McKee Rankin Ill at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Arthur McKee Rankin, the veteran actor, is seriously ill at a hotel here of a complication of diseases incident to old age.

NEWTON MAN IS CONVINCED HIS HEN HAS BRAINS

Has a hen brains?

O. F. Black of No. 32 Jefferson street, Newton, thinks so. And here's how he tells why:

"Has a hen brains?

"Well, it seems so to me. Several years ago I had a hen who had taken three first prizes at Lynn and Boston, a hen who evidently liked the wild whirl of excitement to be found in show life, the glare of the many lights, the crowing of cocks and the constant passing of the ever-changing multitude. I say she must have liked it, for, although I had never petted her or tried to get familiar with her, she came to me one day in the scratching pen, looked me in the eye and began to act as though she would say, 'Isn't it about time for another show? I have investments; I won't you please take me to the show?' I have always thought she knew what she wanted, and she went in the show shortly afterward to again win a prize.

"(Signed) O. F. BLACK."

D. A. R. Hear Mrs. Shumway.

Mrs. Franklin P. Shumway addressed a meeting of the Massachusetts D. A. R. Committee of the Copley-Plaza today, her talk being a description of a recent trip in northern Maine.

Ransack Pittsburgh 'House of Mystery'

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—Sensational developments came to light today when it was learned that some one had entered and ransacked the "House of Mystery," probably with the purpose of destroying evidence against the physicians accused of conducting stores of illegal operations there. Regardless of the fact that Dorothy Arnold and the "House of Mystery" were so discredited on all sides, District Attorney Jackson reiterated his belief again today that the New York actress was an inmate in the Belleview maternity home a little over three years ago.

5 MAIN 8

Any time, night or day. It's most convenient, Just to say, Main 5180. Boston American "Want Ads" Bring Results.

Do You Want a Better Education?

HAVE you ever felt that you could make a greater success of your life if you had a proper education? Your ambition to gain MORE KNOWLEDGE is right to help you climb the ladder of achievement and to realize NOW, and the cost required to acquire it without any financial investment on your part.

We will pay the entire cost of your tuition in any institution of learning in the country. Arrangements have been made with

Universities	Correspondence Schools
Preparatory Schools	Conservatories
Colleges	Academies
Technical Schools	Business Schools

to give you the best education obtainable without cost. In return we ask only that you do some work for us in your spare time. There is no competition.

Realize now that the cost of your education we will pay you a Monthly Salary while you work for us.

You cannot make a great success of your career without an Education, and here is your opportunity to get out of the rut and gain a better, more thorough education, we will eventually guarantee you a larger income and also by progress.

For complete particulars of our plan, address,

Educational Department

International Magazine Co.

119 West 40th Street New York City

BREAKFAST AT 7 A. M.

New Health Schedule

LAST MEAL AT MIDNIGHT

PARIS, April 13.—The principal meal of the day should be eaten at 7 a. m. Light tea should be taken at 4 p. m., and the final meal, not too heavy, ought to be consumed near midnight.

This is the scientific schedule drawn up by Professor Bergonie, who has made a life study of the questions of nutrition. He also recently invented electric beefsteaks.

"Man expends most of his energy at the hours indicated," says the professor, "and that is when he ought to eat. A French family which lived according to this schedule for six years enjoys excellent health."

MEAD DEFENDS IMMIGRANTS OF CRIME CHARGE

Dr. Edwin D. Mead tells the Congregational ministers today in Pilgrim Hall, when speaking upon immigration, that more crimes were committed in Boston and Massachusetts by the natives than by immigrants.

"The records of Massachusetts state that the native population furnish more crime than the immigrant population," said Dr. Mead.

"I say this in answer to a statement made some time ago that our immigrant population made the crime. There is a larger work upon education to be done among the native born. Save them from the evils and interests they suffer from.

"New England is perceptibly becoming new Italy, new Jerusalem, new Poland, and we must save ourselves from the dangers of immigration by getting in close touch with these new people."

Grady Goes West to Study Fire Autos

Mayor Curley has sent Fire Commissioner Grady to St. Louis to inspect the factory and the product of an auto fire apparatus manufactory there. Chief McDonough is acting commissioner.

Harvard to Produce Trained Lumbermen

College-trained lumbermen, who are specially fitted to do real work in the woods, are to be given a two-year course at Harvard, starting next year, according to a notice sent out by the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration today.

DARTMOUTH PLAYERS AT THE PLYMOUTH

The Dartmouth Players, a dramatic company composed of undergraduates of the New Hampshire College, presented at a matinee at the Plymouth Theatre today three one-act plays. The pieces were "Game of Anarchy," by Carl Fraley; "The Man from the Sea," by Charles Goddard; and "James and John," by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard.

Tomorrow three performances will be given. Alexander Irvan of Boston and Arthur Holmes Howard of West Newton have won some renown for their work as "prize girls" in the past.

These Dartmouth Players recently created a sensation on Broadway in New York when they played "The Melancholy Lady" on a par with the producers of the play. We agree, and was that if they played it better than the professional company, they should have the great reception of their performance. If the Dartmouth Players went back to the college with the great success in their treasury.

LATE NEWS BY CABLE

King Alfonso's Team Beats Churchill at Polo.

MADRID, April 12.—King Alfonso explained a polo team which defeated one led by Winston Churchill, seven goals to four, Captain Vivian Lockett, a member of the team for the Meadow Brook match, was in the King's line-up, while the Grafton Navy Minister's team included Lord Wimborne.

Flower Girl Criticises Mrs. Pat.

LONDON, April 12.—Eliza Keefe, a real London flower girl, who saw Mrs. Pat Campbell's impersonation of Eliza Doolittle in "Pygmalion," says of Mrs. Pat's use of the word "bloody":

"No self-respectin' flower girl would say such a word when she was on 'er best behavior, especially if she was a-purpose tryin' to be edikated an' speakin' in a dramin' room."

Bismuth as White Plague Cure.

PARIS, April 12.—Test bismuth is more efficacious than gold in the treatment of tuberculosis is the contention of Dr. Sauton in an article he has just written on the subject.

Queen Gives Up Bridge Playing.

LONDON, April 12.—The gambling craze is more prevalent in London society at present than ever before, and this is why the Queen has given up playing the rubber whist of which she used to be so fond.

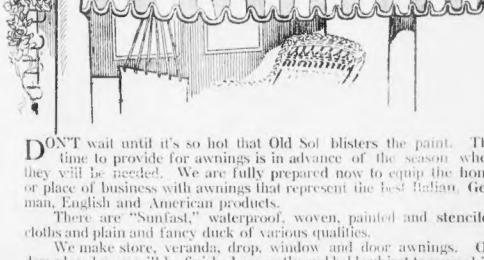
Ulster Army Is Still Drilling.

BELFAST, April 12.—While England is pleasing nothing, the Ulster volunteer army is devoting the holidays to serious training, and 50,000 men are encamped for manoeuvres in large bodies.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. To get the genuine, call for full name and look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c

Awnings



DON'T wait until it's so hot that Old Sol blisters the paint. The time to provide for awnings is in advance of the season when they will be needed. We are fully prepared now to equip the home or place of business with awnings that represent the best Italian, German, English and American products.

There are "Sunfast," waterproof, woven, painted and stenciled cloths and plain and fancy duck of various qualities.

We make store, veranda, drop, window and door awnings. Orders placed now will be finished promptly and held subject to your shipping orders.

If you cannot conveniently call at the store, we will send a man to estimate and submit samples. This service costs nothing.

Materials Range in Price from 30c to 1.25 a Yard

SIXTH FLOOR—NEW BUILDING

Jordan Marsh Company

The Largest Complete House Furnishers in New England

W. & A. BACON CO.

Washington & Essex Streets, Boston, Mass., now in their new store, formerly occupied by

HENRY SIEGEL COMPANY

Double Legal Stamps are equal to 5% discount

MERCHANTS STAMP MERCHANTS STAMP

Tuesday Is Double Legal Stamp Day

$2.00 worth of Legal Stamps for every dollar you spend.

Basins' Bargains advertised in the Boston Sunday Papers are on sale Tuesday. If you will save out the advertisements and come to Bacon's on Tuesday you will get double Legal Stamps with all your purchases of our bargain items.

Also a list of Tuesday Double Stamp Day Specials is published in this issue and these specials will be in addition to the bargains advertised in the Sunday papers for Monday and Tuesday.

Double Legal Stamps given every Tuesday with PURE MEATS in our NEW MEAT MARKET and with GROCERIES at all other departments.

Double Legal Stamp Day Specials

Fourth Floor

$24.00 OAK CHINA CLOSETS $14.50
$18.00 DINING TABLES $12.75
$65.00 LEATHER SUITES $34.50
$5.00 DINING CHAIRS $3.00
$2.00 BRASS BEDS $14.50
$40.00 BRASS BEDS $17.50
$40.00 DIVANETTES $29.50
$20.00 MAHOGANY WORK TABLES $10.00
$2.50 PORCH ROCKERS $1.50

Third Floor

$18.50 ROYAL WILTON BODY BRUSSELS $12.40
$16.50 ROYAL WILTON BODY BRUSSELS $11.25
$37.50 ROYAL WILTON BODY AXMINSTER $27.50
$2.75 LINOLEUM 49c
$4.50 LINOLEUM $2.49
OPAQUE WINDOW SHADES 27c, 37c, 24c
$1.40 DUTCH LACE CURTAINS 98c
$2.25 COUCH COVERS $1.77
75c CURTAIN SCRIMS 44c
$4.00 FRAMED PICTURES $2.98
$5.00 COLONIAL MIRRORS $3.48

Basement

Boys' Blue Serge Suits $2.49
Boys' Corduroy Suits $3.98
Boys' Overcoats $3.98
Men's Corduroy Pants 98c
Men's Dress Pants $2.49
Men's Work Pants 49c
Men's Blue Serge Suits $9.98
Men's Fancy Worsted Suits $12.50
Men's Raincoats $3.98
Men's Fancy Vests 98c
Men's Fancy Hose 10c
Men's Fancy Shirts 49c
Men's Fancy Shirts 98c
Men's Fancy Shirts $1.49
Men's Fancy Shirts $1.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $2.49
Men's Fancy Shirts $2.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $3.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $4.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $5.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $6.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $7.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $8.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $9.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $10.98
Men's Fancy Shirts $11.98
Men's Fancy Shirts

NEW ENGLAND READERS NAME FAMED WOMEN

New England readers in all of the half-dozen states are trying hard to answer the question: "Who are the world's six most distinguished women?"

This is one of the most interesting questions ever asked. It will test your knowledge of current events. Always state your reasons for the answers.

The AMERICAN offers five big cash awards for the best answers. The object is to assist the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which will take the all of the world's best work to San Francisco in 1915 as a feature of the exposition.

Try to select a representative of New England, and remember that you will be judged by the reasons you give. Bring women representing the greatest number of votes will be the prizes. But with which points will be compared.

The first prize is [illegible] third, $15; fourth, $10; and fifth, $5. Ballots and coupons will be printed on page [illegible] of a [illegible] and will be equally divided.

Send here to Panama-Pacific Contest Department, Boston AMERICAN. Here are your votes:

MRS. FLORENCE PALMER, No. 32 Emerson avenue, Montello.

P. H. MCDONALD, Gouverneur, N. Y.

ESTELLE STUDLEY, No. 58 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury.

MRS. MORELLE A. HILL, No. 85 Grafton street, Brockton.

MRS. ELIZABETH GALVIN, No. 92 Dresser street, South Boston.

MRS. D. W. GILKEY, No. 42 Pleasant Park road, Winthrop.

CAROLYN M. WASHBURNE, No. 1004 Merrimack street, Haverhill.

EMILY F. BURRYMAN, No. 1100 County street, Fall River.

MARY F. MEAGHER, No. 12 Fifth street, Lowell.

HELEN O'CONNOR, Milford, N. H.

JENNIE K. FOLLANSBEE, No. 2100 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester.

KATHERINE KING, Long Island, Me.

Miss Foley Demands Vote as Wage Help

Extension of the ballot to the women of Massachusetts as a way of solving problems arising out of the low wages paid woman workers is advocated by Miss Margaret Foley, of a special meeting for stenographers, telephone operators and other workers. She said: "Women are ready for voting to help out themselves to world."

Belmont to Discuss the Cape Cod Canal

At the Assembly luncheon of the American Homes Association on Cape Cod Canal will be discussed by August Belmont of New York, president of the Canal Construction Company; Commodore J. S. Ashton Wilkinson, Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, Rear Admiral Robert Rodgers, Rear Admiral Hugo Bancroft, William G. Brewer will preside.

Increase in Boston Passenger Traffic

The Boston Chamber of Commerce's annual report shows that [illegible] 30,000 in passenger traffic through the port of Boston last year. The figures were 128,000 as against 104,-[illegible] in 1913, and 80,000 in 1912. A total of about 30,000 [illegible] were included in the number.

To-day's Best Moving Picture Story

Where Last Instalments of "The Perils of Pauline" (Second Series) Can Be Seen in Motion Pictures.

MONDAY, APRIL 13.
Lowe's So. End Theatre, Boston, Mass.
Shawmut Theatre, Roxbury, Mass.
Auditorium Theatre, Malden, Mass.
Opera House, Lawrence, Mass.
Federal Theatre, Salem, Mass.
Orpheum Theatre, Haverhill, Mass.
Globe Theatre, Holyoke, Mass.
Ward St. Theatre, Brockton, Mass.
Orpheum theatre, Gardner, Mass.
Princess Theatre, So. Framingham, Mass.
Academy Music, Fall River, Mass.

TUESDAY, APRIL 14.
Lowe's So. End Theatre, Boston, Mass.
Shawmut Theatre, Roxbury, Mass.
Auditorium Theatre, Malden, Mass.
Opera House, Lawrence, Mass.
Federal Theatre, Salem, Mass.
Orpheum Theatre, Haverhill, Mass.
Globe Theatre, Holyoke, Mass.
Co-operative Hall, Maynard, Mass.
Ward St. Theatre, Brockton, Mass.
Orpheum Theatre, Gardner, Mass.
Princess Theatre, So. Framingham, Mass.
Academy of Music, Fall River, Mass.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15.
Auditorium Theatre, Malden, Mass.
Shawmut Theatre, Roxbury, Mass.
Auditorium Theatre, Malden, Mass.
Opera House, Lawrence, Mass.
Federal Theatre, Salem, Mass.
Larcom Theatre, Beverly, Mass.
Star Theatre, Taunton, Mass.
Opera House, Newton, Mass.
Columbia Theatre, Taunton, Mass.
Grand Theatre, Oakland, Vt.
Academy of Music, Fall River.

THURSDAY, APRIL 16.
Opera House, Lawrence, Mass.
Larcom Theatre, Beverly, Mass.
Star Theatre, Taunton, Mass.
Columbia Theatre, Taunton, Mass.
Colonial Theatre, Nashua, N. H.
Grand Theatre, Rutland, Vt.

FRIDAY, APRIL 17.
New Jewell Theatre, Lowell, Mass.
Oxl Theatre, Lowell, Mass.
Lyric Theatre, Pittsfield, Mass.
Premier Theatre, Newburyport, Mass.
Bijou Theatre, Bangor, Me.

SATURDAY, APRIL 18.
Premier Theatre, Newburyport, Mass.
New Jewell Theatre, Lowell, Mass.
Oxl Theatre, Lowell, Mass.
Lyric Theatre, Pittsfield, Mass.
Bijou Theatre, Greenfield, Mass.
Colonial Theatre, Nashua, N. H.
Bijou Theatre, Bangor, Me.

The Treasure of Abdar Rahman.

(Continued from Last Monday.)

CHAPTER VII.

A KORAN box of good, stout oak, protected against moisture by a coating of pitch, was found in the ruins of a once crumble and are mingled with the dust. After three hundred years no vestige of the body of the luckless servant of Abdar Rahman were distinguishable at the foot of the cliff over which he fell, but the box containing Abdar's cryptic description of the spot where the treasure lay still protected the precious parchment against the ravages of wind and weather.

But the spot was difficult of access, and a hundred-foot sprine at the margin of the level plain was as near to the spot of Abdar's house as human feet had ever come. To this spring one day in the year 1472 came a native Bedouin woman and filled her stone jar with fresh water.

A petted and [illegible] goat which had followed her from the tent where she dwelt with her husband, persisted in nibbling at the scant rock-strewn gorge, at length refusing to return at the call of its mistress. As she pursued the animal, hurriedly, it led her up and down over cliffs and across dizzy ledges, where progress—and there, half covered with the detritus of centuries, the woman found the ancient Koran box and carried it, with the jug of water, to the tent.

Her husband was mending a saddle and was not minded to inquire closely at that moment into the contents of the box. In fact, his attention was distracted by the approach of a mounted French officer at the head of a troop of native horsemen. Lieutenant Jean Barbier was seeking native recruits to fill gaps in his command—for there had been fighting of late.

"No post was," said the saddle mender, "I am too old for your service."

This fact being obvious, the lieutenant touched the ancient box with the toe of his boot and expressed his curiosity.

"An old Koran box," said the Geloshi. "Will you buy it?"

The price demanded was so insignificant that the bargain was made. The officer rode off to his quarters at the garrison carrying the box still unopened.

CHAPTER VIII.

"Henri," said Jean to his friend and junior in command, "here's a bit of excitement to vary the monotony of life in the desert—a mystery."

The cooler headed Henri was not deeply impressed at sight of the time-worn box. But upon examining it more closely he exhibited some interest.

"It was sealed," he said, "and the seals have never been broken."

"There's where the excitement comes in," said Jean. And he proceeded to pry off the top of the box.

The parchment placed there by Abdar Rahman three hundred years before was in good condition. But the Arabic characters of the writing conveyed no meaning to either of the young officers. Jean chewed the handle of his riding whip reflectively.

"Tell," said Jean, holding the writing before the native's eyes, "what is this writing—Arabic?"

"Yes, sir," said Yusef. "But it is very ancient. I can not make it out. Sir, I should not appear to the Taleb at the bazaar. He is a very learned man."

So the two officers mounted and rode to the bazaar, and to the Taleb's booth. He was a gray-bearded Moor of scholarly aspect, the expression of whose eyes behind glasses was enigmatic. He glanced at the writing and said that to translate that ancient Arabic would require [illegible] several hours. The officers were loath to leave the parchment with him.

"Have no fear," said the Taleb. "I myself will report at your quarters this evening with the translation and the original."

Squatted among his Arabic [illegible] translated the Arabic into modern French, and regarded his work with a puzzled expression. The original parchment had a flap which folded over two-thirds of the page written upon. The Taleb prepared another translation upon a flap. With the flap covering the larger part of the written page, he contemplated for a long time the words on the flap. Hand margin that were not covered. Presently he started, looked around him surreptitiously, and then, placing both palms in his bosom, he went out and hastened to the quarters of the French officers who were impatiently awaiting his arrival.

Having delivered the ancient parchment and its translation to Lieutenant Barbier, and received the amount of his fee, the Taleb returned quickly to the bazaar. A few minutes later, mounted on a fleet horse, he was hurrying along the [illegible] trail into the farthest outposts of the city.

CHAPTER IX.

"Peste!" exclaimed Lieutenant Marchon, impatiently. "I can make nothing of it."

He handed the translation to Henri. Translated into English, this is what Henri read, to the meaning of the writing upon the ancient parchment. "Time often has I been at the tomb of my dearest friend, Zidan. Five years he has been dead, and my steps always lead sadly in that direction. Mecca, I send my prayers, for I keep close the name as you commanded I send my knee to the ground, as I [illegible] here. There's [illegible] mighty home to guard my treasure and my life from perishing. In veneration I bend

BRYAN MAKES EXCUSES FOR WILSON POLICY IN PLEA FOR TOLL REPEAL

Secretary Bryan, who failed to speak for President Wilson's candidate in New Jersey, today broke his silence with a 2,500-word statement in defense of the President's Panama surrender policy.

The statement is important, not only as coming from the Secretary of State, but it is the first detailed defense either by the President or by any member of the Cabinet of the direct violation of the Democratic platform. It is given out by the Secretary of State with the explanation that it will appear in The Commoner. It is in part as follows:

In the discussion of the repeal measure it was impossible to confine the opponents to a discussion of the merits of the question. The opponents of repeal stoutly contended that they were standing upon the platform adopted at Baltimore, and assumed to themselves a superior sort of virtue because of the sanctity with which they invested this particular plank of the platform. The readers of The Commoner have long since learned to regard a party platform pledge as binding. Both they are entitled to know the grounds upon which the Democrats of Congress acted in repealing a measure endorsed by the platform.

There are three facts to be considered—facts which the friends of free tolls have refused to discuss:

First, that there was another plank in the platform, or rather another clause, which was practically a part of the same plank which contained the free tolls declaration. This clause had to do with the encouragement of the merchant marine, and reads:

IGNORED ONE PLANK.

We believe in fostering, by constitutional regulation of commerce, the growth of a merchant marine, which shall develop and strengthen the commercial ties which bind us to our sister republics of the south, but without imposing additional burdens upon the people and without bounties or subsidies from the public treasury.

The merchant marine includes all the ships belonging to American citizens, and it will be seen that the Democratic party expressed a deep interest in the upbuilding of the merchant marine, and yet, notwithstanding the importance of the subject and the anxious concern felt by the party for the rehabilitation of the merchant marine it specifically declared against bounties and subsidies as a means of aiding the merchant marine.

The action of the free tolls Democrats in ignoring this plank is incomprehensible, because its language is clear and specific and it reflects a declaration for which the Democratic party has stood from time immemorial. This opposition to bounties and subsidies, whether granted openly and directly, or secretly granted secretly and indirectly, as they are through a protective tariff, is a fundamental article of Democratic faith.

HELD AS SACRED.

But while the friends of free tolls are able to overlook the plank above quoted, with its clear and ringing declaration against subsidies and bounties, they regard as sacred the following lines in which the party indorsed free tolls:

We favor the exemption from toll of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the canal.

Why do those few words stand out so brightly before the onrotates of free tolls? And why are they unable to see or remember the words condemning bounties and subsidies? What opiate does the little plank contain that it can make those who accept it oblivious of the larger plank? By what rule of construction can the small plank be made binding and the large one ignored?

Second—But, even if the platform had not contained within itself a complete refutation of the position taken by the advocates of free tolls, the President would have been justified in the position that he took by the changed condition which confronted him.

A platform is a pledge, and in so binding upon an official as the command of a military officer is upon a subordinate—the statement cannot be made stronger. But the subordinate officer in accordance with good sense is to use his judgment where a change of which the commanding officer is not aware has taken place in conditions.

It is not only the right of the subordinate to judge the situation for himself when conditions have changed since the order was given, but it is his duty to do so. It is true that he takes his position if he miscalculates the condition and disobeys when he should obey, but he takes a similar risk if he is not willing to assume responsibility for a change of plans where conditions compel the change.

If the disobedience of the subordinate officer is due to cowardice or to the substitution of selfish for a patriotic interest, he is condemned; but he is likewise to be condemned if either from cowardice or because of a selfish interest he permits the interest of his country to be jeopardized rather than live up to the responsibilities which his position imposes upon him.

In the case under consideration, the President takes the responsibility for an official act which he regards as necessary for the country's welfare, and the people must decide whether or not he is justified; and those who refuse to act with him also assume responsibility, and they must both abide the judgment of the public.

Third, moreover, this plank of the platform deals with an international question and must be accepted with the understanding that we act jointly with other nations in international affairs.

THE WISH, NOT THE WILL.

Even if the plank had not been contradicted by another plank in the platform even if it had not concealed a subsidy policy repugnant to Democratic principle and history; even if it had not resulted in the Democrats in Congress; even if conditions had not changed, still dealing with an international question it should be taken as the expression of a wish rather than as the expression of a determination, for no nation can afford to purchase a small advantage in the face of a universal protest.

If a nation desires to array itself against the world, it should be sure that the thing which it is to gain is worth what it costs.

The President, knowing that every commercial nation except our own construes the treaty as a pledge of equal treatment, would have been recreant to his trust had he failed to point out to the American people that our diplomatic relations would be seriously disturbed by the carrying out of the free tolls policy.

Daniels to Permit Wine at Launchings

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels will not carry his prohibition policies to the point of substituting water for wine at warship christenings, he announces, although he intends standing by his order abolishing liquor in the navy.

President Still Confident Repeal Bill Will Pass

WASHINGTON, April 12.—That the prospect of repealing the Panama Canal tolls clause is more promising than ever, was indicated by President Wilson to his callers today. No proposals of compromise or amendment have reached him, and he was emphatic in stating that all fears that the repeal will be an interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty are groundless.

President Wilson also told his visitors that certain men who had been anxious for full hearings on the repeal act now apparently were getting "cold feet" and that he believed the measure would be passed by the Senate without difficulty.

There is no foundation for reports that the trust legislation will be abandoned at the present session of Congress, President Wilson said. He said it was absolutely necessary to pass the trust bills at this session in order to keep faith with the country. He expressed the opinion that it would be possible to enact this legislation and still adjourn Congress before July 1, if Congress would adopt the "Taussig instead of a freight schedule."

Until the full text of the Colombian treaty has reached Washington President Wilson will not discuss it. He declined to comment upon that provision of the treaty allowing troop ships and other vessels of the Colombian government to pass through the Panama Canal without payment of tolls, and indicated that he would make a thorough study of the text of the treaty before issuing any statement regarding it.

Report that Andrew Carnegie had tried to prevent an investigation of the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Peace through a personal conference with President Wilson, are false, the President told his callers.

Jackie Dead by Gas in Hotel Room

George E. Meigs, twenty-eight, a sailor on the battleship Georgia, was found dead in a room at the Mount Vernon House, on Court street, West End, today, by Andrew E. Johnson, proprietor of the place. The room was filled with gas, which flowed from two open jets.

Stroke Fatal to Dr. Frank P. Harris

MARLBORO, April 12.—Dr. Frank P. Harris, a prominent Waltham dentist, died here early today at the home of his mother, No. 18 Huntington avenue. He came here on a visit Saturday and was stricken by paralysis Saturday night. He was unmarried.

ELECTRIC LIGHT MEN HERE FOR BIG MEETING

One of the most notable gatherings of electric light and power men ever held in the East began in Boston today, luncheon at the new Welfare Building of the Boston Edison Company on Massachusetts avenue, opened the proceedings. After that they will inspect the company's buildings here.

Among the companies represented are the New York Edison Company, United Electric Light & Power Company of New York, Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Company of Baltimore, Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, Public Service Company of New Jersey, Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brooklyn, Philadelphia Electric Light Company and Detroit Edison Company.

This evening at a club near Boston there will be papers on "Methods of Handling Collections" by a representative of the Cleveland company, "Consolidation" by the Brooklyn company and a paper entitled "The Company Department Store" describing the methods of carrying stock and handling supplies by a representative of the New Jersey company.

Tomorrow morning there will be papers on "Destruction of Unimportant Correspondence" by a representative of the New York company and on "The Hollerith System" by a representative of the Chicago company.

Tuesday afternoon the delegates will read, drive and some will play golf and otherwise disport themselves there will be a lecture on "office efficiency." Wednesday morning there will be a paper on "Co-operation and Conveying Instructions and Information Between Departments" by a representative of the Detroit company, a paper on "Filing" by a representative of the Baltimore company and a paper on "Indexing" by a representative of the Philadelphia company.

The committee of the Boston Edison Company, in charge, consists of Mr. A. J. Loring of the Correspondence Department, Mr. H. S. Hyde of the Special Research Department, Mr. H. P. Driver of the Billing Department and Mr. L. L. Edgar of the General Superintendent's office.

200 Enjoy a Dip at L Street Baths

Two hundred bathers enjoyed an Easter "dip" at L street, the largest number that has appeared at the public bath this spring.

ELIZABETH HIRSH and Linda Henley, Wellesley girls who are aiding fire fund.

$3,500 2-Alarm Fire in South End Garage

The blazing of an automobile in the garage of the Auto Sales Company of Inc., 1075-1081 West Dedham street, caused a fire which resulted in a loss of $3,500. Two alarms were sounded and two cars were injured.

Wellesley Girls to Sell Junk for Fund

"Any rags, any bones, any bottles today?—or old rubbers? It all kindly send them to Mary G. Knapp at Wellesley.

Miss Knapp has started a campaign to raise money for the fire fund. The scheme is simple. Just save your old overshoes and any you can get from your friends, and the girls will sell them to the junk man.

This is only one of a hundred ways by which the girls are raising funds. Linda Henly and Elizabeth B. Hirsh earned money by teaching two Philadelphia High school students three and sold $50 worth of pictures while she took part of College Hall during the fire. The proceeds came, including ten cents from every friend they met, turned in several thousand dollars. Sophie A. Tillinghast gave a lecture on Browning University that netted $100. A six o'clock tea yesterday netted $200 more.

Deputy Horton of Providence Dead

PROVIDENCE, April 12.—Constance S. Horton, deputy superintendent of police, died today, failing to regain consciousness after being stricken while eating dinner with his family yesterday. He was born in Providence, Mass., joined the police department in 1875, and for the past seven years had been in charge of the police division.

Wreck Blocks N. H. Track, Ruins Bridge

NEW YORK, April 12.—The tracks of the New Haven railroad were blocked for nearly three hours by the derailment of the Springfield express at Harrison. Traffic was blocked by the wreck of the steel bridge above the tracks, which carries the electric feed wires.

Wriggles Way Out of Cell to Freedom

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., April 12.—Frank G. Carroll, alias Wilson, who robbed the Union Bank of Altoona and shot Cashier A. E. Rouzer and Pennsylvania Railroad Foreman W. E. Bloomer on March 27, escaped today through a six-foot window opening in his cell in the county jail and escaped after writing in chalk on the bricks, "See me later—F. G. C."

$10,000 Somerville Fire.

The office and dyeing house of the Middlesex Bleachery & Dye Works, John Gilmore, on Shore Drive, Somerville avenue, Somerville, was burned at a loss of $10,000.

Motorcyclist Killed.

BROCKTON, April 12.—Leon O. Wilbur was instantly killed when his motorcycle skidded and hurled him into a curbing.

The Chaperon's Chatter

One most prominent Easter week brides are Miss Lillie, who will be married on Thursday to William Ellard Marshall, brother of Baltimore; Miss Nathalie Amory, who will be married to James B. Hooper, Jr., in Trinity Church on Saturday, and Miss Chase, who on the same day will be married to Mr. Hopkins, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

* * *

A novel event of the week will be a combined celebration of Patsy Reilly's birthday and the birth of a daughter to Mrs. Reilly, formerly Miss Mildred Sargent of Worcester.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Hathaway of No. 1707 Beacon street, Brookline, have settled for three months' stay in Europe. They will pass the greater part of the time traveling in Italy.

'Daniels Will Win 2 Battleship Bill'

WASHINGTON, April 12.—"I think the able presentation of the navy's requirements by Secretary Daniels and his associates justifies the passage of the bill carrying two battleships," said Representative Fred A. Britten of Chicago, Republican member of the House Committee on Naval Affairs.

Hollis' Champion to Seek Felker's Chair

CONCORD, N. H., April 12.—State Senator John C. Hutchins of Somersworth today announced that he will be a candidate to succeed S. D. Felker as governor of New Hampshire at the Democratic primary next fall. Felker defeated Hutchins for the office which resulted in the election of United States Senator Henry F. Hollis.

MRS. HEARST PLANS SCHOOL EXHIBITION

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Arranging the affairs of a conference to be the foundations for a worthy California exhibition exhibit at the Panama Pacific Exposition, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst today gave a luncheon at which the guest of honor was Calvin H. Cryer, head of the Department of Education and Commissioner of the exposition, and invited to meet him were delegates to the annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

The luncheon was given at Mrs. Hearst's home, four thousand Spanish and Indian feet above San Francisco in Piedmont, whence delegates carried them to the hysteria.

After the luncheon a meeting was held for the purpose of honoring the directors of education, who came in touch with the leaders of the California school system.

Ask for Legal Stamps

"Your Money Back If You Want It"

WOLF'S

"MY CLOTHIER"

Hanover and Portland Sts.

Double Legal Stamps All Day Tuesday

Save your nickels and you'll always have plenty of dollars.

You save a nickel on every dollar's worth you buy when you get Double Legal Stamps—as you can do here Tuesday.

Women's $10 All Wool Serge Coats 7.98

Just the coat women will appreciate for early spring wear.

Made from black and navy serge in full lengths, with the stylish loose backs, set-in sleeves and cuffs on sleeves.

Boys' $2.00 All Wool Sweaters 1.50

Just what the little fellow needs when he gets on his wash suit.

Plain oxford and navy, made with Byron collar and pocket, just as you see it in cut. Sizes 3 to 10.

5 MAIN 8

Any time, night or day, It's most convenient, Just to say, Main 5180.

Boston American "Want Ads" Bring Results.

MORE MORE MORE MORE MORE MORE MORE MORE

EASTER NECKWEAR
The best 50c goods in Boston.
15c and 25c
Yours truly, RAYMOND

SILK and LISLE HOSIERY
12½c 25c 33c
Yours truly, RAYMOND

Boys' and Children's CLOTHING
$1.50, $2.00, $2.50 $3.00, $3.50, $4.00
Guaranteed 1-3 less than same are sold e sewhere.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

HATS
Than any six stores in Boston, 95c and $1.50, the most surprising values in the world.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

IDEAS
For professional ad. writers and big stores struggling to pay rent who have no ideas of their own.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

SHIRTS
Than any four stores in Boston, marked down every morning if necessary.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

MEN'S CLOTHING
UPSTAIRS AND DOWN
Every price guaranteed to save you a lot of money.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

BALMACAANS
Bought and sold every day than any four stores in Boston.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

FOUR MORE VACANT STORES AND THE NUMBER INCREASING EVERY DAY.

SOLD OUT TO RAYMOND

Detroit, Mich., March 30, 1914—It seems as if we would never come to the end of these shoes. I enclose memo of two shipments today, and we have got ready this evening enough for another truck load in the morning. The cases are by no means small, for it sometimes needs a man inside to pack them.
Yours truly, WOODMAN.

Detroit, Mich., April 2, 1914—We have at last completed shipment of the whole Edgar & Gluck shoe stock, contents of the whole building, corner of Wayne street and Michigan avenue, 189 cases in all. This is probably the largest shoe stock ever shipped to Boston to be sold at retail. Yours truly, WOODMAN.

All kinds of boots and shoes for men, women and children. The three first shipments are all on sale, balance following, and nearly the entire stock will be ready by the time you see this notice. Those who appreciate an honest sale of honest boots and shoes at the lowest prices in America are invited to inspect this stock.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

MORE BOOTS AND SHOES

All the stock of the O'Shea Shoe Company, Meridian street, East Boston, all ready, also some 600 pairs of Regal shoes, various kinds, all perfect goods and regular sizes. Not merely a few damaged odds and ends, such as are usually used for the purpose of advertising and catching a customer on other goods. All $2.00 per pair. In these stocks are

IN MEN'S,
Regal—Oxfords in patent, tan and calf.
Walkover—Oxfords in patent, tan and calf.
Keller's Health Shoe—In tan, high lace.
Wallace—Vici kid in lace and cong.
Royal Rex—In box calf and gunmetal, high.
Geo. G. Snow—Oxfords in gunmetal.

IN WOMEN'S,
Walkover—Oxfords in tan and patent.
Regal—Oxfords in tan, patent and gunmetal.
Smith & Travers' shoes, in tan and black, high and low. Also a lot of the Mayfair shoes.
Yours truly, RAYMOND

We are packing and shipping yesterday and today, and it will take all this week, the entire stock of "The Fair," occupying the whole building on Weybosset street, Providence, R. I. All ladies' and children's goods. Probably some of everything that ladies and children wear, and all of which we promise to give the people at prices such as no other bargain basement ever could or would make.

Also all the stock of Helen Fishel, ladies' and children's goods, Bowdoin street, Boston. All new, fresh goods, in perfect condition and marked, and kept marked, the best values in Boston, even if we should be obliged to mark some of the goods down every day lower and lower and lower, for they MUST be the lowest prices in Boston, otherwise we will retire from business, because there is no one in the world who enjoys giving the people honest bargains quite as much
Yours truly, RAYMOND

EAST SIDE GUNMEN THRONG AT PRISON AS CHUMS DIE

"WHITEY" LEWIS DIES DENYING ANY GUILT

THE ELECTROCUTED GUNMEN

Frank Cirofici, alias "Dago Frank," aged 28.
Jacob Seidenschner, alias "Frank Mucller" and Whitey Lewis," aged 29.
Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood," aged 26.
Louis Rosenberg, alias "Lefty Louie," aged 23.

Order of Execution and Time of Death

Cirofici, 5:38 to 5:44.
Seidenschner, 5:18 to 5:53.
Horowitz, 5:57 to 6:02.
Rosenberg, 6:08 to 6:17.

Continued from First Page.

Warden Clancy had been told that the gunmen had something to say, but it was not known whether it was a confession. As soon as he was seated, Seidenschner began:

Gentlemen, I am convicted of murder. I am not guilty of shooting Herman Rosenthal. I did not fire the shot. I am innocent and I am about to be electrocuted. People who said they saw me shoot Herman Rosenthal were perjurers. I want you all——

The man's voice died away in his throat in a choking sobbing as the electricity was turned on.

The body writhed in the straps and heaved until it seemed almost to be bursting. Suddenly it went limp. Though the doomed men, comforted by ministers of their faith, betrayed no emotion, the strain upon the witnesses was intense. One man collapsed and had to be assisted from the chamber.

"I left there because I was too sick to stay longer," he said as he was supported out of the gate by a guard and staggered up the steps of the veranda leading to the warden's office. He was taken inside and before long staggered away down the road to the Ossining railway station.

The official time of each execution follows:

Cirofici, 5:38 to 5:44; Seidenschner, 5:48 to 5:53; Horowitz, 5:57 to 6:02; Rosenberg, 6:08 to 6:17.

For an hour before the time set for the executions there was a steady procession toward the prison reservations. Guards posted a quarter of a mile in each direction stopped all persons who did not have a written invitation to be present at the executions.

The mother and sister of Frank Cirofici and the father of Rosenberg arrived at the prison shortly after 4 o'clock. The old man lingered outside, refusing to enter; the woman went to stay until the last moment with the condemned son and brother.

LAST VISIT TO DEATH HOUSE.

They had come on an early train from Albany, where a last appeal had been made to Governor Glynn. The prison officials showed the woman to the death house. There they remained within a few feet of the great electric chair until the guard led them away to a reception room.

By the time fixed for the invited witnesses to go to the warden's office he was besieged by 200 men. One woman, who had accompanied her husband to the scene, lingered at the gate.

There were places for only nineteen men at each execution. Four squads were formed in the yard. At 5:30 o'clock the first squad was herded into the room of death.

Frank Cirofici was the first to enter the death chamber. He was walking an effort to walk upright, but there seemed to be a weight at his knees which dragged him down. The young Italian bore a crucifix in each hand, and he was accompanied by the Rev. Father Cashin, a Roman Catholic priest, who intoned his services repeatedly. No time was lost.

The guards placed the gruesome cap, which quickly fastened on his head the metal hood and to his limbs the electrode that completes the fatal circuit. The gunman lost the cold front of the underworld; he was utterly unmanned. His face was chalky white.

Then the signal was given. Cirofici was given two shocks, each of four seconds and the second of five seconds. Then the prison doctor pronounced him dead.

EXPECTED CONFESSION.

The body was at once carried to another room, where an autopsy was held. Cirofici had been picked to go first because he was the weakest. There had been frequent rumors that he would confess at the last minute, and representatives of the death house and his mother and sister pleaded with him not to die with the secret.

Witnesses of the first execution had left the room when the second squad was marshalled in. The "Little green door" swung open and "Whitey Lewis" appeared. His face was haggard and his eyes were full of fear. A semblance of color had disappeared. It was almost blue in its pallor. He staggered along like a man under the spell of a strange intoxication. His feet and brain seemed to be strangers to him. His mien more a statement," said Warden Clancy, "and you do not understand it, do not ask me to repeat it."

Whitey stopped mechanically before the chair. He reeled. The four guards picked him up like a child and placed him in the instrument of death. Seidenschner tried to raise his right hand for attention. Then came his denunciation of his accusers concluding with these smothered words: "I swear before God that I did not shoot Rosenthal."

As the current was turned on Rabbi Goldstein stood at the left hand of the prisoner, chanting tremendous excitement and rapidly repeated: "Oh, Lord and King, Who art full of compassion, in Whose hands is the soul of every living thing and the breath of all flesh, Who bringeth down to the grave and bringeth up again, receive, we beseech Thee, in Thy loving kindness the soul of Jacob Seidenschner who hath been gathered into his people. Have mercy upon him. Pardon all his iniquities for there is not a righteous man upon earth who sinneth not."

A bond was placed in the left hand of the man in the chair. It was a Hebrew collection of psalms and words of comfort. The tortured hand clutched the book. It was expected that the man would make a response of "Listen, Israel, there is one God, only one," but the Rabbi said the words alone. "Whitey Lewis" was dead. He had been given two shocks, one of three and the other of five seconds duration.

At the second shock there arose from the opening in the head piece a line of white smoke. It curled slowly upward toward the coil of wire that had brought the death shock. The gunman was pronounced dead and the rabbi turned sadly toward the death house to escort the next of the murderers' quartet to his doom.

This time it was Harry Horowitz, or "Gyp the Blood," the dandy of the gunmen. He walked somewhat more steadily than the man who went before, but the dread of death had clouded all show of bravado.

Rabbi Goldstein repeated the prayer of the dead. Horowitz was given the shocks and was then pronounced dead by Dr. H. C. Meroneas and Dr. Charles W. Parr, the prison physicians. Though "Gyp the Blood" had for some time been in the advanced stage of tuberculosis his resistance to the electric current was as great as that of the two men who had preceded him.

LAST MOST COURAGEOUS.

The Rabbi chanted as Horowitz took the seat in the chair:

"Listen, I say there is but one God, only one."

Then he seemed to recall the words and repeated: "Listen, Israel, there is but one God, only one." Only one, only one."

Three minutes were required for execution of Louis Rosenberg, or "Lefty Louie."

Three shocks were necessary to end his life.

The last of the four gunmen carried a stronger body and a more courageous heart than those who had gone before. For this reason he had been left to the last. He justified the opinion of the prison officials.

Three times they had to throw the mighty force of the electric current into his body before the doctors would say the word that pronounced the removal of the body, but finally the low voice intoned and he passed after the others.

Warden Clancy later declared the executions were the most successful of the prison. The same voltage was used on all four men, the maximum being 1,250 and the minimum 260. From eight to fifteen minutes were used. As soon as the executions were over Warden Clancy began an active investigation into the attempt that had been made Saturday morning to switch the electric chair and thus delay the gunmen's doom. A "trusty" who had access to the death chamber is under suspicion.

While the executions were going on Mary Cirofici, sister of "Dago Frank," became hysterical in Warden Clancy's office. Then her mother collapsed. When the two women left the prison with John and Paul Cirofici, brothers of the executed Italian, the mother had to be carried to the cab that took the party to the station. From Father Cashin, a friend of "Dago Frank's" spiritual adviser, it was learned that the gunman's last words were a plea to the priest to "look after my poor mother."

Morris and Joseph Seidenschner, brothers of "Whitey" Lewis, reached the guard line about the prison at 4:55 a. m., but were denied permission to pass through because of not having a pass. They finally reached the prison after the execution. Morris broke down and wept bitterly when told that his brother was dead.

The four gunmen who paid the death penalty this morning for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Top, left, is Louis Rosenberg and right, Harry Horowitz, below Frank Cirofici, left, and Jacob Seidenschner.

PHOTOS © BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

After the autopsies had been held on the gunmen, four coffins were carried into the operating room. The bodies were placed in the coffins and arrangements were made to remove the bodies to New York city. Paul and John Cirofici claimed the body of their brother, "Dago Frank," while Morris and Joseph Seidenschner laid claim to the body of "Whitey Lewis." The bodies of the other two gunmen were claimed by their relatives by telegraph.

A local undertaker was given the task of shipping the coffins, and the relatives went to New York by train. There also went a dozen faithful retainers of the gunmen's clan who had tempted fate by lingering at the gates of the prison to the last minute.

"GYP THE BLOOD'S" WIFE COLLAPSES AT NEWS OF EXECUTION

NEW YORK, April 13.—Mrs. Harry Horowitz, who bade good-bye to her husband, "Gyp the Blood," in the death house at Sing Sing yesterday, collapsed today when she received word that her husband, with fellow-gunmen, had been electrocuted. The girlish wife of the young desperado showed evidence of a sleepless night which she had spent tearfully and in almost constant prayer.

"The terrible thought that my husband was spending his last hours in the shadow of the death chair kept me awake," said Mrs. Horowitz. "I tried to be brave, but when I thought of my young husband, with nearly his whole life before him, going to his death, it unnerved me."

The girl lives with her mother and father, the latter having gone blind since the Rosenthal tragedy.

REPORT HEARING FOR GUNMEN INSPIRED BY BECKER INTERESTS

NEW YORK, April 13.—From the office of District Attorney Whitman the intimation today that the gunmen's last fight to escape the death chair, the hearing before Justice Goff at which their application for a new trial was denied, was inspired by "Becker interests."

Whitman believes that the real object of this hearing was to enable Becker, the convicted ex-police lieutenant now awaiting his second trial for the Rosenthal murder, to discover, if possible, any new evidence the state may have against him. Contrary to expectations, Whitman did not ask today to have the date set for Becker's new trial.

He had a conference with Justice Seabury and afterwards announced that he would appear before the justice on Wednesday and ask that the trial be set for the first week in May.

He said he thought it would be unobjectionable to go into court and make his application on the day of the execution of the gunmen.

Five in Court for Attempted Rescue

Five men were in the East Boston Court today as the result of an affray in which 300 people attempted to rescue a prisoner from Patrolman Fitzsibbons. Thomas Ryder of No. 27 Border street was discharged, Robert Robertson was given a month, and on appeal held in $200 for trying to rescue a prisoner. Martin Ryder suffered a like fate. Theodore Robertson was fined $5 and his sentence suspended, and Thomas Foley was fined $25 for assaulting a police officer and held in $100 on appeal.

Elephants at Keith's.

Waddy, Mollie and Tony, comprising Miss Orford's wonderful troupe of educated elephants, will come to B. F. Keith's Theatre in Boston the week of May 11. The elephants are now appearing in the Keith theatres of Greater New York.

Inventor Dies in Test.

MONTE CARLO, April 13.—Parkland Forest, aged and inventor of a motor, died suddenly while testing a new auto boat, in which he was about to attempt to break the mile speed record. The boat came in collision with a jetty.

Constipation Sufferers Take Hope!

Here's a Delightful Carbonated Drink That Conquers Constipation

The curse of constipation is over for you if you use the scientifically blended and chemically pure carbonated Hunks drink, FIRELMA SALTS.

Firelmasalts is as pure as the natural laxative salts from the Miners' Springs. There is no Phenacetine, Caffeine, Acetanilid or Calomel in Firelmasalts—nothing that has a constipating effect on it. It cleans out the stomach and bowels, stimulates the torpid liver, purifies the intestinal canal from end to end, and is a mild acid solvent as well as a saline laxative.

If you are bothered with constipation, headaches, sallow skin, coated tongue, bad breath, indigestion, biliousness, neuralgia, rheumatism, dizziness, then take a glass of Firelmasalts—the wonderful remedy that quickly and effectively cleans liver and kidneys without griping or nausea. Firelmasalts is nothing back, due to kidney congestion. Rheumatism and backache find wonderful relief.

The next time you need a laxative get from your druggist a 5c trial package of Firelmasalts.

Don't experiment on your internal organs. Play safe and get Firelmasalts. Ask your druggist about Firelmasalts and 25c big or 5l to the Firelmasalts Company, Dept. 154, Minneapolis, Minn., for a bottle prepaid.

Sold by Hiker-Jaynes and all good druggists. ADVERTISEMENT.

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

(In Tablet or Liquid Form)

Assists the stomach in the proper digestion of food, which is turned into health-sustaining blood and all poisonous waste matter is speedily disposed of through Nature's channels. It makes men and women clear-headed and able-bodied—restores to them the health and strength of youth. Now is the time for your rejuvenation. Send 50 cents for a trial box of this medicine.

Send 31 one-cent stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages—worth $3. Always handy in case of family illness.

Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WALLS SURROUNDED BY ARMED SENTINELS

OSSINING, N. Y., April 13.—The execution today of the four young New York gunmen was the climax of twelve hours' activity such as Sing Sing prison had never known before. Throughout the night the gray cell block was dark, but the office of Warden Clancy blazed with lights and throughout the mysterious underground channel of communication the word was passed that the condemned men were going to their death without confessing. Outside in the moonlight armed sentries paced back and forth, and inside the penitentiary every guard was on duty to prevent an outbreak of any kind.

Of the sixteen hundred prisoners many believed that the execution of "Dago Frank," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Lewis" and "Gyp the Blood" was an injustice when a new trial had been granted to Charles A. Becker, the ex-police lieutenant, who had been found guilty at his first trial of inspiring the murder of Herman Rosenthal. There was no sleep in the death house. Not one of the sixteen men awaiting electrocution enjoyed any restful slumber. Throughout Sunday afternoon there had been such dramatic hysteria attending the farewells of relatives of the "gunmen" that the nerves of all were a-tingle.

A small army of newspaper correspondents and photographers occupied the outside offices of Warden Clancy's quarters, but few tried to sleep. There was a sort of electric vibration in the air that forbade slumber. There was expectancy and a feeling that "something would happen."

Would one of the gunmen confess? Would Governor Glynn grant an eleventh-hour reprieve? These were questions in which was born an uncertainty that existed until the fatal electricity was turned into the bodies of the young slayers.

"LEFTIE LOUIE" LEAVES WARNING TO ALL BOYS

OSSINING, N. Y., April 13.—Here is the warning Lefty Louie, still protesting innocence, uttered in the shadow of death, a warning that should echo through the sneaking underworld, should sound in the dives and dens and boozing dens, should ring even in the ears half-stupefied by opium:

"I had the best father and mother a boy ever had, but I was not a good son to them. I went the wrong way.

"Tell the boys on the East Side, the boys I know, there are hundreds of them—the boys who go around ruining—well, you know what I mean, tell them about the mistakes I made, which I could have avoided if I had done the right thing. Let them know that the synagogue is their best home and God their best friend.

"They may think they are getting away with it; they may think they are too strong, too well protected to be reached. They may think they have the backing which puts them above the law, but they are making the mistake of their lives.

"When the showdown comes and they are accused of something they never did, all the other life will be brought up against them and they will have to pay."

"They may think they are too well protected."

Reappoints Hersey Cemetery Trustee

Albert W. Hersey was reappointed cemetery trustee today by Mayor Curley. The Mayor, in pursuance of his transfer policy, detailed ten laborers from the public works department to the cemetery department temporarily. This system has also been followed by the school department, which asked today for two janitors, who were furnished from the public works department.

President Wilson Back at White House

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Wilson arrived at the White House shortly after 2 o'clock today, after spending the Easter holidays at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

He left Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre at the Springs. He will rejoin them next Thursday if he can leave his duties in Washington. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Wilson returned to Washington with the presidential party.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a substitute for calomel and are guaranteed not to salivate or make you sick. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination to find a vegetable compound that would have the desirable effects of calomel without its objectionable features. These tablets are a gentle laxative and liver tonic. They start the liver to work and clear the system of poisons. They do not gripe or cause nausea. They act mildly through the bowels and do not irritate them. They are a wonderful aid to digestion. They keep the liver at the exercise of its proper function. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are sold under a guarantee by druggists everywhere to relieve constipation, biliousness, indigestion, sick headache, dizziness and sluggish bowels or money back. They are purely vegetable and are known by their olive color. Take one or two at night for a week and see how much better you feel in the morning. 10c and 25c per box. ADVERTISEMENT.

PENNANTS TEN FOR 75c

Regular Price $2

RED SOX

ONLY ONE COUPON Required. This Special Offer good only while supply lasts.

Exclusive designs. PEAL WOOL FELT—NOT the cheap shoddy cotton kind regularly sold by fakers for 10c. There is no comparison. Letters are embossed with wool felt—NOT cheap paint. Size 36 inches by 15 inches.

Mark Cross Here for Pennants Ordered.

Carlisle (Red and yellow)		Navy (Dark blue and yellow)
Paul Revere (Buff and blue)	MAIL	U. S. A. (Dark blue and white)
Yale (Red and white)	ORDERS	Cornell (Red and white)
Massachusetts (Blue and white)	FILLED	Penn (Red and blue)
Brown (Dark brown and gray)		Yeager (Red, blue and gray)

Mark Cross Here for Pennants Ordered.

BOSTON AMERICAN PENNANT COUPON

WHEN PRESENTED AT American Promotion Dept., 5 Winthrop Sq.
OR AT YOUR LOCAL NEWSDEALER'S

With 10c for One Pennant Add 5c if Desired by Mail

With 25c for Three Pennants Add 5c if Desired by Mail

—OR—

With 75c for Ten Pennants Add 10c Extra if Desired by Mail

Will Entitle Bearer to Take Advantage of This Special Offer
MAIL ORDERS FILLED PROMPTLY

GOVERNOR GLYNN IS GUARDED DURING EXECUTIONS

RECEIVES LETTERS BEARING THREATS AGAINST HIS LIFE

ALBANY, N. Y., April 13.—Detectives remained on guard all last night at the executive mansion as it was feared an attempt would be made on the life of Governor Glynn. Several threatening letters have been received and, although the Governor felt no apprehension, the guard was maintained as a precautionary measure.

All hope for a reprieve for the four gunmen vanished when Governor Glynn, after a two-hour conference with Attorneys C. G. F. Wahle and H. S. Kringel, refused to interfere with the executions.

The counsel for the defence made no appeals to his sympathies. Only the new evidence that was brought out before Justice Goff in New York was presented. When they had finished, the Governor and his legal adviser, John G. Saxe, retired to a private room and considered all the evidence. Then the gunmen's attorneys were sent for. Pale and a trifle nervous, but with a firm voice, the Governor said:

REFUSED TO YIELD.

"Gentlemen, I am sorry, but I cannot see my way clear to change my decision." With their last chance to save the gunmen from the electric chair gone, the attorneys walked slowly from the chamber.

"It seems the boys must die," Mr. Wahle said. "Unless the Governor changes his decision before morning, they are doomed."

"Did he hold out any hope?" was asked.

"No," he replied. "On the contrary, he said his decision was final." Mr. Wahle then told of the nature of his appeal, emphasizing the fact that he thought the Governor was very patient.

"The Governor seemed anxious to know every new fact in the case," he said, "and I tried to explain them fully. We presented all the evidence and affidavits produced before Judge Goff, set forth verbatim the salient features of the evidence, and then gave him and his counsel the affidavits for their own examination.

"There is nothing left for us to do but continue our duties as lawyers of bad news. We shall telegraph to Ossining and later return to New York to report the Governor's decision to the relatives of the condemned men."

A written statement issued at the executive chamber follows:

"Judge Wahle renewed the application and the Governor heard him for one hour and a half. The application was renewed on the same facts that were before the Governor originally, and the affidavits of new witnesses presented to Judge Goff.

"The Governor replied that there was nothing before him to justify his interference with the course of the law."

The final plea was made in the executive chamber, with only the Governor, his legal adviser, John G. Saxe, the gunmen's two attorneys and Frank A. Tierney, the Governor's secretary, present. The Governor did not appear after the attorneys had left the chamber. Mr. Saxe gave out the statement and said that the Governor would have nothing more to say.

While the attorneys were with the Governor a report became current that the mother and a sister of "Dago Frank" Cirofici were coming here to see the executive. One rumor was that they bore a confession from the gunmen. Another was that they thought a last personal appeal to the Governor might save the gunmen's life.

When the Governor heard this report he said positively he would not grant the women an audience. He decided several days ago not to talk with any of the relatives of the condemned men. The women did not arrive, however, and Mr. Wahle said he did not think they ever had any intention of coming.

"If they should have come," he added, "I am sure they would not have borne a confession from 'Dago Frank.' In my opinion, he will have no statement to make."

The mother and a sister of "Dago Frank" Cirofici were here to plead with the Governor for the gunman's life. They failed to see him, however, as he was steadfast in his previously announced determination not to talk with the relatives of the condemned men.

THE WOMEN OF THE GUNMEN, From right to left, Mrs. Cirofici, mother of "Dago Frank"; his sister, Mrs. Louis Rosenberg and Mrs. Harry Horowitz.

PHOTOS © BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

GUNMEN'S LAST DAY IN THE DEATH CELL

By WILLIAM DAVENPORT.

OSSINING, N. Y., April 13.—The four condemned gunmen spent their last day on earth under circumstances that would have crushed any man of imagination into remorseless inertia. Only a hoped pause for their execution soon to depart. They bade farewell to the persons supposed to be dearest to them. They received from the lawyer, C. G. F. Wahle, the final news for any hope they may have perished secretly. They heard the 6 o'clock guards tell their waiting wives, sisters, mothers and fathers yesterday afternoon that the prison rules forbade a longer stay and then, without a wife to see much as touch the hands of the sorrowing relatives who wept for them, saw the heavy blinds in front of their cells drawn for the last time.

On the brow of the hill overlooking the grim prison a morbid throng converged, conversing with the hideous thought that at dawn three men in the full vigor of youthful health and one man bent under the ravages of tuberculosis, will be deliberately thrown into the great black mystery of death.

Here in Ossining, where the ugly stone walls of Sing Sing alone marred the marvellous sun-drenched picture of the rolling Hudson, the blue Palisades, shrouded in the soft veils of sleepy little villages, on this day of hope and despair, the faces of the four gangsters counted the hours as they passed one by one.

"GYP" PROTESTS INNOCENCE.

Harry Lewis' mood was gradually breaking under the strain.

But "Dago Frank," with folded arms, awaited death with uncanny disinterest. "Lefty Louie," gangster and gun fighter to the end, whirled his protest of innocence into prayers. "Gyp the Blood," almost cheerful in the never ceasing exhortations of his spiritual advisers, planned for death, exulting in a new found solace.

"I'm going before my Maker clean," said Gyp. "I die innocent but happy. I am satisfied. I am in the hands of God."

Before 9 o'clock yesterday morning young Maris Cirofici, sister of Frank, and her aged mother climbed the ramped hill to the prison.

Hope shone still in the girl's eyes. They stayed with the condemn'd man and with Father Cashin at their side, partook of Frank's last communion. They left like women who had seen death overtake them. Their faces were ashen, their lips blue, their eyes swollen. The reporters declined to disturb them and stood bareheaded in the sorrowing stricken women passed by.

In the afternoon two Franciscan sister who, when "Dago Frank" was sturdy little Frank Cirofici, taught the boy to read and write, visited the death house. The two good women carried with Father Cashin and went directly to the boy whom they strove to start aright in life. Warden Osborne and Principal Keeper McInerney went with them, and at the word of the warden the heavy curtains in front of the cells were raised.

KNEELT IN PRAYER.

A phonograph was playing and Alma Gluck's wonderful liquid voice was singing, "Whispering Hope." With all the music of his warm Southern nature, Frank was listening enraptured. The final notes died away and Father Cashin fell on his knees. The good Sisters followed. Then one after another every man in the house of death knelt except the armed guards standing at the narrow iron door that shut the men from the world.

Warden Osborne and P. K. McInerney knelt beside the Sisters. The three bland faced gentlemen in the upper tier fell to their knees. In the far end of the short corridor Hans Schmidt, slayer of Anna Aumiller, joined the bowed group.

Slowly the priest spoke the beautiful Liturgy and then by nearly every man except the iron guard at the door the Pater Noster was recited in unison.

While the universal prayer was being said a telegram from Mr. Wahle in Albany arrived.

LAST HOPE GOES.

"The Governor has consented to see us at 2:15," the message read. "May God touch the heart of Governor Glynn," added Father Cashin.

"But it will do no good," said "Gyp the Blood. "We did not have the slightest hope that the appeal to Justice Goff would be successful. We knew when we heard that Goff was to decide that we stood no chance."

"Gyp" was quite right. At 6:26 p. m. separate telegrams to each of the four gunmen and to Warden Wade in Albany. They read: "Grieved to inform you that the Governor has refused to interfere. Goodbye. Will be with you for nearly two hours."

There came to Sing Sing yesterday to bid farewell to their husbands, Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg, a tearful little blonde girl who loves the effete "Lefty." With her came Mrs. Harry Horowitz, a frail invalid, whose eyes burned unnaturally and whose cheeks were as pale as moonlight.

Brothers, several brothers-in-law and many cousins of the doomed men arrived on the same train.

A wild scene ensued in the death house. All the emotional natures of the visitors broke forth in lamentations and protests against fate.

The guards stole away that condemned gunmen watched their agonized kinsfolk in a spirit of impatient pity. The men were all calm, they say.

Now and then the gangsters shouted to comfort the distracted women in the corridor before them.

"Let me kiss him. Please, please, just once," pleaded Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg. "Let me touch his hand. Let me feel him pressed to me. Let me feel his breast on my face. For God's sake, pity me," she screamed.

The armed guards stood as they turned and a pistol. His face was fixed. Not a gleam or emotion not a tremor of reasons did he show.

"Brace up, kid," soothed "Lefty Louie." "Brace up. Be a good, brave kid. I'd like to kiss you, kid, you know that, but the warden says it cannot be done."

"Dago Frank," to whom no woman has come like this, looked on with lowered eyes. Maybe he was thinking of Jean Gorden.

Against the heavy screen that barred the way to "Gyp" Horowitz' cell the little woman, who is today his widow had thrown herself begging Gyp to tell her that he loved her.

The cries of the visitors drowned the strains of the violins and cellos of the orchestra away in another part of the prison.

An hour later the two forlorn women came out. Morris Seidenscher half carried "Lefty Louie's" hysterical wife. The wife of "Gyp the Blood" clung to Paul Cirofici, Frank's brother.

The condemned gunmen made their wills and disposed of their little treasures. "Dago Frank" gave the talisman basket, a gift to him from Yung Ling, a fellow occupant of the death house, to his sister Maris.

"Whitey Lewis" gave his album to his wife and his scrapbook to a reporter.

"Gyp the Blood," gave all he owned to his wife.

"Lefty Louie," after writing several "souvenir notes" to his acquaintances among the newspaper men, gave everything he had collected to Mrs. Rosenberg, his wife.

CHRONOLOGY OF LAST WEEKS IN THE CASE OF THE GUNMEN

Feb. 24—Court of Appeals holds: "This case presented a fair question of fact for the jury to decide, and the jury's determination shows that they believed the people's witnesses and disbelieved the defendants and their witnesses. The verdict should, in our judgment, be sustained."

Feb. 26—Death warrants for the gunmen signed.

March 22—Gunmen issue statement from death house at Sing Sing concluding: "This is the God's truth, so help me God, that we are innocent."

March 23—C. G. F. Wahle and H. L. Kringel, counsel for the gunmen, make public affidavit of Samuel Kaimanson that on the morning of Rosenthal's murder he saw a man "whom I now know to be Harry Vallon, pistol in hand, on the running board" of the automobile which carried off the slayers.

March 28—Gunmen issue second statement to the public, reviewing the opinions of the Court of Appeals in their case and that of Charles Becker.

March 30—Appeals for clemency, or at least reprieve, are sent to Governor Glynn from ten members of the jury that convicted the gunmen, together with affidavits from Bail Bondsman Max Hertz. Witt told him Weber and Vallon did the shooting; from Louis Libby, Willie Shapiro's partner in the ownership of the "murder car" that "Shapiro distinctly and positively told me four of the defendants was in the shooting"; from Harford T. Marshall, attorney for Shapiro, that Shapiro told him Vallon jumped on the running board of the car, revolver in hand, and from the wives of Gyp the Blood and Lefty Louie that Coppe, a witness for the prosecution, told them: "These four men are not the men whom I saw."

March 31—Governor Glynn writes to Justice Goff and District-Attorney Whitman regarding the granting of a reprieve.

April 7—Governor refuses to stay execution, set for week beginning April 13.

April 8—Rabbis Jacob Golaxein, Bernard Drachman and H. Pereira Mendes appeal to Gover...or Glynn for mercy, without success.

April 9—Rabbi E. B. M. Browne lays before Governor Glynn note sent by Frank Moss to Governor Sulzer saying, among two of the prosecution's witnesses: "Be careful of anything from Luban and Margolies."

April 10—Counsel for gunmen get affidavits from William S. Burnett and Earl Dresser.

April 11—Justice Goff hears arguments for a new trial on strength of new testimony offered by Burnett and Dresser and refuses the application.

April 12—Governor Glynn, at close of final hearing of the gunmen's counsel, declines to halt their electrocution.

WAHLE INSISTS DEAD GUNMEN WERE INNOCENT

NEW YORK, April 13.—Wearing visible traces of sorrow in his face and with tears in his eyes, former Judge Charles G. F. Wahle, counsel for the four gunmen, who were electrocuted at Sing Sing Prison for the assassination of Herman Rosenthal, declared today that four innocent men had been put to death.

"Every plea and inducement that the human mind could devise was made to get them to confess," said the lawyer. "They remained obdurate to the end. It takes courage to go to one's death with an unconfessed crime in the heart, and I feel that these four men had absolutely nothing to confess. I suppose some day the real facts in the Rosenthal tragedy will come out.

"Those four boys kept silent because they were innocent. Not only did I urge them to confess if they were guilty, but their spiritual advisers did likewise.

"The whole thing is now a closed book. The four men are dead and the law has been apparently satisfied."

Mr. Wahle wept as he described the scenes in his office on Saturday night when he was compelled to tell the relatives of the doomed men that all hope had been lost with the refusal of Justice Goff to grant a new trial.

"It would take a Dante to picture the sorrow of those people," declared the lawyer.

"Never have I seen such anguish. Many hearts have been broken by the ruthlessness of the law in this case."

Mr. Wahle said he is daily receiving hundreds of letters from persons who express the belief that "Dago Frank," "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis" and "Lefty Louie" were innocent.

INVESTIGATE ATTEMPT TO WRECK DEATH CHAIR

OSSINING, April 13.—On the eve of the execution an attempt was made to put the electric chair in the death chamber at Sing Sing prison out of commission and thus delay the carrying out of the sentence.

The special dynamo connected with the electric chair had been pounded to pieces by blows with a hammer early yesterday morning or late the night before. If the damage had not been detected before soon a postponement of the execution would have been necessary.

A prison employe is under suspicion and an investigation is now being carried on by Warden Clancy and Principal Keeper McInerney.

NEW DYNAMO INSTALLED.

E. C. Davis, State electrician of Massachusetts, the inventor of the electric chair and the chief executioner at Sing Sing, tested his apparatus on Saturday and found everything working satisfactorily. He went to New York city on Saturday evening, and had not expected to return until shortly before the time set.

Through the "underground system" at Sing Sing, however, it was learned that some one had wrecked the delicate electrical apparatus. A number of bolts and nuts were missing altogether. Mr. Davis was called on the telephone when the discovery was made. He made a flying trip to the prison and sent to New York for an entirely new dynamo, and, with a number of assistants, spent the whole of the day in installing the new apparatus.

At 11 o'clock last night the chair was tested and found to be in perfect condition. Current to the amount of 2,000 volts, considered an extra heavy charge, was sent through it success fully.

NARROW INVESTIGATION.

The investigation, it was said, would be narrowed to just a few persons, all prison employes. Under the rules of the prison only a few persons are permitted to enter the death chamber. The dynamo is in the same room where the chair stands. A Burns detective was reached the prison late last night to aid in the detection of the culprit.

The attempt to delay the execution by physical means is regarded here as proof of the resentment inside the prison against the fate of the gunmen. Ss-Lieutenant Becker was a hero in the prison and since he was confined in the death house. When the Court of Appeals took Becker away for a new trial and condemned the gunmen, however, the sympathy was transferred to the gunmen.

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Easiest and Best Way Is to Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find that the terrible itching and digging of the scalp will cease at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft as a baby's, and will have a hundred times better.

You just need to preserve your hair by to all means get rid of dandruff; for dandruff is the hair's worst enemy, it starves the hair, loosens it, makes it grow thin, fall out fast, and finally causes baldness. If you will just follow this simple, harmless advice, you will find after a few days' use that every bit of dandruff will be gone, and your hair will look and be a hundred times better.

You just need to preserve your hair by to all means get rid of dandruff; for dandruff is the hair's worst enemy, it starves the hair, loosens it, makes it grow thin, fall out fast, and finally causes baldness. If you will just follow this simple, harmless advice, you will find after a few days' use that every bit of dandruff will be gone, and your hair will look and be a hundred times better.

Theatres.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE
TONIGHT—2 WKS
EVES. 8:15 MATS. 2:15
REGULAR MATS. WEDS., SATS.
Holiday Matinee Patriots' Day
ACTORS' FUND MAT. FRIDAY
MRS. FISKE
IN
MRS. BUMPSTEAD-LEIGH
"NOTHING BUT FUN."—N. Y. Sun

Within the Law
WITH
Jane Cowl
Rail-Roaded

MAJESTIC
Mats. Wed. & Sat.

SHUBERT TONIGHT
Eves. 8:30 Sharp. Wed. & Sat. Mats. 2
FREDERIC McKAY Presents
BLANCHE RING
Supported by HARRY CONOR
In the Musical Comedy
WHEN CLAUDIA SMILES
SEATS NOW for PATRIOTS' DAY MAT.
Special Extra Matinee Patriots' Day, Monday April 20
Seats Now on Sale

BOSTON
Matinees Tues., Wed. & Fri. All Seats 25-50-75 Best $1
Nights 25-50-75
SPECIAL
Extra Matinee Patriots' Day, Monday April 20
Seats Now on Sale
IN OLD KENTUCKY

PARK
LAST TWELVE NIGHTS!
GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S
FANNY'S FIRSTPLAY

TREMONT TONIGHT
THEATRE
CERTAIN AT 8 O'CLOCK PROMPTLY
DAVID WARFIELD
IN THE AUCTIONEER
Regular Mats. Wed. & Sat.

LOEW'S ST. JAMES
Continuous Vaudeville
Mon., Tues., Wed.
Billy Swede Hall & Co.
Comedy Sketch, "Made Good."
Many Other Features.
Wed. Night Girls' Diving Contest

WALDRON'S CASINO
Hanover Street
Queens of Paris Burlesquers

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
Matinee Daily. Evening Performances Every Evening at 8:15
Mats. Wed. & Sat. at 2:15
Popular Prices
Mat. Wed. & Sat. 25c to $1.00
Evenings 25c to $1.50
Seats Now on Sale for Patriots' Day Matinee
Special Extra Matinee Monday, April 20
Seats Now on Sale
Next Week—Klaw & Erlanger's Musical Success
THE HOUSE OF BOOTH
Direct from Its Record Breaking Run at the Cohan Theatre, New York

Theatres.

COLONIAL
Mats. Wed. & Sat. JUST 3 WEEKS
Opening Tonight at 8:15
GREATEST DANCING SHOW
THOS. W. RYLEY'S
MUSICAL COMEDY FURORE
THE QUEEN OF THE MOVIES
HANDSOMEST CHORUS ALIVE
BASEBALL NIGHT TOMORROW
Actors' Fund Benefit Mat., Fri., Apr. 17
Patriots' Day Matinee, Mon., Apr. 20

GLOBE
MAT. TODAY
15-25-50
TONIGHT
15-25-50-75
LAST WEEK—Only Few More Times More Like Handled Than Any Other Show in the World
MUTT & JEFF IN PANAMA
BUD FISHER'S FUNNY FOLKS
Next Mon.—"Bringing Up Father"

PLYMOUTH TEL. OX. 2075
Nights 8:15
Sats. 2:15 Thurs. Sat. at 2
Last Week Mats. Until Wed.
SELWYN & CO.'S UNDER COVER
With WILLIAM COURTENAY
DARRELL FOSTER
In a Reorganization of the Success Now on Box Office Sale for Next Week and Thereafter

NATIONAL TONIGHT
Evs. 8:15 Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:15
MAYOR OF TOKIO
LAKE OF THE AMAZONS
SPECTACULAR Water Mystery PANTOMIME
Next Week—Sothern & Marlowe

GAIETY BURLESQUE VAUDEVILLE
Week Bl...ner Reviews
THE BIG JUBILEE

Amusements.

BASEBALL
TOMORROW AT 3 P. M.
RED SOX vs. WASHINGTON
FENWAY PARK
Tickets Now on Sale at Wright & Ditson's, 344 Washington St.

PATRIOTS' DAY SALE
PURE LIQUORS
Holiday Liquors at 1-3 less than elsewhere; purest qualities, dignified service and free, quick, reliable delivery.
RYE, PORT Both 99c
Combination Costs $2.00 at Other Stores
Bangueil Rye Old Private Stock 1.00
Port or Sherry The Ellenbarn. Price 35
(2 Bots. SPECIAL 99c) 1.35
Pure Whiskies
Hunter Rye Bot. 83c
Canadian Club Whisky Bot. 1.07
Mentor Whisky Qt. 73c
Scotch, Usher's O. V. S. Bot. 89c
Scotch Bot. 87c
Irish, Wm. Jameson's Bot. 97c
Duffy's Malt Whisky Bot. 81c
Pure Gins and Rums
Gordon Dry Gin Bot. 89c
Gin Qt. 73c
Gin Qt. 97c
Rum Qt. 73c
Rum Qt. 95c
Miscellaneous
Alcohol Pt. 39c
Beer Doz. 1.50
Stout, Guinness's Pint Qt. 28c
M. & R. Vermouth Bot. 49c
Sanquet Cocktails Bot. 87c
Brandy Bot. 1.37c
Complete Wine and Liquor Price List Free
Ginter Co
109 Summer Corner Otis, Cor. Elm
495 Washington Opp. Lagrange
Specialty Shop, Inc. Agts. 172 Tremont

TRY Hecker's CREAM BREAKFAST RICE
Cooks in 9 minutes
New Delicious Nutritious
10c
Demonstration Store 99 Summer St.

MAIN 5180
Any time, night or day, It's most convenient, Just to say, Main 5180.
Boston American "Want Ads" Bring Results

Ty Cobb Becomes a Baseball Reporter for the Boston American---See His First Story Below

GAFFNEY SAYS FEDERALS GOT QUINN IN PLOT

Continued from First Page.

time because the contract which he entered into with the Boston club in January, 1914, required him to report at the opening of the season, and I waited until it became apparent that Quinn would not report to my club before taking any action.

I have determined to begin an action against all those connected in the signing of Quinn to a Baltimore Federal contract, including Edward Hanlon, Otto Stahl, the Federal League and its president, James A. Gilmore, individually.

The action will be brought to recover the damages to which the Boston club is entitled by reason of the conspiracy entered into by these parties which resulted in Quinn breaking his contract with the Boston club and going to the Federals.

In January, 1914, I personally concluded negotiations with Quinn, which resulted in the making of a satisfactory contract with him for the season of 1914. I, personally, communicated the facts in regard to the making of this contract to President Gilmore and he, in the presence of Mr. Cashman and Joe Vila, two New York newspaper men, declared that in view of the correspondence and conversations between me and Quinn he would take no action toward trying to get Quinn to desert the Boston club without further consulting me, and fixed a time in the following week when he would see me again in regard to the matter.

GOT QUINN TO DESERT.

Instead of keeping his word with me, he and Edward Hanlon immediately entered into an effort to get Quinn to jump his contract, and by offering him (Quinn) a large sum of money succeeded in getting him to desert.

I don't want Quinn as a player on my team under the present circumstances, but I do propose to show to the baseball world the underhanded and fraudulent actions of Gilmore, Federal Leagues and others in carrying out their conspiracy to get this player to jump his contract.

This controversy over Quinn has nothing to do with the reserve rule, old or new. Quinn made a bargain with me for his services for this year, and two men, knowing that both Quinn and myself were perfectly satisfied with the terms agreed on, deliberately set to work to induce Quinn to break the contract which he had made.

Judge Sessions, in deciding the Killifer case, used some strong language in characterizing the actions of persons who induced players to repudiate their moral obligations to the clubs with which they had been signed. This case goes beyond moral obligations.

QUINN UNDER CONTRACT.

Quinn was under actual contract with my club, and Gilmore, Hanlon and Knabe entered into an unlawful conspiracy to induce him to break his obligations. I am going to bring them into court and let the baseball public have the full evidence. I am glad to these hypocrites who have been going around looking so upright and honorable they were.

Judge Sessions, in the Killifer case, used the underlined language in characterizing the action of the Federal League in going after Killifer, and I consider it my duty, because I am under a moral obligation to the baseball public, to prosecute this suit.

"Knowing that the defendant, Killifer, was under a moral, if not a legal, obligation to render his services to the Philadelphia club for the season of 1915 they sent for him, and by offering him a longer term of employment and a much larger compensation induced him to repudiate his obligations to his employer. In so doing a willful injury was done to the Philadelphia club which was none the less grievous and harmful because the defendant party could not obtain legal redress in and through the courts of this land. Can it be doubted that if the plaintiffs had not interfered Mr. Killifer would have carried out his agreements with the Philadelphia club in honesty and good faith?"

"HIGH-HANDED" METHODS.

When I present the evidence showing the methods by which Hanlon and Gilmore induced Quinn to go to Baltimore in the same court and it appears that they have violated not only moral but legal obligations and deliberately conspired to commit an unlawful act, it will be interesting to see what some judge will say about them.

If the people of Baltimore knew the manner in which these men secure men to play on their club the decent element of the baseball public would be very particular to leave the Federals alone.

We are going to Baltimore to begin this action and will try it there, and the people of that community will have full opportunity to judge of the "high-handed" methods which have been employed to get the ball players now representing that city in the Federal League.

The Hesitation Dangerous

That is your hesitation in buying your May number of Cosmopolitan. This is the greatest number yet of America's greatest magazine. Secure your copy before it is sold out.

Jeff Still Insists He Knows More Than a Bank

By "Bud" Fisher

Of course Jeff has plenty of Coin left but he has it in the Vault. He only Carries a Checking account of eight or ten thousand dollars at a time, a little fun money as we say at the Club.
WHAT DO YUH THINK OF THAT? I WAS NEVER SO MORTIFIED IN MY LIFE. JEFF GAVE ME A CHECK FOR $100 AND I WENT TO CASH IT AND THE BANK REFUSED. THEY SAID JEFF HAD OVERDRAWN HIS ACCOUNT
YOU POOR SIMP, SEE THAT CHECK OF YOURS? WELL IT CAME BACK MARKED OVERDRAWN. YOU'VE OVERDRAWN YOUR ACCOUNT.
WHO ME? SAY! THAT BANK IS DAFFY
HERE'S MY CHECK BOOK AND THERE'S STILL FOUR CHECKS LEFT IN IT. COUNT 'EM YOURSELF
© 1915 by Star Co.

TY COBB PICKS FIVE CLUBS TO FIGHT FOR SECOND IN THE RACE

This is the first of a series of stories written for the Boston AMERICAN—and to continue throughout the baseball season—giving a breezy, up-to-date account of the current news and gossip of the National game.

By TY COBB.

In the articles that I shall write during the season that begins this week, I will endeavor to keep my readers in close touch with Big League events and gossip both on and off the field.

Not only will I take up the progress of the pennant fights, but I will also chronicle the interesting, "inside" gossip of the games, and the incidents and anecdotes connected therewith, that may always be heard and enjoyed in the hotel and club houses, on the trains, and in all the other places where Big Leaguers assemble.

Nearly every day has its bit of interesting gossip that fails to reach the ears of the fans through customary channels. Nearly every day, too, holds a laugh for a ball player, and I will attempt to pass along some of these so that they will at least be smiles to my readers.

But first, as we are about to start another race, I want to give some of my honest views of the pennant prospects of the clubs in the two big leagues.

ATHLETICS SEEM TO HAVE THE EDGE.

In the American League, everybody must admit that the Athletics, on paper at least, seem to have the edge on the field. They are a veteran club of youngsters, if I may express it that way.

In other words, the Athletics, as a team, have played together long enough for the men to become accustomed to one another's style, and yet the club is not lacking under the handicap of having even a single worn-out old-timer in the line-up.

Bender and Plank, of course, are not youngsters in the strict sense of the word, and they will have to slip some day, possibly this year. But with his usual luck, which I must admit is combined with a lot of good judgment, "Connie" Mack may bob up serenely with youngsters to take their places when they are finally forced to quit.

Athletics Are Due For the Jinx.

However that may be, I am of the opinion that the world's champions will not have the luck this year that they did last—I mean luck in avoiding injuries and in keeping first-string men in the line-up almost constantly the season.

By the law of chances and probability the jinx will hop on the Mackmen some day, for they have been remarkably free from disorganizations to date. If they get a couple of men hurt and their pitchers have a bad year, there will go a regular landslide for pennant honors in the American League.

There are five clubs which I think have a chance for second place. These are Washington, Detroit, Chicago, Boston, and possibly Cleveland. The Naps are the most likely to fall down and out of the struggle and subside into second division berth. New York and St. Louis are doubtful contenders for third place, though I think they will be a little better than last year.

Senators and White Sox are Light Hitters

Washington and Chicago are light hitting clubs with good pitching. If Walsh has a good year, the White Sox will be a very dangerous club, while if one or two of Clark Griffith's youngsters pick up, the Nationals will make trouble.

Boston had bad pitching last year and will need a lot of improvement in the mound department to get better than fourth money.

Cleveland, with Falkenberg due to the Federals and both Chapman and Leibold laid up on account of injuries, is badly crippled and hardly can cope with the other clubs I have mentioned, though a team with so much batting strength as Cleveland possesses is always dangerous.

I honestly believe that Detroit has as good a chance as any of its rivals to finish second. We have a much improved pitching staff, a fine catching corps, our outfield will be stronger than last season, and our infield certainly will do better defensive work and more hitting.

Some of the young pitchers Manager Jennings picked up this spring will be regular winners in the American League, while Dubuc, Inness and Hall, our veterans, will give excellent accounts of themselves.

(Copyright, 1915, Wheeler syndicate, inc.)

Ty Cobb will discuss the National League pennant race in the Boston AMERICAN tomorrow.

Short Sports of All Sorts

NEW YORK. — GEORGE V. BONHAG, who fights a number of America's Olympic team of fellow athletes, and records, has signed a contract with the Hamilton institute for boys, of which he is head and director of sports. In this institute he will coach athletics and will be in charge of all track and field events.

PRINCETON THERE SEEMS TO BE A chance of some sort of a dual track and field meet or relays between teams over the amateur standing of the summer who take part in Olympic games and the Tigers. Princeton is one of the members of the A. A. U. Committee that has been appointed to look into the matter of the standing of the summer athletes and has been in the interests of some coaches and captains of the Princeton track and field team, who think that they could engage being classed as professionals.

LOTHROP AMES HAS JUST PURchased the yearling Cinderella colt Fairholme Princess, bred by Robert A. Ferguson of West Long Branch, N. J., for $3,000. Fairholme Footprint is reported to be the fastest two year old yearling Cinderella ever produced.

PASSAIC PARK, N. Y. — GEORGE F. Corey, of Virginia, champion court tennis player, has defeated Howard Sloan at the hands of Jack Wolfe, professional of the New York Racquet and Tennis club, in a series of the Virginia Tennis and Racquet Club, three straight sets being won.

SYDNEY (AUSTRALIA). — EDDIE Mellett, the American sculler, finished only three yards of Australia in the tenth round of a twenty-mile handicap race on the Parramatta river in the first eight rounds. The fight took place at the Australian Henley.

NEW YORK. — PRESIDENTS FRANK J. Farrell of the New York Americans and Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn Federals have signed contracts of postseason games next spring. Should no world's championship series be played next fall, it is understood that within the next month the managers will sign articles for annual spring contests to cover a period of either three or five years.

NEWARK, N. J.—WALTER BUTT, THE world's cycling champion, now in this country, plans to return to Europe in time to defend his title at the world's championship meeting to be held at the Parisian track in the suburbs of Copenhagen on August 2, 3, 4 and 5.

E. E. HUBER, THE CALIFORNIA DISTance runner, who has performed many more miles than any other entrant in the classic Marathon, has reported to Manager George V. Bonhag of the N. A. A. T. U. Meets of Worcester and E. L. Carr, Gus Berlin, Mack, Dunlop, are the latest entries.

HOW TEAMS LINED UP.

BOSTON.	CINCINNATI.
Hooper, r.f.	Moran, r.f.
Engle, 1b.	Bates, c.f.
Henriksen, c.f.	Groh, 2b.
Behig, c.f.	Marsans, l.f.
Lewis, l.f.	Holdtlzel, 1b.
Gardner, 3b.	Bergh'mer, 3b.
Yerkes, 2b.	Herzog, s.s.
Scott, ss.	Clark, c.
Carrigan, c.	Rowan, p.
Thomas, c.	Yingling, p.
Leonard, p.
Bedient, p.
Swanson

SCORE BY INNINGS.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston ... 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 1 0—4	7	1
Cincinnati .0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0	4	6

BRITISH WORRY OVER CHANCE OF TEAM FOR CUP

Special Cable to Boston American.

LONDON, April 13.—The polo expert of the London Times is rather pessimistic over England's chance regarding the result of the cup matches to be played in June.

He says the standard of practice games in Madrid has fallen considerably short in pace and execution of standard needed to give our players a fighting chance at Meadow Brook.

As regards the vital question of pony power, it is to be feared, as the practice in Spain revealed nakedness of land in that respect.

Some sixty ponies are to be taken from England, and it is hoped that at least thirty will be found, in class and in blood and speed training, to take to America. The general opinion is that the number to reach this standard is not sufficient to carry the British team on Meadow Brook field on equal terms with its opponents.

Captains H. A. Tomkinson, E. W. E. Palmes, F. W. Barrett and Vivian Lockett are back and at present considered likely to form the British team. The writer concludes:

"One thing, however, is absolutely certain, America will be represented next June by her four best players, whoever they may be, matched on the best horses the world can produce and trained to the very highest point of efficiency which money, intelligence and skill can achieve. It is to be hoped that the third attempt of England to capture the cup will be equally fortunate."

Grenda and Rutt Win Bike Races

NEW YORK, April 13.—Alfred Grenda, the Australian cyclist, was the winner of the Shanley handicap, featuring the opening of the outdoor cycling season at the Newark Velodrome.

Robert Speers, also of Australia, with 25 yards, was second, and Ernest Jokus, a 63-yard man, was third. Rutt, the world's champion, finished fourth. The world's champion won the Overture sprint, a one-mile scratch race, beating Alfred Goulette and Jackie Clark, the Australians, who challenged him for first prize.

Drew Earned Record, Says Coast Timer

NEW YORK, April 13.—Dud Moulton, the former coach of the Stanford University track team, and one of the oldest followers of sprint racing in America, in a letter to James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, had the following to say in relation to Drew's 9 3-5:

"I timed Drew in 9 3-5. I was not one of the official timers, but was directly over the tape, and Horine called my attention to the fact that there was no wind when they took the mark to start. I don't know if they will allow him the record, but he deserves it O. K."

RED SOX SQUAD REACHES HOME EARLY TONIGHT

Continued from First Page.

hits for the Red Sox, while Henriksen, Scott and Carrigan each connected for a single.

The Red Sox started the scoring in the third inning. Scott commenced the sport by smashing a single to centre. He went to third while Carrigan and Leonard were being tossed out at first by Herzog.

Clarke made a short passed ball and Scott made a dash for the plate and made it. Hooper tripled but was left on third when Engle was thrown out at first.

CARRIGAN TO CATCH IN OPENER.

Carrigan's noble crew tallied twice in the fifth stanza. Scott was safe when Herzog fumbled his grounder. Carrigan signaled for the hit and run play and sent a stealing single through shortstop, while Herzog ran toward second.

The Reds then engaged in a ball throwing contest and when they started to play real baseball again Scott and Carrigan were comfortably seated on the Boston bench.

The fourth Red Sox run was scored in the eighth chapter. Groh dropped Engle's pop fly. Behig flied to Herzog, but Lewis sent Engle to third with a single to centre.

Duffy tried to make second on the throw in third but was an easy out. Engle scored a minute later when Herzog made a wild throw to first on Gardner's easy grounder.

Collins and Carrigan will probably be the battery for the Red Sox tomorrow, while Johnson and Ainsmith will work for Griffith's band. Johnson has been a little hit wild this Spring and was beaten by the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game.

The Red Sox players will not make any protests if the "Big Swede" is unable to locate the plate tomorrow.

BIG SQUAD IN CAMP.

Carrigan caught a great game in Cincinnati and threw to the bases in fine style.

The entire squad is in excellent spirits and eager for the opening clash. The fine weather yesterday helped Carrigan's gang to forget the many rainy days which they have experienced since they left Hot Springs.

Hugh Bedient went to his home in Fairmount, N. Y., for tonight and will arrive in Boston tomorrow morning, accompanied by his wife. They plan to make the Hub their home during the baseball season.

The recruits are all on their way to Boston, but Carrigan will soon send several of them back to the minors.

George Wilson will remain at Youngstown, Ohio, until he has had his throwing arm thoroughly examined by "Honesetter" Rose.

Amateur Games

Mah J. Murray's White Bear Baseball Company, of St. Paul, Minn., has completed its teams in the State this season, and would like to arrange games for them in New England. The Canoe has been selected by Mr. Murray to manage the team. Mr. Murray has already obtained the services of such stars as Bill Lelivelt, Jack Fogarty, Dutch Zwilling and Con Colleran, last season's Detroit Tigers, as well as Jack Kinney, Bill Rodgers and Jack Hayden, of the best team possible, and would be glad to hear from any player desiring a tryout. Address communications to D. J. Mackey, Manager, Linwood street, Roxbury. Telephone Rox. 1700.

The Y. M. C. A. Cubs of Roxbury, champions of the Roxbury Y. M. C. A. League of 1915, are open with a challenge to all 16-17-year-old teams in the State this season, and would like to arrange games for April 17, 24, May 1, 8, 15, and 22, also June 5, 12, 19 and 26. Address all communications to Cubs, care Y. M. C. A., Roxbury Crossing, or telephone Jamaica Plain 1173 Tremont street, Roxbury.

The St. Anthony A. A. of Cambridge is anxious to get a game with the fast 16-17-year-old teams in Cambridge this season and requires the services of a coach and manager. Any team wishing to get a tryout should call at clubhouse on Cambridge street, near Harvard square, on Tuesday or Thursday evenings, or write to Jos. Lemos, 3 Cambridge street, Cambridge.

The West Everett Athletics present the following lineup for their fourth season: McGinley, c.; Buttrick, p.; McNeil, 1b.; Kingsbury, 2b.; Thiebe, 3b.; O'Donoghue, ss.; Melick, l.f.; Hagan, c.f.; Jefferson, r.f. Batteries wanted. The team is open for games with fast amateurs and semi-pros. Address Wm. N. McCormick, 20 Bow street, Everett.

The Woodworth A. C. of East Boston would like to arrange games with any fast 17-18-year-old teams in the State. Write to George Leandor, manager, No. 799 Saratoga street, East Boston.

BRAVES READY FOR OPENING WITH DODGERS

BOSTON.	BRIDGEPORT.
Maranville, s.s.	Stowe, s.s.
Evers, 2b.	Boutlen, 3b.
Collins, r.f.	Mulvey, c.f.
Griffith, c.f.	Kearns, r.f.
Schmidt, 1b.	Brady, c.
Mann, l.f.	Hallman, r.f.
Connolly, l.f.	Johnstone, 1b.
Martin, 3b.	Johnson, 2b.
Whaling, c.	Gallagher, l.f.
Strand, p.	Gervais, p.
	Blum, p.
	Aldred

SCORE BY INNINGS.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston ... 1 1 1 0 1 0 4 1 4—13	11	4
Bridgeport .0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1—1	3	0

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Braves took their final workout before the opening of the National League season, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, this afternoon. The practice consisted largely of batting with a fast infield workout for a wind up.

The Boston players are as a team in splendid physical condition. It is doubtful if there is a team in any league that is so well prepared physically to start a pennant fight.

Only one weakener in this vicinity is considerable odder than it was when the team pulled out Saturday and left the Macon camp, but the colder atmosphere has been approached gradually, stopping at Atlanta, Ga., Charlotte, N. C., Baltimore, Md., and Washington on the journey North.

BRAVES WEAK AT BAT.

There has been no setback in the conditioning of the team and if condition would win the National League flag the pennant would fly from the centre field flag pole on the old South End grounds.

But there are other things to be considered before the Boston players can expect to count world series money.

As stated frequently in these despatches, the Braves are a hustling game bunch of men, but to date their batting has been woefully weak. Time and time again this has been shown on the training trips.

This batting weakness has shown itself particularly among the outfielders. Stallings proved to be playing waiting tactics with his batters, and perhaps this has had its bad effect when it comes time to swat the ball.

Chick Deal, the clever third baseman, who sprung a shirtie horse in a game with Atlanta more than a week ago, has been carefully nursing his injured leg, and the indications are that he will be ready to take his regular place in the lineup when the ball rings for the big show tomorrow.

READY FOR OPENING GAME.

With Nap Rucker ill in bed with tonsilitis, there is no chance of the Brooklyn star twirler pitching against the Braves in the opening game, but it is said that he will be able to perform in the series.

The Dodgers will, therefore, be compelled to rely on pitchers of lesser skill than the famous southpaw.

The Bridgeport game was a feast for the Braves, winning by the score of 13 to 0.

Paul Strand pitched nine innings, and for a time it looked as if he would shut the Bridgeport boys out without a hit. He had all kinds of "stuff" on the ball and a world of speed.

It seemed he was out to pull off a no-hit game, but he spoiled his chances by playing a ball hit through the box carelessly in the sixth, and Mulvey was credited with a base hit.

Golfer Kills Opossum.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., April 13.—In the rear of his mother's home, on the top of First Mountain, James Tolley was practicing his driving by his skill with his golf clubs. Tolley drove one ball high among a patch of trees and heard a strange sound.

Looking aloft he saw an animal ambling to the ground. It was an opossum. The ball struck it between the eyes, killing it.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

By JACK CONWAY.

LEWIS' blows for extra bases are a big factor in the attack of Carrigan's men. He usually hits the ball hard and on the line which causes opposing fielders plenty of trouble.

CHARLES WEBB MURPHY is supposed to be out of organized baseball, but several Chicago players with whom the writer recently had a long chat, assert that the talkative individual is still the power behind the Windy City club.

THE Cub players declare that it is a case of "Well, Mr. Murphy, what would you do in such a case as this?"

TOMMY LEACH has been shifted to third base in the Chicago lineup, as his legs are going back on him, and he is no longer able to star in the outfield.

HUGH BEDIENT expects to have a good year in the box. Bedient was bothered by a lame arm during the first few weeks of the training season, but his salary "wing" is in shape again, and he should be a big factor in winning ball games for Carrigan's gang during the coming season.

JOE WOOD should be able to get into the game by the middle of May. The speed king would like to take his regular turn in the box, beginning the first of next month, but "General" Bill Carrigan does not intend to permit Joe to perform on the mound until he has thoroughly recovered from the effects of his recent operation for appendicitis.

THE Red Sox players will be glad when they arrive in Boston tonight. They will then be able to make up for some of the sleep which they lost while on the road during the past two weeks.

SOME of the youngsters reported at Hot Springs on February 26 and have had enough of the training season.

TUFTS' TEAM READY FOR LONG SPRING TRIP

The Tufts baseball squad will leave Boston tomorrow night for a trip through New York and Pennsylvania. Seven games will be played on the road and the Medford boys are confident of winning all of them.

The first game will be with Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y., Wednesday, with Adams scheduled to do the twirling. Against Syracuse at Syracuse on the following day, Whittaker is slated to toe the mound, with Kreps reserved to pitch against Lehigh at South Bethlehem, Penn., Friday. Saturday, Lafayette will be played at Easton, Penn., with Fordham following on Monday, Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J., on Tuesday, and West Point at West Point, N. Y., Wednesday.

Thirteen men will take the trip. Eleven men have been decided upon, but men for two positions will not be chosen till tomorrow. Bennett, the varsity catcher, and Leland are both out of the game with injured fingers, but will probably be able to take the trip and play most of the games.

Burns-McLaughlin to Battle on Mat

"Cyclone" Burns and John McLaughlin, the Irish heavyweight, will clash Thursday night in a match to a finish, best two out of three falls, at the Grand Opera House. In all probability this will be Burns' last appearance in Boston this season, as he has an offer to take part in the Paris tournament, which begins early next month.

FIVE DAYS MORE

In Which to Study and Send in Your Answers in the American's

PICTURE ANSWER CONTEST

Every Contestant May Submit

FIVE COMPLETE SETS OF ANSWERS

As each set is considered separately, all contestants should take full advantage of this privilege. If you need any

Back Pictures or Answer Lists

Send For Them NOW

Pictures, Nos. 1 to 75 inclusive, will be furnished to those who desire them. The price of this complete set is $1.25, including return postage. Send only money order. When called for the price of each set is $1.19.

Special Notice

All sets of solutions must be delivered at American Contest Headquarters by 10 o'clock P. M., April 18, or must bear postmark showing that they were mailed prior to that hour on that day, otherwise they will not be considered in the awarding of the prizes. The allows all contestants ample opportunity to solve the pictures, get the sets made up and delivered, as directed in the Contest Rules.

There Is Ample Time to Secure Back Pictures, Study, Arrange and Submit Sets.

No Sets Need Be Sent in Before Next Saturday, April 18. The first sets of answers received will stand no better chances of success than the last.

All contestants are advised to devote the time allowed to the careful preparation and examination of the answers to be submitted.

The Prizes

1st Prize	$1000.00 Cash	7th Prize	$100.00 Cash
2nd Prize	800.00 Cash	8th Prize	75.00 Cash
3rd Prize	500.00 Cash	9th Prize	50.00 Cash
4th Prize	250.00 Cash	10th Prize	25.00 Cash
5th Prize	150.00 Cash	11th-50th Prizes	10.00 CASH
6th Prize	125.00 Cash	51st-150th Prizes	5.00 CASH

RED SOX ARRIVE HOME EARLY TONIGHT FOR GREAT OPENING GAME TOMORROW

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

BRAVES TAKE THEIR FINAL WORKOUT ON DODGERS' GROUNDS IN BROOKLYN

SILK HAT HARRY'S DIVORCE SUIT

By Tad

Copyright, 1914, by International News Service.

INDOOR SPORTS

THEY HAVE THE SAME OLD LINE OF MARCH HERE EVERY DAY BEEF A LA MODE CHICKEN DAINTY DONT THEY EVER GET ANYTHING NEW?
I'LL BET THIS MENU HAS BEEN THE SAME FOR FIVE YEARS
WE HAVE A NEW DISH TODAY BY POULET GABY DESLYS
WHAT'S THAT?
CHICKEN A LA KING
PLANT ME AMONG THE GIRLS
WHY HE TOLD ME THAT THIS DAME WAS GONNA BUY A COUPE AND TWO OR THREE RUNABOUTS - SHE'S A STAGE ACTRESS HE SAID
OH - KNOW HIM WELL SHE'S A BUM BURLESQUE QUEEN AND JUST NAMED A BIT OF AIR AND ME RODE HER ALL OVER
HA-HA HE SAID IT WOULD BE THE BIGGEST JOKE SHE'VE EVER HAD
YES! - SHE WAS THE BIGGEST JELL. SHE DOES A SAND DANCE ON A SCALE WIRE IN A SHOW
AND NOW YOU TELL ME THAT SHE WONT BUY ANY CAR AT ALL? - WHY NOW YOU USED UP 8 TIRES 300 GALLONS OF GASOLINE AND TWO WEEKS OF OUR TIME
WELL BOSS - I WAS ALIVE AND IRVING - I THOUGHT SHE HAD A BOLL - SHE TOLD ME SHE KNEW HEINZ WHEN HE ONLY OWNED ONE PICKLE AND -
THEY AINT NOBODY HOME WIF DAT BOY - DEY ALL FOOLIM
GIVE OUR 1914 SELF STOPPER THE ONCE OVER
INDOOR SPORTS
LISTENING TO THE GABBY SALESMAN GET HIS

PROBABLE LINEUPS FOR THE OPENING GAMES IN THE AMERICAN AND NATIONAL LEAGUES TUESDAY

American League

At Boston.

RED SOX.	WASHINGTON.
Hooper, r.f.	Moeller, r.f.
Engle, 1b.	Foster, 3b.
Speaker, c.f.	Milan, c.f.
Lewis, l.f.	Gandil, 1b.
Gardner, 3b.	Morgan, 2b.
Yerkes, 2b.	Shanks, l.f.
Scott, s.s.	McBride, s.s.
Cady, c.	Ainsmith, c.
Collins, p.	Johnson, p.

At New York.

ATHLETICS.	YANKEES.
E. Murphy, r.f.	Maisel, 3b.
Oldring, l.f.	Boone, 2b.
Collins, 2b.	Walsh, l.f.
Baker, 3b.	Williams, 1b.
McInnis, 1b.	Holden, c.f.
Strunk, c.f.	Pe'kinpaugh, s.s.
Barry, s.s.	Gilhooley, r.f.
Schang, c.	Sweeney, c.
Plank, p.	Keating, p.

At Detroit.

ST. LOUIS.	DETROIT.
Shotten, r.f.	Bush, s.s.
Austin, 3b.	Bauman, 2b.
Williams, c.f.	Cobb, c.f.
Pratt, 2b.	Crawford, r.f.
C. Walker, l.f.	Burns, 1b.
Leary, 1b.	Veach, l.f.
Wallace, s.s.	Moriarty, 3b.
Agnew, c.	Stanage, c.
Baumgartner, p.	Dubuc, p.

At Chicago.

CLEVELAND.	WHITE SOX.
Johnston, 1b.	Altrock, 2b.
Turner, 3b.	Lord, 3b.
Jackson, c.f.	Danforth, 1b.
Lajoie, 2b.	Weaver, s.s.
Graney, l.f.	Collins, r.f.
Olson, s.s.	Bodie, c.f.
Birmingham, r.f.	Daly, l.f.
O'Neil, c.	Schalk, c.
Gregg, p.	Walsh, p.

National League

At Brooklyn.

BRAVES.	BROOKLYN.
Maranville, s.s.	Dalton, r.f.
Evers, 2b.	Cutshaw, 2b.
Gilbert, c.f.	Daubert, 1b.
Griffith, r.f.	Wheat, l.f.
Schmidt, 1b.	Smith, 3b.
Connolly, l.f.	Stengel, c.f.
Deal, 3b.	Egan, s.s.
Whaling, c.	Miller, c.
Tyler, p.	Rucker, p.

At Philadelphia.

PHILLIES.	GIANTS.
Paskert, c.f.	Beecher, r.f.
Byrne, 2b.	Burns, l.f.
Lobert, 3b.	Fletcher, s.s.
Magee, l.f.	Doyle, 2b.
Cravath, r.f.	Merkle, 1b.
Luderus, 1b.	Murray, c.
Bred, s.s.	Stock, 3b.
Killifer, c.	Meyers, c.
Alexander, p.	Matheweon, p.

At Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI.	CUBS.
Moran, r.f.	Leach, 3b.
Marsans, l.f.	Good, r.f.
Dahlitzel, 1b.	Sweeney, 2b.
Bates, c.f.	Zimmerman, s.s.
Herzog, s.s.	Williams, l.f.
Groh, 2b.	Allison, c.f.
Nicholl, 3b.	Saier, 1b.
Clarke, c.	Archer, c.
Benton, p.	Cheney, p.

At St. Louis.

PITTSBURGH.	CARDINALS.
Carey, l.f.	Huggins, 2b.
Kelly, r.f.	Magee, c.f.
Mowrey, 3b.	Butler, s.s.
Wagner, s.s.	Miller, 1b.
Konetchy, 1b.	Wilson, r.f.
Viox, 2b.	Dolan, 3b.
Mitchell, c.f.	Cruise, l.f.
Gibson, c.	Snyder, c.
Adams, p.	Geiser, p.

RITCHIE GETS HIS RING NAME BY MERE CHANCE

By WILLIE RITCHIE—No. 2.

Harry Baker, clever little featherweight, is the man who really gave me my start in the ring, and it was against my will at that. I used to pal around with Baker and Frankie Edwards, and I began to take a fancy to boxing because I heard them talk so much about it.

Baker kept after me all the time and tried to tell me that there was a good chance for me to break into the four-round game. I thought that he was trying to jolly me along, so I did not pay much attention.

Well, I remember one night in November, 1907, we were out at the arena, and the promoter was shy of talent. He was stuck to get a boy to go on in one of the curtain-raisers. Baker, who was out at the fights with me, grabbed me by the arm and began to talk business in a hurry.

"Here's your chance, Geary," he said. "They want a kid to fill in and it's up to you. If you win you may make a big hit for yourself, and if you lose, well, what's the difference? You can take a chance, can't you?"

But I was not strong for it. I told Baker that I would have stage fright. I feared being hidded, too, if I lost.

Hurried Into Bout He Takes the Name of Ritchie.

"Well, we can fix that easily enough," cut in Baker. "We will send you in under a phoney name. Nobody will know you. Come on, now, and take a chance. I know that you can beat this kid, for I have been boxing with you."

I finally fell for Baker's advice. He rushed me into the dressing room, dug up a set of trunks and a pair of shoes and then when nobody was looking, he took me aside and gave me a few pointers which I will never forget as long as I live. I must admit that I was very much up in the air.

They finally got me ready and he walked me into the ring. It was one of the first bouts, the card was late and the gallery was rumbling. I can still hear them yelling, "Bring on those stiffs! Give us a fight! What did we pay our dough for? Get busy there, you fellows!"

Baker and Frankie Edwards, my seconds, just led me into the ring. Then I learned that the boy I was fighting was a 165-pounder named Monk Enoch. I only weighed 90 pounds. But this did not make any difference to me. Enoch might have weighed a ton. I really was scared to death. I guess I would have jumped out of the ring only Baker and Edwards were there. They kept patting me on the back and telling me that Enoch would be easy.

The announcer came over to me and asked me what my name was. I hesitated a minute and then told him that my name was Willie Richardson. This was the first one that came to me, so I handed it to him.

I'll have to get a little ahead of my story here and leave Enoch in the ring to explain how I got the name Ritchie. The next time I fought the announcer made a mistake and called me Willie Richards. And the next one Willie Ritchie. I thought that the third one was lucky enough, so I have been fighting under it ever since.

I don't remember hearing the bell ring at all. In fact, I was in a sort of trance in the first round, just stalling around and protecting myself.

Left Is Effective and Gives Champ Confidence.

Enoch came rushing at me and I stuck out my left and danced around. I began to heed the warning that Baker gave me. Enoch called me all kinds of names, for he knew that I was only a green kid and he had had some experience as a four-rounder. He told me that he was going to knock my block off and several other things, but I just kept plodding away.

My left did serious damage to Enoch and I began to get confidence near the end of the round. When I came back to my corner, Baker and Edwards cheered me up and gave me my instructions for the next round.

"Keep on with that left and bring over the right when you get a chance," said Edwards. "He's easy for you. Take a chance and knock him out."

Well, my opponent was not so flippant in the second round, and I had a whole lot of confidence. Every time he came at me I stabbed him in the face with my left. Finally he got tired of coming, so I made up my mind to go right after him. This was one of the best things I ever did, for it won me my first battle and gave me my start in the ring.

After whipping in a few lefts to the jaw I finally connected with a right cross to the point and down went Enoch in a heap. He just laid there while the referee counted off ten. I was dancing around, waiting for him to get up, for I felt happy then.

I need not tell you that I was the proudest kid in the world after the scrap. Baker and Edwards took me to my dressing room and fixed me up. I was practically unmarked and I did not feel a bit tired.

Then I walked out to the box office, led by Edwards, and received the large sum of $7.50 for my services. This looked like a fortune bank roll to me. I wanted to split it up with my seconds, but they only laughed and told me to keep the money and buy a fighting outfit with it.

From that moment on I decided I would be a fighter.

(To Be Continued)

Brooklyn to Have Series with New York

NEW YORK, April 13.—Presidents Frank J. Farrell of the New York Americans and Charles H. Ebbets of Brooklyn, have agreed to a series of ante-season games next Spring. While no definite arrangements were made at this first meeting, it is understood that within the near future the magnates will sign articles for annual Spring attractions to cover a period of either three or five years.

Baseball Results

AT JERSEY CITY.

	R.	H.	E.
Jrsy City 0 1 5 1 6 2 0 2 —20	17	3
Athletics 0 2 3 1 0 0 0 0 0— 8	13	6

Batteries—Verhoeff, Brock and Yeo, Rehm, Darning and Thomas, McAvoy.

AT CLEVELAND.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago . 0 0 0 2 0 0 1 4 0—8	8	4	2
Cleveland 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0	6	4

Batteries—Lavender, Pierce and Archer; Collamore, Hagerman and O'Neil.

AT ST. LOUIS.

	R.	H.	E.
Cardinals .0 2 0 0 0 0 0 3 0—5	8	3
Browns . 1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—2	7	1

Batteries—Robinson, Hageman and Wingo; Baumgardner and Agnew.

AT INDIANAPOLIS.

	R.	H.	E.
Indianapolis	2	5	3
Detroit	1	6	2

Batteries—Burns and Livingston; Dauss, Williams and Stanage, McKee.

AT KANSAS CITY.

	R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	8	11	3
Pittsburgh	5	8	4

Batteries—Hughes, Hagan and Moore; O'Toole, Conselman, Cooper and Brennegan.

AT PROVIDENCE.

	R.	H.	E.
Washington . 1 2 0 0 1 0 3—7	10	2
Providence . 0 1 0 1 2 0 0—4	8	3

Batteries—Boehler, Engle and Henry; Oldham, Hamilton and Kocher, Onslow.

AT NEWARK.

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn .0 0 0 1 2 1 5 2 0—11	16	0
Newark . 2 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—5	12	0

Batteries—Atkinson, Allen and McCarty, Smith, Schmidt, Holmquist and Hecklinger.

AT BALTIMORE.

	R.	H.	E.
New York. 2 1 1 0 1 6 2 1 0—14	20	2
Baltimore 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2—4	8	3

Batteries—Demaree and Meyers; Russell, Morrison and Egan.

OTHER GAMES.

At Nashville, Tenn.—Toronto 11, Nashville 5.

At Louisville, Ky.—St. Louis Americans tossed a coin with Louisville 4, Baltimore 2 (second game).

At Evansville, Ind.—St. Paul 19, Evansville 5.

At Waterbury, Ct.—Waterbury 14, Troy 2.

At Grand Rapids, Mich. — Detroit (second game) 11, Grand Rapids 1.

At Terre Haute, Ind.—Cleveland 12, Terre Haute 0.

At Dayton, O.—Milwaukee 4, Dayton 2.

Kolehmainen Tries for Hour Record

Hannes Kolehmainen's failure in several of his recent starts is being laid to his desire to break the hour record, now held by Jean Bouin of France. It is said that in his training the Finn has been sacrificing speed to endurance and is losing the short events on this account.

Statements that American "grub" has injured Kolehmainen's health are denied by his friends, who say that he has been very careful of his diet.

OUIMET QUITS FOUR BALL PLAY FOR PRACTICE

LONDON, April 13.—Francis Ouimet, open golf champion of America, has made up his mind that the four ball matches he has been indulging in since his arrival in England are not doing his game any good. Therefore he has decided to practically abandon this style of play for a time and put in his days either at practice alone or with his fellow traveler, Arthur G. Lockwood.

"I am not getting properly warmed up," declared Ouimet. "One naturally is hurried in a four ball match and one wishes to be polite to new opponents, so the game resolves itself often into a talking match instead of golf. I want time to think out my shots quietly and correct little faults that crop up. Then, too, I need a lot of practice, so I have begged off from a four ball affair that has been arranged for Weston-super Mare today."

The Daily Mail printed an editorial on "The Golfing Invasion," in which it is said that there cannot be too many foreign competitors in the championship and that the Americans are particularly welcome. The article dwells upon the value of painstaking preparation of the Americans. Ouimet, Travers, Herreshoff and Lockwood are mentioned.

"It is this spirit of foresight and perseverance and minute attention to detail that has brought them victory in so many branches of sport.

"We are as deliberately casual as our American competitors are deliberately careful. They bring to these international contests an extra keenness, a strenger desire to win, a sounder or more scientific habit of thought, more careful risks and a far greater readiness to submit to the necessary training and discipline. * * *

"These American golfers on early on the ground, so anxious to neglect nothing that will help them to victory, are something more than good sportsmen and valuable visitors; they are also an object lesson in the right sort of efficiency."

LONDON DAILY MAIL PRAISES AMERICANS FOR SPORT EFFICIENCY

Special Cable to Boston American.

LONDON, April 14.—Apropos of the American golfers' invasion, the London Daily Mail in an editorial pays a high tribute to the efficiency of Americans in all branches of sport, comparing their methods with those of the British to the latter's discredit. It says:

"We are as deliberately casual as our American competitors are deliberately careful. They bring to these international contests an extra keenness, a stronger desire to win, a sounder or more scientific habit of thought, more careful risks and a far greater readiness to submit to the necessary training and discipline. * * *

"These American golfers on early on the ground, so anxious to neglect nothing that will help them to victory, are something more than good sportsmen and valuable visitors; they are also an object lesson in the right sort of efficiency."

McGoorty K. O.'s Smith.

SYDNEY, Australia, April 13.—Eddie McGoorty, the American lightweight, knocked out Dave Smith of Australia in the tenth round of a twenty-round match. Smith had the advantage in the first eight rounds.

5 MAIN 8

Any time, night or day, It's most convenient, Just to say, Main 5180.

Boston American "Want Ads" Bring Results.

GEORGE E. PHAIR SAYS:

CASEY, 1914 MODEL.

The score that day was even, with a flock of men on base,
And then came mighty Casey with a smile upon his face.
And as he was preparing for a healthy three-base hit
Up stepped a gent who carried an injunction in his mitt.

Oh, somewhere in this favored land the players pound the pill,
But in the park at Mudville all is silent now and still.
Oh, somewhere magnates gather half the money that is coined,
But there's no game in Mudville—mighty Casey's been enjoined.

If we were Bill Klem we'd ask an injunction restraining flippant athletes calling us "statish."

It is reported that Al McCoy, who knocked out George Chip, is slowly recovering from the shock.

Yaqutta hand it to a lad who landed a knockout, but if we were Al McCoy we wouldn't fight George Chip again.

THE RED SOX OPENER.

(To be sung in the press coop if the east wind doth blow.)
Eddie, I am growing cold.
And I suffer woe untold.
Life is fading fast away.
Send that bottle up, I pray.

Jimmy Clabby has climbed aboard a steamer and left the U. S. flat on its kush. It is said that he will settle in England, where it is fashionable to beat up policemen.

It is said that the Reds are dickering with the Cotton State League so that the athletes who are dropped will have a soft place to land.

DON'T CHEW—SMOKE.

There once was a young second baker
Whose vision grew blacker—and blacker.
With a frown on his face
He sat down on the base,
For he'd swallowed his chewing tobacker.

Connie Mack is said to be worried over his recruits.

Not being able to dedicate Joe Tinker, Charlie Ebbets is going to enjoin him. But we'll bet Charlie would rather have a dedication than an injunction.

The gent who walloped McGraw from the rear was fined fifty rubles, but he saves money thereby. Twice of the hospital bill he would have had to pay if he had tried it from the front.

Branch Rickey will not manage his team on Sundays, thereby differing from Charlie Herzog, who will not manage his team on weekdays.

Connie Mack is said to be worried over his recruits, but why should

TRY

Abbey's ALE

"Tell by the Taste"

In the Far Corners of the World

—wherever men, dauntless and determined, have ventured, "Bull" Durham in fresh, hand-made cigarettes has proved an ever-ready source of inspiration and enjoyment. "Bull" Durham smoker "roll their own" as habitually as they eat, sleep or breathe. In every crisis they seek the cheerful counsel of its fragrant smoke.

On the five continents and the seven seas you will find this world-famous, pure, mellow tobacco, that is smoked by more millions of men than all other high-grade tobaccos combined.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

(Enough for forty hand-made cigarettes in each 5-cent sack)

No other single commodity on earth has the world-wide sale and distribution of "Bull" Durham—most satisfying luxury in the world.

"Bull" Durham hand-made cigarettes have a distinctive flavor and fresh fragrance that afford complete, healthful and lasting enjoyment.

FREE An Illustrated Booklet, showing correct way to "Roll Your Own" Cigarettes, and a Book of cigarette papers, will both be mailed to you, free, on postal request. Address "Bull" Durham, Durham, N. C.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Krazy Kat

Copyright, 1914, by International News Service

A Lesson to Spiders

DON'T IT SAY, PLAIN LIKE EVERY-THINGS THAT THE 'SPIDER' INVITED A 'FLY' INTO HER PARLOR?
SURE, AND AIN'T IT A LESSON TO ALL 'FLIES' NOT TO ENTER A 'SPIDER'S PARLOR?

LISTEN 'KRAZY' THAT 'FLY' ENTERED THE SPIDER'S PARLOR, ON THE 'FLY'S' FOOT WAS A GERM WHAT GAVE THE 'SPIDER' A 'INFLUENZA.' AND THAT'S WHY I SAY IT'S A LESSON TO —
AW SHUT UP

Pa, the beautiful cloak model—See Polly in tomorrow's paper.

THE DINGEAT FAMILY

Oh, What a Blow to the Missus

LADY, OOH LADY
WELL, WHAT WOULDST?
MY GRAND-PAPAH, CHIEF JEW-ON-THE EYE-BROW, HE LIST KING OF THE HUALAPAIS. WHAT BURY THAT'S GREAT 'TREASURE' WHAT YOU HUSBUA GO AFTER WITH ESPERDITION YE-GAD!
HAVE YOU ANYTHING FURTHER TO SAY?
MY GRAND-PAPAH HE FORGET TO PUT CAMPHOR BALLS IN THAT LOST TREASURE.
OOH-H-OO
SUBU, I'M GLAD HE DID 'CAUSE I WOULD NOT WANT A LOST TREASURE AROUND THE HOUSE WHAT SMELT OF CAMPHOR BALLS.
AND SO THE MOTHS EAT IT ALL UP — OOH-H-H HOOOOOO KHLACK

JERRY ON THE JOR

His Dream Came True—for the Other Fellow

HELLO CLARE.
DIAMOND MIKE KEEP OUT
I'LL GO AWAY AND I'LL GET A MILLION BUCKS AND THEN I'LL COME BACK IN A SWELL AUTOMOBILE AND IF SHE TRIES TO CATCH MY EYE — I'LL CUT HER COLD — THEN SHE'LL BE SORRY.
CHUFF
CHUFF

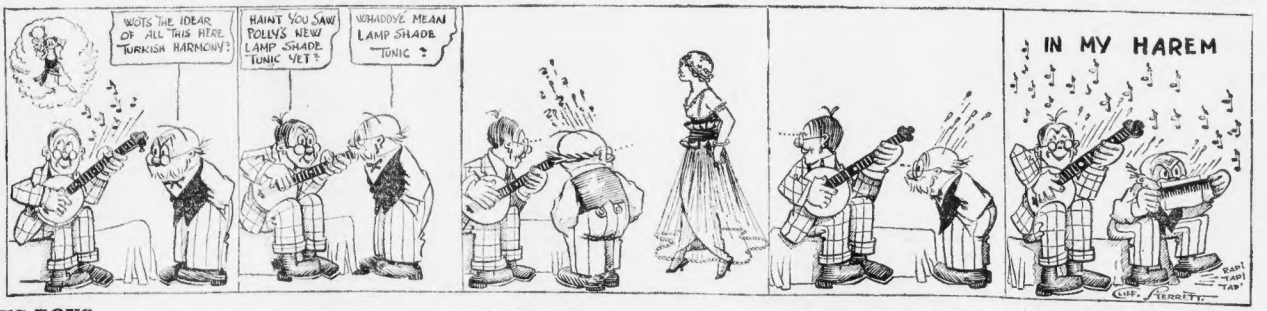
ABIE THE AGENT

In Simple Language, N-I-X, Nix

SAY, SADIE, THIS EFFERNOON IS COMING HERE A MISTER BEANE, TO LOOK OVER A 1914 "COMPLEX". HE USES HEAVY WORDS AND I DONT COMFREHEND HIM. SO YOU LISTEN BEHIND THE DOOR AND TAKE DOWN HIS TALKING IN SHORT HAND, THEN YOU WILL TRENSLATE FOR ME, HA, SADIE?
I ENTERTAIN SOME TENTATIVE IDEAS OF SUPPLEMENTING MY MOTOR EQUIPMENT WITH ONE OF YOUR SUPER-EXCELLENT 1914 "COMPLEXES." BUT THIS WOULD BE INCOMPATIBLE WITH MY ESTABLISHED CUSTOM UNLESS I WERE GRANTED THE PRIVILEGE OF SIX MONTHS EXPERIMENTING!
WHAT IS YOUR ANSWER, MR. KABIBBLE?
YES AND NO! I'LL WRITE YOU BY LETTER MY ANSWER!
WHAT DOES THE DIXONARY SAY HE SAID?
ACCORDING TO THE DICTIONARY HE SAID HE WANTS TO USE YOUR "COMPLEX" FREE FOR SIX MONTHS AND MAYBE HE WILL BUY IT — YOU CAN NEVER TELL!
TAKE DOWN WHAT I TALK, MISTER BEANE, DEAR SIR, NO: PLAINLY YOURS, ABE KABIBBLE
HERSHFIELD

POLLY AND HER PALS

The New Style Does Look Turkish



WOTS THE IDEAR OF ALL THIS HERE TURKISH HARMONY?
HAINT YOU SAW POLLY'S NEW LAMP SHADE TUNIC YET?
WHADDYE MEAN LAMP SHADE TUNIC?
IN MY HAREM
RAP! TAP! TAP!
CHIEF TERRITT

US BOYS

Skinny Is Still Ahead of Shrimp

I'LL BULL HIM ALONG AND GET HIM TO TAKE ME IN ON A RIDE IN VANS AUTO!
GOSH I WAS ONLY KIDDIN' WHEN I SAID YOU WAS CANNED! YOU BEEN FOR THE LAST COUPLA DAYS AND HOW?
BEEN RIDIN' 'ROUN' WITH VAN EUERY DAY? — I'LL GO 'LONG WITH YOU TO SEE VAN —
I AIN'T GOIN' TO-DAY- VAN WENT OFF WITH HIS FATHER! — I'M GOIN TO THE 'DELLUM-KUMTESSENT STORE NOW!
SEE AND LOOKID ALL THE TIME I WASTED!
I'LL MAKE IT EVEN!
OOH!
HAVE A PICKLE? — I HAD TWO, BUT ONES GONE!
I'LL TAKE A WALLOP AT HIM ANY HOW! — AND CAN HIM AGAIN!
NOTE — THE PICKLE IS GONE NOW
TOM McNAMARA

SHANER'S GOOGLY DEP'T

WELL KNOWN SAYINGS ILLUSTRATED BY S.S. SUGGESTED BY SAM SOKOL.

I WISH I HAD A JOB MAKING PICTURES — GOSH WHAT A SNAP!

Answer to Saturdays WHAT HAS ONLY ONE FOOT? A SOCK! FUNNY HOW WE GET AWAY WITH IT ISN'T IT? OH WELL.

Here's another FROM HELEN RATJEN, U. S. A. WHY IS A SHIP FULL OF LEAD AT THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA LIKE THE PRICE OF BEEF?

ANSWER TO-MORROW.

THE GREAT NATIONAL GAME

BY THIRD STRIKE

SKINNY SHANER IS STILL OUT OF A JOB. THE FANS ARE GETTING MORE INDIGNANT EVERY SECOND —

Every Day a Bad Luck Story Breaks Out Somewhere in a New Place

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

LOYALTY

Read It Here Now and Then See It in Motion Pictures

A Thrilling Photo-Play Serial Novel---Every Episode of This Story Can Be Seen in Stirring Moving Pictures by the Eclectic Film Company.

A Scene from "Loyalty," the Great Motion Picture Play.

CHAPTER I.

In the month of May the beckoning arms of windmills seem to invite you to wander through the tulip fields—acres and acres of tulips which have spread a carpet of the richest coloring over the flat landscape.

By the windmills and the tulips you recognize a rural scene in Holland. Add a cluster of houses beside a dyke which restrains the waters of a canal, and a bit of picture recently clothed with poplars, where sheep are grazing, tended by a boy and his sheep dog, and the scene is more closely identified. It is the little village of Wormer, with its pastoral environs.

Weepacy lies only a few miles from the great city of Amsterdam. That is one of the startling contrasts of Holland—the smugness of country in the world, where the activities and strife of the metropolis almost rub elbows with the bucolic. Yet where the two never mingle.

During all of their childhood days Gretchen Wyss and Hans Krug were as one in their sports. They knew little and cared less about the great city that was so near and yet so far. Gretchen helped her parents with the fruits and flowers and vegetables, arriving early in Weepacy market. Hans tended his father's cattle on the hillsides, leading it home to the fold at nightfall.

They met and parted a dozen times a day, and never without kisses and tender words of mutual affection and loyalty.

Even the sheep seemed to know that Hans and Gretchen were true lovers. They would look up from their grazing whenever Gretchen approached with her two-wheeled cart drawn by a gaily ornamented goat and loaded with baskets of tulips for the village flower market. They would put their noses into her hands, while the cart dog, wagging his tail smilingly, would pretend to snap at their cats. And Han's shepherd dog, too responsible and dignified to indulge in any pleasantries, would sit on his haunches, with his tongue out, seeming to say:

"This is all very well—but it's not business."

One day, when Gretchen stopped with her cartload of tulips beside the large windmill, she found that the clock were resting in the shade. Hans saw that her eyes were shining with unusual excitement. They kissed and Hans said:

"How pretty you are today, dear Gretchen. How your eyes shine. What is it that makes you so happy?"

"Oh, Hans," said Gretchen, dancing up and down in her wooden shoes, "the village is to have a flower festival. There will be prizes, and afterwards a dance."

Hans was thoughtful. "I must tend my sheep," he said. "But you will go, dear Gretchen, and you will take a prize."

"Do you think I would go anywhere without you, you silly Hans?" said Gretchen.

She smiled into his eyes, kissing him quickly—and then told her great news.

"It is all settled, sweetheart. My mother has seen your mother, and you and I are to enter the contest together. Oh, it will be glorious, Hans dear!"

Hans dropped his staff and seized Gretchen in his arms. They danced with joy in the road, their wooden shoes clattering and their yellow locks mingling in the breeze. The dogs and the sheep regarded them with approval.

Then they kissed each other tenderly, and Hans patted her back once or twice to feel.

It seems over to happen to lovers in the first bliss.

During the next few days Hans and Gretchen were seldom apart. Together they gathered 240lbs in the dark Kneiffel bed—the finest long rows of blossoms they smiled into each other's eyes and exchanged kisses above the golden bloom.

"THE EXHIBITE."

In the stable yard at the close of each day knit the chickens, the cat and the house dog in a state of acclimment over their task with hammer and nails, bits of twine and a bewildering array of blossoms, all entwined in a marvellous floral structure—a true windmill of Holland, built of vines and flowers and trellis-work set upon Gretchen's cart in a landscape of tulips.

When all was finished, the "old folks" were invited to inspect the exhibit. Hans' mother came over from her house and joined Father and Mother Krug—the parents of Gretchen. In the stable yard Gretchen had harnessed her dog to the cart. With Hans beside her in the cart, seated upon the landscape of tulips beneath the arms of the floral windmill, Gretchen swung to the dog and they made a grand flourish around the yard.

The dog barked in ecstacy, the roosters crowed and the hens cackled their applause.

"It is a prize-winner!" declared Mother Krug and Mother Schmidt in unison. And Father Krug smiled and nodded without taking his pipe from his mouth.

In the morning they were off to the village for the festival. The cart dog nearly sank beneath his unaccustomed load. But when they drew near the village he unloaded some of the load in an extra effort, making a spirited entrance amid loud applause from the admiring villagers.

"Oh, Hans," whispered Gretchen, with her eyes alight with pride, "we make the bravest show of all! How I love you, my sweet Hans."

Hans kissed her and drew her, and nobody seemed to think anything of it except a few strange men in city clothes, who laughed heartily and slapped his leg.

There were other carts, heaped with flowers arranged in various designs, but the floral windmill is the landscape of tulips outdid them all.

It was the large man in the fashionable coat and trousers who pinned the first prize ribbon on Gretchen's breast.

"I would like to kiss you, too," he said with a laugh; "but I'm afraid little Hans at your side might object."

(Continued Tomorrow.)

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"GEORGE," said the Manicure Lady, "for the life of me I can't understand what is coming over we girls. There was a time, and not long ago, either, when the average Jane and a little sense that she could use a little part of the time, but I swear to goodness I am weakening in my admiration for my sisters and myself. What do you suppose the latest fad among the women is?"

"Not them colored wigs, is it?" asked the Head Barber.

"No," replied the Manicure Lady, "it ain't them. I was speaking to you about them some time ago. No, George, the latest fad is for all of us girls to paste little lizards on our cheeks instead of beauty spots. They are making lovely imitations of small lizards now, and if you want to be a up-to-the-minute girl you are supposed to buy one of them lizards and paste it onto your lovely mug. Ain't that the limit?"

"Pretty near," said the Head Barber. "If I catch my Missus wearing one of them I am going to fall off the wagon. But there ain't no danger. My wife has got some brains."

"Here, then, George, I won't never wear none of them, either. Not but what I might have worn it a while, only I tried it the other morning, and started something up to the house. One of the other girls had give me a extra lizard for my cheek, and I came down to the breakfast table with it on. The old gent had been out with some of his old Roman chipmunks until a late hour of the night, and mother and me could see that his nerves was quakin like an aspen leaf, whatever that is. He happened to look up at my cheek and nearly dropped his coffee cup. He looked at it for nearly a minute, and when I seen his eyes begin to kind of bung out of his head I told him not to be alarmed, that it was only an imitation lizard I had pasted on my cheek. 'Unpaste it, before I count to sixty,' he said, in solemn and majestic like that I yanked it off without leaving the table, taking a little of my damask skin with it. When father says anything up home and says it fatherly like, everybody balances."

"He had a right to feel put out," declared the Head Barber. "Just imagine how a man nearly ready to have the horrors would feel to get into a street car and see one of them lizards pasted on the face of a lady sitting next to him! I believe if it was me I would jump out of the window. What in the world ever made any lady want to look like that for? If the girls have to paste something on their cheeks, why, I heard I should think a nice mosquito or a centipede could look classier."

"There ain't no accounting for tastes," said the Manicure Lady. "I used to think dancing all them new dances was foolish enough, but now that we have got to pasting reptiles on our cheeks, goodness only knows where we are going to stop. Just think how nice it would look, George, for a crowd of women with lizards on their cheeks walking up to the polls with the men and asking for a ballot!"

"When they get to voting I am going to run for mayor," said the Head Barber. "If there is any more of them kind of women, they might be foolish enough to elect me."

Snap-Shots

By LILIAN LAUFERTY

MAIDEN MEDITATIONS.

It doesn't pay to believe all you hear. But a still less paying investment is to say all you believe.

Weather seems to happen frequently in our climate and all the time.

Happiness seems to depend about equally on what we do—and on what we don't do.

If you are planning to go to the top, it is well to know one or two methods of getting there apart from taking the elevator. That has a way of getting overcrowded, and it does not always run.

If you are dancing in spicy conversation, be sure that you handle it gingerly.

* * *

Laughter is not a bad beginning for a friendship, and it is the best ending for one—Oscar Wilde.

I find FAITH not gray, but rosy.

Heaven not grim—but fair of hue.

Do I stoop? I pluck a rose.

Do I stand and stare—all's blue.

—Browning.

HELP WANTED

The Thrilling Story of a Girl Who Won Her Fight for Love Against Tremendous Odds

Based on Jacques Lully success of the same name now running in New York. Copyright, 1913, by W. W. Hodkins and Jacques Lully. Serial rights in the United States owned by International News Service.

By WEBSTER DENISON

The Wolf's Fangs

FOR nearly an hour Gertrude sat with her notes untouched. Scott's forcible demand for privacy seemed to have borne fruit. From the lack of it there was now a terrible one. To the tortured girl it seemed that she was utterly alone; alone and trapped in the habitat of the wolf.

There was a way of escape, but it led past the gravestone of buried hopes and dreams. Three times she started to follow it, but each time as she stepped toward the path for her hat and coat to flee this place of terrors the picture of a lowly tenement home with the welcoming faces of her mother and her little brothers flashed before her. It was a picture she had seen a hundred times and it was colored now by brighter hues. If she erased it she erased forever the image of a new born contrition.

If Jack had come to her then she would have told him all, but no one came, and she trampled down her childish pride and waved back her fears in two resolve. She started to work on her letters, and her diligent application to them relieved her for the moment. She was finishing the last when Scott returned. She switched the final sheet from the typewriter and then advanced to her employer's desk with the letters in her hand.

"Is this all, Mr. Scott?"

"Yes," he answered, in businesslike tone. "I'm awfully sorry, little girl, but I've got to ask you to stay awhile this evening. I've numerous two or three things to my absence that have to have immediate attention. It won't take you an very long; about an hour, I should think. Will you wait?"

"No, sir. No one."

"That's just fine. Very pleasant privacy when I'm not here." His tit of irony met instant justification, for Gertrude's head bowed in silence.

"Now, there isn't. I've got some work to do and I don't want to be disturbed. You can get your coffee and the vaults and go home."

THE LETTER

The millionaire took out his morocco-covered note book and ran through it.

"Oh, yes," he said presently, "there is something else I want you to do. Send Miss Mayer to me. Miss Wiggins was showing her the ropes the other day. Do you remember it?"

"I don't know—. Yes, you mean when you—I've got it."

"Exactly. I ran across Stuart at the club today and told him that I'd only grew more and more interested. And when it came the turn of Jinn and Gretchen, the spontaneity and picturesqueness of their performances brought him almost to his feet. He was his floor loud with praises of what he called their 'mongoose girl.'"

"What is your name, little girl?" he inquired of Gretchen.

"Gretchen Kr—, if," she answered with a smirkey.

"Well, Gretchen," he said, "when you get tired of raising tulips come to me and I will put you on the stage."

"Thank you, sir." But Gretchen was not impressed.

But the large man destined her until he had written her name upon a card, which he gave her. The printing on the card read:

Leopold Kimmel, Director
The Collegium Amsterdam.

(Continued Tomorrow.)

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

THERE is nothing quite so unfeeling as a Noble Purpose. The woman who is single and with a desire to forget self in the welfare of others involuntarily and unconsciously becomes of gigantic stature. It is as if the Noble Purpose possessed material forms, adding weight and height to her form.

For this reason, which is more than psychical, few of her friends might have recognized Daysey Mayme Appleton when she left home the other morning. She carried herself nobly, seemed to be of commanding height, and her appearance was greatly illuminated by the Noble Purpose shining from within.

She carried in one hand a small paper parcel which she regarded tenderly and proudly, as one might handle some sacred emblem of personal sacrifice, revealing by her proud solicitude that the contents of that parcel were to her the symbols of the Noble Purpose. She grew larger, taller, more commanding with every step of such potent charm is a Noble Purpose, and when at last she entered a milliner's store she had to bend her proud neck to pass through the door.

The haughty millinery forgot to be haughty before such a personage and seemed almost a human being until Daysey Mayme opened her parcel in explanation of her errand. Then she stamped the third and quickly she was drawn back into the embrace of stalwart arms. Her fearful efforts to free herself were as futile as Daisy's. As suddenly as he had grasped her he released her, and left her reeling on her feet.

"Can't you see how sure for you, Gertrude? To do anything in the world for you. Give you anything you want. Nothing, nothing, nothing, anything. Don't you care for me just a little?"

Dazed and breathless, she scarcely saw him. But through the mist of her scalding tears she saw his self-tering arm. She staggered back from them with a chair between them.

"Care for you!" she cried, shrill voice; "care for you! I hate you!"

"How's that? Hate!" He seemed dazed the word, all presence of cajolery was gone now.

"Stop!" she cried as he took a step. "Don't you dare touch me!"

She reached for a steel paper cutter and held it menacingly toward him.

"You won't run me down with your automobile!"

The wild was silence upon the dawn. Scott stepped partly around the desk and back, and as he bent stiffly forward his hand shot out and clasped her wrist, crushing it until the steel fell from her fingers and clattered to the floor.

She cried out again, and as he slowly bent her body toward the writhing of a sea in his private door. It switched the final step from the machine and then advanced to her employer's desk with the letters in her hand.

"Is this all, Mr. Scott?"

"Yes," he answered, in businesslike tone. "I'm awfully sorry, little girl, but I've got to ask you to stay awhile this evening. I've numerous two or three things to my absence that have to have immediate attention. It won't take you an very long; about an hour, I should think. Will you wait?"

"No, sir. No one."

"That's just fine. Very pleasant privacy when I'm not here." His tit of irony met instant justification, for Gertrude's head bowed in silence.

"Now, there isn't. I've got some work to do and I don't want to be disturbed. You can get your coffee and the vaults and go home."

THE LETTER

The millionaire took out his morocco-covered note book and ran through it.

"Oh, yes," he said presently, "there is something else I want you to do. Send Miss Mayer to me. Miss Wiggins was showing her the ropes the other day. Do you remember it?"

"I don't know—. Yes, you mean when you—I've got it."

"Exactly. I ran across Stuart at the club today and told him that I'd only grew more and more interested. And when it came the turn of Jinn and Gretchen, the spontaneity and picturesqueness of their performances brought him almost to his feet. He was his floor loud with praises of what he called their 'mongoose girl.'"

"What is your name, little girl?" he inquired of Gretchen.

"Gretchen Kr—, if," she answered with a smirkey.

"Well, Gretchen," he said, "when you get tired of raising tulips come to me and I will put you on the stage."

"Thank you, sir." But Gretchen was not impressed.

But the large man destined her until he had written her name upon a card, which he gave her. The printing on the card read:

Leopold Kimmel, Director
The Collegium Amsterdam.

(Continued Tomorrow.)

Elephant Hunting in India

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

A captured elephant bound with heavy cables around his hind legs makes vain but mighty efforts to escape.

THIS is the year of the "elephant drive" in the great forests of Mysore, India.

The hunting of these gigantic animals is permitted by India only in the fifth year. On the average from 200 to 250 wild elephants are captured during the battue season, and these are trained for the various purposes for which the huge beasts are employed. Everybody knows how powerful a part the elephant plays in the great public spectacles in India. Indian princes and officials sometimes own thousands of dollars' worth of these exceptionally fine and intelligent elephants. After they have been properly trained they are furnished with trappings gleaming with gold and a splendid odor. The howdah that an elephant trained for bathing carries on its backs, and in which the prince or nabob while he arrives himself just back of its head, frequently weighs over 1,000 pounds, but the huge animal regards it not any more than a boy does a riding coat.

On a good level road an elephant will march at the pace of five miles per hour, and he is capable of running, for short distances, with a speed of twenty miles an hour. In rain carry, in regular service, from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, and he would not greatly miss a ton or more.

WHAT HE CAN DO

With his enormous muscles and the very great strength of his tusks, it is not evident that his hauling and lifting powers are enormous. He can pull down a tree, the smallest trees, and pick up huge logs with his trunk and curry or throw them around like sticks, and place he is a very tractable beast when well trained, he takes more forth work of which a team of horses would be incapable. He can bridge a brook, or place huge logs of stone in a wall. He is often employed to drag artillery wagons, and one of his most interesting uses of him the elephant is to bear the howdah filled with the life of the elephant, at a height which, increased by the howdah, may be 10 feet or more. It is sometimes closed, and then the occupants are brought into play to evade and fight the enemy.

HOW THEY ARE TAMED

The latter are frequently taken into the one seen in the photograph by the use of female decoys. The natural disposition to mate is strong in the male elephant, and the presence of their already tamed companions induces them to comfortable quarters. They are then noosed, captured, and tamed.

Elephants are long-lived animals, and in their native forests they frequently capture at 60 or 70 years of age. They are then considered old, and the males seldom bull seeds are sought for breeding purposes. At present, now, the chief of African elephants are worth twice as much as those of Asia, and the males seldom bull seeds are sought for breeding purposes. At present, now, the chief of African elephants are worth twice as much as those of Asia, and the males seldom bull seeds are sought for breeding purposes.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE MAY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am in love with a girl and she is in love with me. We are both unemployed. I thought this girl was my friend, because she always seemed friendly and loyal, but when we met, but within a few days she passed me twice on the street without nodding to me, or even seeming to notice me, for I am sure she saw me. Don't you think she is a flirt?

A WOMAN'S love has so many different ways of expression that her conduct may seem to you to be with all the ardor you may desire. Believe me, it is not an unfavorable sign.

The only thing for you to do is to be kind and demand an explanation.

HE IS NOT SERIOUS

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Two years ago I made the acquaintance of a young man who used my parents gave him permission to call at the house. He visited there about two and then discontinued calling.

About that time I sometimes met him at dances and he treated me with indifference. Now he takes me out, but tells to call, and that's how he keeps on going for two years. I am very much interested in him and would like to know his opinion.

I am his best friend and would like more sayings. I love this man.

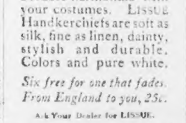
A.

If his intentions were what you hope for would take advantage of the opportunity to call at your home that he might show you better. I am afraid his friendliness means nothing more than a good friend. That doesn't seem to love you.

El Rado

Unsightly Hair Growths No Longer Necessary

El Rado, the liquid hair remover, is absolutely painless in its effect, and in positively harmless in its use. It is not a depilatory, but a hair remover, and does not injure the roots of the hair. El Rado is guaranteed to remove superfluous hair from face, neck or arms, without leaving any trace. Simply apply a little with the fingers, rub in gently, and wash off. Your hair is gone. El Rado is sold by all druggists, and one bottle is sufficient for ordinary cases. Your money back if it fails. Write for booklet telling how to remove superfluous hair. Sold by druggists everywhere. El Rado Laboratories, 42 Rue Cambon, Paris. Mfg. Chemists, 42 Rue Cambon, Paris. Mfg. Chemists, 42 Rue Cambon, Paris.



LISSUE

The Handkerchief of Vogue

THE height of style—their brightly colored borders harmonize with your costumes. Lissue Handkerchiefs are soft as silk, fine as linen, dainty, stylish and durable. Colors and pure white.

Six free for one that fades. From England to you, 25c.

Ask Your Dealer for LISSUE.

The Tootal Broadhurst Lee Co., Ltd.
367 Fourth Avenue New York City

ASTHMA CATARRH

WHOOPING COUGH SPASMODIC CROUP COLDS

Vapo-Cresolene

CATARRHAL CROUP

A simple safe and effective treatment for Asthma, Hay Fever, Whooping Cough, Spasmodic Croup, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Influenza, Grippe, Tonsilitis, Coughs following Measles, and for the prevention of contagious diseases. Vapo-Cresolene is a boon to sufferers from Asthma, as it relieves the terrible paroxysms almost instantly. For Whooping Cough it is a specific, relieving the disease of all its dangers and distressing symptoms. Sold by druggists everywhere. Send for booklet.

ALL DRUGGISTS.

VAPO CRESOLENE CO
62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

HOW RESINOL CLEARS AWAY UGLY PIMPLES

It is so easy to get rid of pimples, blackheads with Resinol soap and ointment. Just bathe your face in this pure, soothing Resinol soap lather, and then apply a little Resinol ointment very gently. Let this stay on for a few minutes, and then rinse off with more Resinol soap and warm water. Do this regularly, and see how quickly the pimples disappear, and how clear and soft your skin becomes. Resinol soap and ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial size cake of soap and sample of ointment, write to Dept. 2-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

FORBES THINKS LIVING COST IS TO COME DOWN

By B. C. FORBES, Business Editor.

I believe the cost of living is to come down. I believe, also, that unless Washington acts wantonly, good securities ill shortly begin to improve in price. My reasons for drawing these conclusions are set forth at length in an article in the current issue of Hearst's Magazine. Here are extracts.

* * *

The world has been indulging in an orgy of expenditure and extravagance. This orgy forced up the price of our food, our clothing, our housing. We have found it harder to make ends meet. But some measure of relief is in sight.

* * *

The world-wide scramble for borrowed capital at constantly rising interest rates will, we believe, shortly. Indeed, the upward movement already appears to have ceased.

* * *

Prices for the necessaries of life also give promise of coming down, to least a little.

* * *

Happily, wages, once up, rarely decline again.

* * *

If the market value of money should recede materially, soon would be directly affected. Anything the income obtainable on high-grade investments would be relatively as high as it is today. Then, savings banks would not be able to maintain the interest rates they now pay on your deposits.

* * *

If our reading of the financial horoscope be correct, the time to buy securities is before the downward movement in the purchasing power of money becomes generally recognized or very pronounced.

* * *

It is our firm belief that the best grades of investments, both bonds and stocks, are to be purchased now on an inflationary basis as are likely to be available for a long time to come.

* * *

On what grounds are the forecasts of cheaper capital based?

* * *

Also, why should the cost of living stop going up?

Well, the upward movement in money had about reached impossible lengths. The inflationary point was dangerously near. Consequently, even the most powerful bankers' combine collapsed, for the sake of sustaining their credit, or a reasonable basis, to call a halt to bidding up the tribute levied by lenders.

* * *

The abnormal scarcity of funds offered for investment was brought about mainly by the unprecedentedly frightful costly wars in Cuba, in Morocco, in Mexico, not to mention the Balkan States, by the fear that a general European war would be precipitated, by unusually heavy home expenditures and tax assessments on capital as well as income for immediate national defense, by the leading several powers by borrowing for various governmental purposes, by wholesale hoarding of gold by Europeans and restricted lending thereby, by unprecedented absorption of gold by India, by aggressive industrial and mercantile expansion in undeveloped countries by government expenditures for unproductive purposes by municipalities in many parts of the world, by unusual trade extravagance on a scale never before known, and by a mania for amusements.

* * *

Most of those conditions have changed.

* * *

Moreover, trade has slackened throughout the world, thus releasing the tendency now to vast amount of capital.

* * *

Then immeasurable assistance in stopping money rates down to moderate levels is counted upon from our new Federal Reserve System.

* * *

The United States Treasury now contains $1,800,000,000 gold; the Bank of England has only a little over $500,000,000; the Imperial Bank of Germany $225,000,000 and the Bank of France $715,000,000.

* * *

Under our new system many millions of gold now locked up will be promptly available for banking and commercial purposes. This should insure extraordinary increase in credit supplies and consequently comfortable interest rates.

* * *

Now that the stream of new gold is narrowing instead of broadening, the tendency should be to check the upward movement in prices of everything.

* * *

To aid in bringing down the cost of living, other new and powerful agencies are now at work, especially in this country.

* * *

The federal government, state governments, municipal authorities, organized labor and private citizens are all lending their energies toward opposing the farmer's efforts for increasing his product terms to provide him to revolutionize and extend the tillage methods of the past. Business and better stock, toward bringing him and his products into more direct touch with profitable markets, toward co-operative selling and buying, and toward the elimination of unnecessary commissions to middlemen by means of proper markets and distributing arrangements in towns and cities.

* * *

The new tariff, also, should bring some degree of relief once it has had time to be operative by reason of domestic and international conditions.

* * *

Let no sane person, however, imagine for one moment that the government can lower prices or help the public in any way by trying to sweep back economic laws as irresistible as the onrush of the tariff in its circuit round the sun. To persist in trying to split up business organizations into pleasure units is worse than futile. The situation demands, not senseless, farcical "cure solutions" that do not dissolve, but intelligent effective regulation for the protection of the public.

* * *

Little would then be heard or lack of employment or of business de-

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks moved wider, the selling movement being restricted in the last hour. Among sellings in fairly were United Fruit 3, American Telephone 4, Butte & Superior 5, Crucible 2½ and North Butte 3½. New Haven rose 1½ and Boston & Maine was unchanged.

Steel closed at 58¾ in New York, the lowest for the day and off 1⅜ from Saturday's final price. Among other declines were Southern Pacific 3, Missouri Pacific 2½, Reading ¾, Lehigh Valley ¾, Pennsylvania ¾, Northern Pacific ½, Baltimore & Ohio ½ and Union Pacific ½. Quaker Pacific was up ⅝, General Motors 2¾ and Studebaker 1½.

BEARS ACTIVE AT START.

New York and Boston markets were quiet at the start—the local one particularly so. In New York the early feature was the aggressiveness of bears. This was supposed to learn through applying pressure just how much support the market had. As it was reported that there were many ring orders upon Steel at 60, and as Steel had been pounded for weeks to get that issue below that figure, they made it their subject of attack. Two things favored the bears were the corporation's unfavorable report as to unfilled tonnage at the end of March and the universal expectation that its earnings for the first quarter of 1914 would be a poor showing. It is believed that steel mills are at present operating at an average not above 50 per cent. of capacity and that unless there is more buying some of them either will have to reduce wages or close down.

STEEL BELOW 60.

Steel common declined below 60 touching 59¾ in the first hour, but it did not slump. It got unexpected support and observers thought part of it came from Morgan interests. Anyhow it rallied and during the morning rose to 60⅜. One broker said: "There was evidence of heavy covering of shorts during the first half hour, advantage being taken of the recession in Steel to facilitate buying elsewhere in the list."

The rally in that issue caused a general but temporary advance, although Southern Pacific rose a point from its low of the morning. Steel was the favorite for the bear drive. After the flurry bears were of the opinion that the hour for forcing selling had not arrived. That should developed more latent strength than had been expected.

MARKET GREW DULL.

Early transactions in Steel were of considerable size and first hour business in New York totalled more than 200,000 shares, but the last half of the morning and at noon-time trading was sluggish. The early weakness, according to one report, was not wholly due to pressure, but partly due to expected for by lack of any demand for stocks. Sentiment was despondent. There was no support to speak of. One dull flurry bears were of the opinion that the hour for forcing selling had not arrived. That should developed more latent strength than had been expected.

A RATE CASE RUMOR.

It is thought in many circles that if granting an increase in freight rates to Eastern railroads is going to be a much more difficult matter than one should not be long delayed. Few expect one before late in May. One report was to the effect the decision had been rendered this morning.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is reported to have prepared a statement to be issued shortly which will doubtless throw much light upon the rate increase question. The statement is expected will make it very plain to the railroads that it intends to see that the roads that are needing increased revenue will effectively receive their use. If the charge that many of the roads waste their revenues by the payment of excessive salaries and overpayments for supplies is borne out, it is apt to prove a serious handicap to the roads in getting the advance they ask.

TO DISCUSS TRUST LAWS.

It is understood that since the administration has adjourned for trade depression and its possible effect at Fall elections, is disposed to delay drastic legislation affecting the "big" business of the country. This evening there will be a conference at the White House between President Wilson, Representative Clayton, Carlin and Floyd of the House Judiciary Committee, when the bond issue, Senator Newlands' railroad bill and other legislation will be discussed. President Wilson told callers today that he would insist upon trust legislation at this session, for he is determined to keep faith with the people." Republicans say the administration is going to be unable to realize that if the legislation it wants is to be passed at all it must be done this Summer, as there may be a Republican majority in the next Congress.

WHY CAN, PACIFIC WAS FIRM.

One thing which tended to retard speculation during the morning was its possibility that the United States Supreme Court might transfer some decision with market bearing. But it did not. In regard to it, the Wall Street Journal has stated that publication of quotations appeared to indicate that the court would hand down one of its decisions today, but that the decision of record tomorrow is awaited with interest.

The afternoon stocks were quiet everywhere and many issues in New York for a while, but they became heavy in the last hour. Steel receded below 60 and many other issues fell when under the greatest pressure of the session. Reports of bank clearings on near the close were most leaders, including Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis contributed to the belief that totals would fall previous sale, on February 28, and the lowest since 1909.

Bank clearings were irregular all day. The Boston bank statement showed surplus reserve increased $635,426 for the week. The gain was $1,556,425 in New York.

BOSTON STOCKS.

(Insactive stocks not quoted.)

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Last.
Boston & Maine	47	47	47
N. Y., N. H. & H.	67¼	66½	66⅞

MINING STOCKS.

Arcadian	9⅝	4⅜	4⅝
Aria. Com.	4½	4⅜	4⅜
Cal. & Ariz.	67½	67½	67½
Cal. & Hecla	475	475	475
Copper Range	57⅜	57⅛	57⅜
Franklin	9	8⅞	8⅞
Granby	37	36¾	36¾
Greene-Can.	37	37	37
Nevada Con.	24⅝	23⅝	24⅛
Nevada Con.	15	15	15
North Butte	27¾	27	27
Old Colony	4¼	4¼	4¼
Old Dominion	58	58	58
Osceola	78	77	78
Quincy	81	81	81
St. Mary's Land	26⅝	26⅛	26⅞
Shannon	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞
Superior	23⅝	23⅛	23¾
Tamarack	31½	31	31
Utah Con.	10⅝	10⅜	10⅝
Utah Copper	50¾	50	50⅞

TELEPHONES.

American	120⅝	120½	120⅝

ELECTRIC COMPANIES.

Edison Electric	255½	255	255
Mass. Electric	11¾	11¼	11¾

MISCELLANEOUS.

American Sugar	100	99⅝	100
Am. Sugar pf.	111¾	110⅝	111¾
Am. Woolen	25⅝	25⅜	25⅝
United Fruit	162⅝	162	162⅝
United St. Mach.	66½	65¾	66½
United St. Mach. pf.	28⅝	28⅜	28⅝

UNLISTED SECURITIES.

Alaska Gold	24⅝	23⅞	24⅛
Amalgamated	75⅝	75	75
Am. Woolen pf.	76	75	76
Butte & Sup.	34⅛	33⅝	34
Chino	41	41	41
East Butte	11	11	11
Indiana	4⅛	4	4
Island Creek	49	48⅝	48⅞
Kerr Lake	4⅝	4½	4½
Keweenaw	3⅝	3⅝	3⅝
Nipissing	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝
North Lake	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
Pond Creek	18	18	18
Ray Con.	22⅝	22⅜	22⅝
Sup. Boston	2	2	2
U. S. Sm.	38¼	37⅞	37⅞
U. S. Sm. pf.	47¾	47½	47½

EASTERN HOUSE
5-57 HANOVER ST.
German Restaurant for Ladies and Gentlemen. Special Dinner, 11 to 2, 25c. Finished Hot Chicken, French Fried Potatoes, etc.

We Have Only One Season
Let us help you to get the most out of it by having the best of everything at right prices. Our Spring Suits are now ready from $20 to $35. Come in and look around.
CRAWFORD HOUSE,
SCOLLAY SQUARE and BRATTLE STREET.

CAFE DE LA BOURSE
FRENCH RESTAURANT
Known for Its Special Dishes
CHOICE WINES AND LIQUORS
BROAD ST., COR. STATE ST.

TIVOLI CAFE,
ITALIAN and French restaurant; strictly first class in every respect. 520-526 Washington St., facing Mason. Telephone Oxford 2300. Lunch and Dinner. Music from 12 to 2 p. m. From 5 p. m. to 11 p. m.

EDWARD P. CLARK,
253-255 Causeway and 227 Haverhill St.

PROVINCE HOUSE,
PROVINCE ST., Near City Hall.
This evening there will be a concert on the 9 o'clock order of business.
HOTEL BLENHEIM
18 Bosworth St., Off Tremont, near Park St.
Ivy Men and Women.
FIRST-CLASS CAFE AND GRILL ROOM. NEWLY REMODELED. ALL NEW FURNISHINGS.

FANEUIL HALL CAFE,
QUALITY RESTAURANT OF HIGH GRADE. Music and Specialties. Italian Restaurant.

TED'S CAFE
39-41 FANEUIL HALL SQ.
Table d'hote and ordering. Steaks, chops, lobster a specialty.

Hotel Plaza Rathskeller,
COLUMBUS AVENUE. The place to hear good music and get good food. Special Sunday night supper.

Miller's German Restaurant,
405 WASHINGTON ST., Opposite Milk St.
Central location. Music. Dining at close. Cooking. Service. Surroundings. 50c

RATHS DANDROW'S Hotel, Cafe, Grill
MASS. AVE., COR. BOYLSTON ST.
SPECIALS DAILY ... 25c
SCOTCH CAFE
SPECIAL DINNER 50c to 75c
Order Dining a specialty. Music Evenings.
SAT. EVE. AND SUN. DINNER.
Reservations for dinner 250.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Island Creek Coal Company
COMMON STOCK — DIVIDEND
The directors of the Island Creek Coal Company have declared a quarterly dividend of one per cent upon the common capital stock of this Company, payable May 1, 1914, to the registered stockholders of record at the close of business April 25, 1914.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(Inactive stocks not quoted.)

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Last.
A., T. & S. F.	90⅝	89⅝	90⅛
Balt. & Ohio	93⅝	88	88⅝
Canadian Pac.	183½	182⅝	183½
Ches. & Ohio	58½	57⅞	58⅛
C. M. & St. P.	100½	99⅝	99⅞
Erie	29⅝	28⅝	28⅝
Illinois Central	110½	110½	110½
Lehigh Valley	144¼	143⅝	144¼
Louis. & Nash.	136	135	135⅝
Mo. Pac.	12¾	12⅜	12⅜
N. Y. C.	97½	96½	96⅝
N. Y., N. H. & H.	67¾	66¾	66⅞
Northern Pac.	112	111⅜	111⅝
Pennsylvania	116⅝	116	116
Reading	167⅞	165¾	165¾
Rock Island	25⅜	25	25⅛
Rock Island pf.	40⅝	40	40⅛
Southern Pac.	97¾	97¾	97¾
Union Pac.	158⅝	157⅝	157⅝

INDUSTRIALS & MISCELLANEOUS

Amal. Copper	75⅝	75	75
Am. Can	30⅝	30	30
Amer. Sm. & R.	68⅝	68¼	68¼
Amer. Sug. Ref.	116	115½	115½
Amer. Tel.	120⅜	120⅜	120⅜
Anaconda Cop.	24⅜	24¼	24⅜
Chino Copper	41⅝	41⅛	41⅜
Gen. Electric	145⅝	145⅛	145⅞
U. S. Rubber	59⅝	59¼	59⅜
Utah Copper	55⅝	55¼	55⅜
Gen. Motors	82⅜	79¾	81⅝
Studebaker	45⅝	44⅝	45⅛
Kennecott	37	36¾	36¾
Kennecott pf.	90	90	90
Texas Oil	131	128	128½

BOSTON CURB MARKET.

Range of prices from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

	High.	Low.	Last.
Bay State Gas	10⅜	10⅛	10⅛
Bonanza & Leadville	4c	4c	4c
B. Ely	2c	2c	2c
Cactus	11 1-16	11 1-16	11 1-16
Calumet	75 50	75	75 50

Girls As Roosters At Wellesley's "Hen House" Fete

The opening exercises in honor of "The Shack," or "Hen House," Wellesley's new recreation building, were held today. Before 9 o'clock in the morning merry groups collected about the monastery structure. The excitement mounted fast as the eight selected cages being hidden about the campus.

As the circuits congregated they were confronted by fourteen girls from Freshman Hall, dressed as roosters. Four other girls were dressed to represent the four months statues in the old College Hall, Diana, Harriet, Martineau, Niobe and Psyche-minis.

After the exercises at the "Hen House" the students went to College Hall hill to engage in an egg rolling contest. Miss Charlotte Conover represented Chanticleer.

PORT OF BOSTON

DUE TODAY.

Steamer, From
Sachem, Fall River
Bunker Hill, Baltimore
Tiora, Fall River
Nantucket, Nantucket
Governor Dingley, Rockland
Governor, Portland
Governor, Portland

DUE TUESDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE WEDNESDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE THURSDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE FRIDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE SUNDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE MONDAY.

Governor, Portland

DUE TUESDAY.

Governor, Portland

BLACKSTONE SAVINGS BANK
28 WASHINGTON STREET
Deposits received now go on interest Apr. 13
ALL RECENT DIVIDENDS HAVE BEEN AT THE RATE OF 4%

Circulation Facts For Advertisers

THE SUNDAY AMERICAN
THE SUNDAY GLOBE

Circulations Compared

The Sunday AMERICAN'S AVERAGE NET PAID CIRCULATION for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 352,937
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Sunday Globe's AVERAGE NET PAID CIRCULATION for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 276,010
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Sunday AMERICAN'S NET PAID CIRCULATION for six months ending September, 1913 ..... 339,102
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Sunday AMERICAN'S average NET PAID INCREASE PER SUNDAY for six months ending March, 1914, over six months ending September, 1913 ..... 13,835
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Sunday Globe's OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION to U. S. Government for six months ending September, 1913 ..... 311,747

The Sunday's Globe's DECREASE IN SUNDAY CIRCULATION for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 35,737
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The AMERICAN emphasizes the fact that the figures here given for 1913 were published by the Globe itself and also furnished to the United States Government as the Globe's OFFICIAL REPORT.

The Sunday AMERICAN'S ACTUAL NET PAID AVERAGE circulation EVERY SUNDAY OVER the Sunday Globe ... 76,927

During the six months ending March, 1914, the Sunday AMERICAN INCREASED its NET PAID average Sunday circulation 13,835

For the same period, the Sunday Globe shows A LOSS in SUNDAY CIRCULATION of 35,737

The Morning and Evening Globe's COMBINED NET PAID DAILY CIRCULATION for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 156,711
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Evening AMERICAN'S average NET PAID DAILY CIRCULATION for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 371,911
Sworn Report to U. S. Government.

The Evening AMERICAN'S average NET PAID CIRCULATION PER DAY OVER THE COMBINED EDITIONS of the Morning and Evening Globe for six months 215,200

The Evening AMERICAN'S average NET PAID GAIN per day for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 6,712

The Morning and Evening Globe's claimed circulation in official report made to the Government and published in the Globe for six months ending September, 1913 ..... 176,414

The Morning and Evening Globe's LOSS of CIRCULATION PER DAY for six months ending March, 1914 ..... 19,703

SUNDAY AMERICAN GOING UP!

The Sunday American's NET PAID GAIN per Sunday 13,835

SUNDAY GLOBE GOING DOWN!

The Sunday Globe's average LOSS EACH Sunday 35,737

THE SUNDAY AMERICAN
Monarch of All the New England Sunday Newspapers

Steamships.

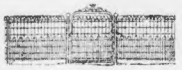
TO NEW YORK $2.50
Via Fall River Line Boat, Today and Sunday. THE ONLY UNDERCOVER LINE OF STEAMERS BETWEEN BOSTON AND NEW YORK.
C. M. & St. P. Ry. 322 Wash. St.
COLONIAL LINE Phone F. H. 2788

ALLAN LINE
SCANDINAVIAN APRIL 14 From Boston PORTLAND
One Class Cabin $47.50, 2d Class $31.25
HESPERIAN, APRIL 21 BOSTON
Saloon $70, Second Cabin $47.50, Third Class $31.25
H. & A. ALLAN, 50 State St., Boston.

BAY STATE LINE NEW YORK $2.40
Luxury at Ocean Steamboats Rate
Daily including Sunday. Improved Service. Modern Ships.
Pier 9, Atlantic Ave., Boston.

Tours, Travel and Transportation
THOMAS J. FLYNN & CO.
62 and 64 Essex St., Boston, 23 City Square, Charlestown
Passenger and Freight Office for all rail and steamship lines.

Real Estate—Miscellaneous.



WIRE FENCE (ERECTED) 57c Rod
Iron, Wire and Farm Fence at Mill Prices
SEND FOR CATALOGUE G.
Old Colony Foundry & Fence Co.
SHOW ROOMS, 41 WEST ST., BOSTON
Tel. 1470 Main. 4 Blks. from R. R. Sta.

WALL PAPER
WALL & BRACKETT, 64 Canal St.
Tel. Hay. 1800.

Paint $1 GAL.—Standard grade, guaranteed 5 years. PAINT HEADQUARTERS. 52 Friend St.

12 New Seashore Cottages
JUST completed for sale on easy terms at Revere Beach, Point of Pines, Beachmont and Winthrop. Prices $600 to $1,000. $1,200, $1,500 and $2,000. Take Revere Beach car to Point of Pines. Inquire of W. A. DUNBAR, Beachmont.

WORCESTER, MASS.
TO SETTLE ESTATE—4 rooms for sale, 10 per cent. down, 5 good rents $5 and $6 per week. Also 6 rooms, all modern conveniences, $2,500. Apply to F. L. PILLSBURY, 311 Main st.

COSY COTTAGE.
WITH new gas garden land, corner of Pearl & Dudley sts., Somerville; convenient to steam cars and electric cars; 6 rooms, bath, set tubs, hot water heat; 2 fireplaces; $2,500. Apply to owner, 6 Dudley st., Somerville.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
BEACH—Nice house farm of high elevation on Lake Winnipesaukee, 2 miles from Weirs; 10 rooms, bath, hot water heat, set tubs, gas range, etc.; 2 acres of land; 1,200 ft. of shore front; fine boating, bathing and fishing; $4,000. Apply to owner, 6 Dudley st., Somerville.

WELLESLEY—Line to home, convenient to electric cars and boats; 8 rooms, bath, set tubs, hot water heat

Apartments—Back Bay.

Fur. or Unfur. Apts.

ONE TO SIX rooms with kitchenette and bath; rent $15 to $50; steam heat, hot water, janitor service, electric elevator; references required. Apply at 30 Huntington av., 2d floor, 9 to 5.

APARTMENTS 2 to 6 rooms; kitchenettes or complete housekeeping; steam heat; hot water; janitor service; electric elevator; references required. Apply at 8 KIRSTEIN, 30 Huntington av., 2d floor, 9 to 5.

BACK BAY—Furnished, unfurnished connecting rooms; also single rooms; steam heat; hot water; janitor service; electric elevator. 30 Huntington av., 2d floor, 9 to 5. Tenants 2027-31.

BACK BAY—Attractive sunny bay; bath with shower; kitchenette; rent $20 month. ARTHUR T. HILLS, 24 Milk st., Room 1041.

PARTY has sublease in famous, well kept, moderate price, 12-room boarding house. 253 Mass. av.

BACK BAY—2-3 floor of 2 rooms; bath; $16 to 18. 1 floor of 3 rooms; bath; $20. 3 floor of 3 rooms; bath; $18. 2 floor of 4 rooms; bath; $22. 3 floor of 4 rooms; bath; $20. 2 floor of 5 rooms; bath; $25. 3 floor of 5 rooms; bath; $23. 2 floor of 6 rooms; bath; $30. 3 floor of 6 rooms; bath; $28. 2 floor of 7 rooms; bath; $35. 3 floor of 7 rooms; bath; $32. 2 floor of 8 rooms; bath; $40. 3 floor of 8 rooms; bath; $38. 2 floor of 9 rooms; bath; $45. 3 floor of 9 rooms; bath; $42. 2 floor of 10 rooms; bath; $50. 3 floor of 10 rooms; bath; $48. 2 floor of 11 rooms; bath; $55. 3 floor of 11 rooms; bath; $52. 2 floor of 12 rooms; bath; $60. 3 floor of 12 rooms; bath; $58. 2 floor of 13 rooms; bath; $65. 3 floor of 13 rooms; bath; $62. 2 floor of 14 rooms; bath; $70. 3 floor of 14 rooms; bath; $68. 2 floor of 15 rooms; bath; $75. 3 floor of 15 rooms; bath; $72. 2 floor of 16 rooms; bath; $80. 3 floor of 16 rooms; bath; $78. 2 floor of 17 rooms; bath; $85. 3 floor of 17 rooms; bath; $82. 2 floor of 18 rooms; bath; $90. 3 floor of 18 rooms; bath; $88. 2 floor of 19 rooms; bath; $95. 3 floor of 19 rooms; bath; $92. 2 floor of 20 rooms; bath; $100. 3 floor of 20 rooms; bath; $98. 2 floor of 21 rooms; bath; $105. 3 floor of 21 rooms; bath; $102. 2 floor of 22 rooms; bath; $110. 3 floor of 22 rooms; bath; $108. 2 floor of 23 rooms; bath; $115. 3 floor of 23 rooms; bath; $112. 2 floor of 24 rooms; bath; $120. 3 floor of 24 rooms; bath; $118. 2 floor of 25 rooms; bath; $125. 3 floor of 25 rooms; bath; $122. 2 floor of 26 rooms; bath; $130. 3 floor of 26 rooms; bath; $128. 2 floor of 27 rooms; bath; $135. 3 floor of 27 rooms; bath; $132. 2 floor of 28 rooms; bath; $140. 3 floor of 28 rooms; bath; $138. 2 floor of 29 rooms; bath; $145. 3 floor of 29 rooms; bath; $142. 2 floor of 30 rooms; bath; $150. 3 floor of 30 rooms; bath; $148. 2 floor of 31 rooms; bath; $155. 3 floor of 31 rooms; bath; $152. 2 floor of 32 rooms; bath; $160. 3 floor of 32 rooms; bath; $158. 2 floor of 33 rooms; bath; $165. 3 floor of 33 rooms; bath; $162. 2 floor of 34 rooms; bath; $170. 3 floor of 34 rooms; bath; $168. 2 floor of 35 rooms; bath; $175. 3 floor of 35 rooms; bath; $172. 2 floor of 36 rooms; bath; $180. 3 floor of 36 rooms; bath; $178. 2 floor of 37 rooms; bath; $185. 3 floor of 37 rooms; bath; $182. 2 floor of 38 rooms; bath; $190. 3 floor of 38 rooms; bath; $188. 2 floor of 39 rooms; bath; $195. 3 floor of 39 rooms; bath; $192. 2 floor of 40 rooms; bath; $200. 3 floor of 40 rooms; bath; $198. 2 floor of 41 rooms; bath; $205. 3 floor of 41 rooms; bath; $202. 2 floor of 42 rooms; bath; $210. 3 floor of 42 rooms; bath; $208. 2 floor of 43 rooms; bath; $215. 3 floor of 43 rooms; bath; $212. 2 floor of 44 rooms; bath; $220. 3 floor of 44 rooms; bath; $218. 2 floor of 45 rooms; bath; $225. 3 floor of 45 rooms; bath; $222. 2 floor of 46 rooms; bath; $230. 3 floor of 46 rooms; bath; $228. 2 floor of 47 rooms; bath; $235. 3 floor of 47 rooms; bath; $232. 2 floor of 48 rooms; bath; $240. 3 floor of 48 rooms; bath; $238. 2 floor of 49 rooms; bath; $245. 3 floor of 49 rooms; bath; $242. 2 floor of 50 rooms; bath; $250. 3 floor of 50 rooms; bath; $248. 2 floor of 51 rooms; bath; $255. 3 floor of 51 rooms; bath; $252. 2 floor of 52 rooms; bath; $260. 3 floor of 52 rooms; bath; $258. 2 floor of 53 rooms; bath; $265. 3 floor of 53 rooms; bath; $262. 2 floor of 54 rooms; bath; $270. 3 floor of 54 rooms; bath; $268. 2 floor of 55 rooms; bath; $275. 3 floor of 55 rooms; bath; $272. 2 floor of 56 rooms; bath; $280. 3 floor of 56 rooms; bath; $278. 2 floor of 57 rooms; bath; $285. 3 floor of 57 rooms; bath; $282. 2 floor of 58 rooms; bath; $290. 3 floor of 58 rooms; bath; $288. 2 floor of 59 rooms; bath; $295. 3 floor of 59 rooms; bath; $292. 2 floor of 60 rooms; bath; $300. 3 floor of 60 rooms; bath; $298. 2 floor of 61 rooms; bath; $305. 3 floor of 61 rooms; bath; $302. 2 floor of 62 rooms; bath; $310. 3 floor of 62 rooms; bath; $308. 2 floor of 63 rooms; bath; $315. 3 floor of 63 rooms; bath; $312. 2 floor of 64 rooms; bath; $320. 3 floor of 64 rooms; bath; $318. 2 floor of 65 rooms; bath; $325. 3 floor of 65 rooms; bath; $322. 2 floor of 66 rooms; bath; $330. 3 floor of 66 rooms; bath; $328. 2 floor of 67 rooms; bath; $335. 3 floor of 67 rooms; bath; $332. 2 floor of 68 rooms; bath; $340. 3 floor of 68 rooms; bath; $338. 2 floor of 69 rooms; bath; $345. 3 floor of 69 rooms; bath; $342. 2 floor of 70 rooms; bath; $350. 3 floor of 70 rooms; bath; $348. 2 floor of 71 rooms; bath; $355. 3 floor of 71 rooms; bath; $352. 2 floor of 72 rooms; bath; $360. 3 floor of 72 rooms; bath; $358. 2 floor of 73 rooms; bath; $365. 3 floor of 73 rooms; bath; $362. 2 floor of 74 rooms; bath; $370. 3 floor of 74 rooms; bath; $368. 2 floor of 75 rooms; bath; $375. 3 floor of 75 rooms; bath; $372. 2 floor of 76 rooms; bath; $380. 3 floor of 76 rooms; bath; $378. 2 floor of 77 rooms; bath; $385. 3 floor of 77 rooms; bath; $382. 2 floor of 78 rooms; bath; $390. 3 floor of 78 rooms; bath; $388. 2 floor of 79 rooms; bath; $395. 3 floor of 79 rooms; bath; $392. 2 floor of 80 rooms; bath; $400. 3 floor of 80 rooms; bath; $398. 2 floor of 81 rooms; bath; $405. 3 floor of 81 rooms; bath; $402. 2 floor of 82 rooms; bath; $410. 3 floor of 82 rooms; bath; $408. 2 floor of 83 rooms; bath; $415. 3 floor of 83 rooms; bath; $412. 2 floor of 84 rooms; bath; $420. 3 floor of 84 rooms; bath; $418. 2 floor of 85 rooms; bath; $425. 3 floor of 85 rooms; bath; $422. 2 floor of 86 rooms; bath; $430. 3 floor of 86 rooms; bath; $428. 2 floor of 87 rooms; bath; $435. 3 floor of 87 rooms; bath; $432. 2 floor of 88 rooms; bath; $440. 3 floor of 88 rooms; bath; $438. 2 floor of 89 rooms; bath; $445. 3 floor of 89 rooms; bath; $442. 2 floor of 90 rooms; bath; $450. 3 floor of 90 rooms; bath; $448. 2 floor of 91 rooms; bath; $455. 3 floor of 91 rooms; bath; $452. 2 floor of 92 rooms; bath; $460. 3 floor of 92 rooms; bath; $458. 2 floor of 93 rooms; bath; $465. 3 floor of 93 rooms; bath; $462. 2 floor of 94 rooms; bath; $470. 3 floor of 94 rooms; bath; $468. 2 floor of 95 rooms; bath; $475. 3 floor of 95 rooms; bath; $472. 2 floor of 96 rooms; bath; $480. 3 floor of 96 rooms; bath; $478. 2 floor of 97 rooms; bath; $485. 3 floor of 97 rooms; bath; $482. 2 floor of 98 rooms; bath; $490. 3 floor of 98 rooms; bath; $488. 2 floor of 99 rooms; bath; $495. 3 floor of 99 rooms; bath; $492. 2 floor of 100 rooms; bath; $500. 3 floor of 100 rooms; bath; $498.

Apartments—Beacon Hill.

MYRTLE ST., 79—6 large rooms; bath; sun parlor; modern conveniences; steam heater; $30.

Apartments—Everett.

EVERETT—LOW RENT—Desirable 5-room flat; new; modern; private; all steam; Americus Apts.

EVERETT—5 rooms; all modern; $20. Apply 2 Lincoln st., Everett.

Apartments—Greenwood.

APARTMENTS—Greenwood, Wakefield; 4 rooms; bath; $16.50. 5 rooms; bath; $19.50. Warranty, R. I. MORTON & SON, Wakefield. Tel. 0200.

Apartments—Medford.

NEW, best appointed apartments; Perfection heat, hot water; 4 rooms, $27; 5 rooms, $30. 1 minute to Lawton road. Medford. Walk-down or elevator. Fellows.

Apartments—Revere Beach.

TWO house flats, all improvements. Apply CHARLES HOLDEN, 647 Revere st., Revere Beach.

Apartments—Roslindale.

ROSLINDALE—128 Seaverns av., 1st suite, newly renovated; rent $20.

Apartments—Roxbury.

AGENT'S WONDERFUL LISTS.
Board suites, 4, 5, 6, 7 rooms—$25 to $50 mo.
Flats, 4, 5, 6, 7 rooms—$20 to $40 mo.
HOUSES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Don't overlook this list. Dept. H, 6 Beacon st. Room 1500. Warren Bldg. Tenants 2 to 5 p. m.

TO LET—5 and 6 room flats with steam heat, hot water, janitor service, electric elevator; rent $30 and $35. ABBOTT, 11 Pemberton sq., Room 1.

ONE-FAMILY modern house at 10 Hilton st., Roxbury; 6 rooms and bath; $20.00. Take cars from Dudley street terminal, rent 300 feet. Inquire of owner, 10 Hilton st., Roxbury, or phone 3470-J Roxbury.

DUDLEY ST.—5 comfortable sunny rooms, bath; rent $18. Inquire 2 Dudley st., Roxbury.

FOR SALE—Modern 4th floor 6% a month. Harold st., Rox.

Apartments—Somerville.

To Let, W. Somerville

Large List of Apartments

WE CAN give you apartments or positively no fee to pay. Don't pay for what you can get free. TUCKER CO., 1002 Washington st., Somerville. 5 rooms, $20; 6 rooms, $22; 7 rooms, $25; 8 rooms, $26; 9 rooms, $32 up. Steam heat, hot water, janitor service, elevator. DARER & KENNEDY, 208 Tremont st. Tel. 1000 Beach.

TO LET—Modern flats, 5 rooms and bath; $18 to $22. 6 rooms and bath; $20 to $25. Steam heat, hot water, janitor service, electric elevator; references required. Apply 373 Tremont st., Somerville.

TO LET—Modern flats and lofts; steam heat; $20 and $24. 14 Jason st., Wilson sq., Somerville.

FINE SUITE of rooms and bath; modern conveniences; rent $20 month. Inquire 2 Bow st., Somerville.

SUITE of 5 and 6 rooms and bath; good location; $18, $20. PRICE, 1321 Harvard st., Cambridge. 5 rooms, $19; 6 rooms, $20. JANITOR, 1234 Columbus av.

Apartments—Winthrop.

FLATS, cottage, 7 rooms, steam heat, hot water, electric lights, open fireplace, tiled bath, set tubs, hardwood floors, piazza, Ocean State section. $30. Inquire 1 Ocean View rd., Winthrop, or tel. 1500 Winthrop.

Apartments Wanted.

CAPABLE couple desire unfurnished apartment, 4 or 5 rooms, bath, modern conveniences, Somerville or within 10 minutes to Sq. & H. RAILROAD, Somerville.

Furnished Apartments.

LIGHTED SUITES—2, 3, 4 and 5 rooms, gas, private entrance; for working people or light housekeeping; $2.50 and up. 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

HOUSE ST., DORCHESTER—Ideal location, 4 and 5 rooms, bath, kitchenette; $18 and $20. 1 and 2 rooms, bath, kitchen; $10 and $12. Steam heat, hot water. Inquire 11 House st.

BOSTON—Attractive sunny rooms, 3 and 4 rooms, bath; $18 and $20. Steam heat, hot water. Inquire 2 Bow st., Somerville.

TWO LIGHT SUITES, 2 rooms and bath; rooms have large closets; $2.50 weekly. 1505 Shawmut av., Boston.

NEATLY furnished rooms and suites to all comers. 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

Houses to Let and Wanted.

SOUTH END HOUSES
Of from 3 to 17 rooms, at from $22.50 to $100 per month. Apply to JOHN A. WATSON & SON, 18 Pemberton sq.

OWNERS—If you don't find a suitable house to rent through any of the agencies, call at 10 Congress st. and see the COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE. It's West 40th st., New York City.

FOR SALE—Or to rent, modern 10-room house; all improvements, good neighborhood; price, $3,700. EASY PAYMENTS. Apply owner, 1 Bellevue st., Roxbury, near Dudley st. Phone Dudley 604-J.

100 SETS to select from; property cared for. SERVICE & CHATTEL, 262 Dudley st., Roxbury.

FURNISHED BUILDING—Eight rooms, 2 baths, all modern conveniences; rent $50 month. Inquire 1 Walnut 6004.

BOSTON CITY—11-room, modern house at 26 Irving st. to Tremont 1867-R.

TO LET—Modern 6-room house, all conveniences; rent from $14 up. W. GORDON, 473 Tremont st.

Business Property to Let.

A BRICK FACTORY
CONTAINING about 20,000 square feet, to be let in whole or without power, situated on Thorndike st., Lawrence. Good location for any business; rail to all railroads and boat on grounds of Boston & Maine R. R. Apply to JOSEPH H. BRYANT & CO., 1 Post Office sq., Boston, or Kent Cambridge.

SOUTH CAMBRIDGE.
HUBBERT corner, opposite North Cambridge car barns; Massachusetts avenue and Windsor street; excellent location for drug store, confectionery or meat market. 2433-M Cambridge.

TO LET—Large, light manufacturing space, 10,000 square feet; elevator service. LANGLEY & MICHAELS CO., 378 Atlantic av., Boston.

TO LET—Or for sale, property corner Dudley and Washington sts., Roxbury; suitable for any business; will remodel to suit tenant. Apply to owner, 1 Dudley st., Roxbury.

TO LET—Large store, 30 Bromfield st., Boston; suitable for any business; will remodel to suit tenant. F. S. ROSE, 127 Eliot st.

TURNER—And all Shore Chelsea RESTAURANTS. 63 South st., Chelsea.

WAITRESSES—For fashionable summer hotels and restaurants. Call at once. 3d floor, INTERNATIONAL BUREAU, 31 Bedford st., Room 305.

WANTED—Waitress for lunch room; must be neat and experienced; $7 per week. Apply 1 to 2 p. m., 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

WAITRESS—Wanted, a neat waitress for lunch room; must be neat and experienced; $7 per week. Apply 1 to 2 p. m., 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

Female Situations Wanted.

CAPABLE young woman will care for suites or apartments; $4 per week. Address 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

CAPABLE young colored woman will care for apartments; $4 per week. Boston American.

COOK—Colored, first class, wishes position in private family; city references. Address M. PERRILL, 10 Myrtle st., Boston.

DAY WORK—Woman wants work by day or week; good hand. 92 Vernon st., No. 3, 3175-R Roxbury.

DAY WORK—A Scotch woman wants work by the day; will do anything; city references. Write to H. J., 26 Columbia st., Cambridge.

DAY WORK—Wanted work by the day; city references. Call or write 17 Worthington st., Roxbury. Suite 2.

DRESSMAKER—Experienced, wishes to go out by the day; terms reasonable. Address DRESSMAKER, Box 30, Station A, Boston.

DRESSMAKER—Wishes to go out by the day; terms reasonable. Address DRESSMAKER, Box 30, Station A, Boston.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wishes position in private family by hour by two ladies wishing to be together; can do plain sewing; reasonable; city references. Address, with or phone, RUTH H. WARD, 1 Bay State rd., Boston. Back Bay 1000.

HOUSEKEEPER—Trst woman of refinement wishes position as housekeeper; strictly private family; best of references given and required; wages $25 per week. Address HOUSEKEEPER, Boston American.

HOUSEKEEPER—Or cook's position; by middle-aged woman; good cook; best of city references; will go out of city. Address 3 Bow st., Somerville.

HOUSEKEEPER—Or cooking, a responsible position by middle-aged woman; references furnished. Call or address 2364-W Cambridge.

LAUNDRY WORK—Colored lady would like laundry work at home. Address 1 Lagrange st., 1st floor, Room 1.

LAUNDRY WORK—Colored lady would like laundry work at her home. MRS. WEST, 93 Kneeland st., Room 1.

MISS KING'S, 620 Washington st., hotel cooks, waitresses, chambermaids, second floors, steam grills.

WOMAN—Wishes work by the hour. Write 2, ADVG. CO., 31 Canton av., city.

Female Help Wanted.

Pocketbook Makers

$8 TO $12 A WEEK, girls experienced in turning; also apprentices. Apply at once. MALDEN LEATHER GOODS CO., 151 Pleasant st., Malden. Tenants 2 to 5 p. m.

GIRLS WANTED AT ONCE
To learn millinery by the 15 hours Mellenaire method; best and easiest shorthour system; positions guaranteed. Call or write MELLENAIRE SCHOOL, 31 Boylston st., Boston.

BRUSH SETTERS

WANTED—Girls to learn brush setting; steady work. Apply W. P. GOULD BRUSH CO., 340 North st., Boston. 19

25—GIRLS—25

TO TRAIN for nurses; $20 mo. to start; room, board and uniform; to entitle, must be 18 to 35 years old; 8th grade education. HOSPITAL ADDRESS, Box 1, Boston American.

EXP. CASHIER

WANTED—Good, all figure, good person; A1 references. APPLY SPENCE & CO., 2339 Washington st., city. Tenants 2 to 5 p. m.

WAITRESSES

FOR fashionable summer hotels; must handle white suits. APPLY, 88 Boylston st., room 2.

Shirt Operators and Finishers.

Steady employment. Apply at once. CHAUNCY MOORE, 32 Arlington st.

CHOCOLATE DIPPER

AND PACKER. Apply at once. 3d floor, INTERNATIONAL BUREAU, 31 Bedford st., Room 305.

GIRLS—Wanted, 2 girls for soda fountain; $6 per week. Apply at once. PEARL'S QUALITY ICE CREAM, 1 Main st., Everett.

GIRLS—Wanted, 2 girls for soda fountain; $6 per week. Apply at once. HARRIS ICE CREAM CO., 1 Main st., Everett.

COOK, waitress, chamber, pantry, general, housework; $5 to $7 week. 3d floor, 31 Bedford st., Room 305.

EXPERIENCED operators, girls; hemstitchers, ruffle and general work. M. H. DAHL, 7 Bosworth st.

EXPERIENCED waitress; must be neat and good appearance. Apply at once. BARAN RESTAURANT, 1 Boylston st.

EXPERIENCED BOX MAKER wanted. Marks & Hall, 6 Bosworth st., Boston. Apply to EMPLOYMENT DEPARTMENT.

EXPERIENCED in factory care of cutting room; permanent position for right person. Apply to EMPLOYMENT DEPARTMENT, 1 Lagrange st., Room 1, Boston.

HOUSEWORK—Protestant, 2 in family; $25 and $30; 3 in family, $25; 2 in family, $20; 3 in family, $25; 2 in family, $20; 3 in family, $25; 2 in family, $20

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON APRIL 13, 1914

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, APRIL 13, 1914

The Modern Slave-Nature

Today Great Steel Slaves Do the Work That Only Yesterday Was Done by the Feeble Hands of Man.

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

Until our day all the work of the world has been done painfully by men, miserable slaves attached to the soil, stunted by labor, bodies merely fed and worked, and then worked and fed again, and at last put away in a shallow grave dug by some other working body.

Where a hundred men, getting in each other's way, bending their backs and wearing themselves out, would have worked throughout an entire day with picks and shovels, ONE MAN now sits in a big steam shovel slave, directs the work of the monster with a slight movement of his hand, and in a minute pulls up from the earth's depth into the wagon huge rocks that men could not lift. Every minute this monster does a day's work of half a dozen men. And no one suffers, no one is tired, no one is driven—science, that found men slaves of each other and afraid of nature, is setting men free, free of slavery, free of superstition and terror—AND MAKING NATURE AND HER POWERS SLAVES OF MAN.

That is the great accomplishment and glory of this age.

Man uses nature's forces and conquers nature. Only a short time ago nature's forces frightened man.

Civilization must progress in the years ahead of us with a rapidity inconceivable. FOR THE MINDS AND THE BODIES OF MEN ARE SET FREE TO THINK.

While men were physical slaves real thought was impossible, except to the rare man.

Athens was the intellectual centre of the world twenty-five centuries ago, because the Athenians employed slaves in great numbers. Every Athenian citizen learned to think because he had leisure. The citizens thought and developed a national intellect that no nation of our day pretends to equal. The greatest Greek thinker, Aristotle, said that civilization and progress could not exist without slavery—and he was right.

But he did not dream that men one day would use the giant slave of steel and steam.

This century and centuries to follow will surpass the Athenians in intelligence and in the possession of slaves.

Our slaves will be of metal, without nerves. The power of the lightning, of steam, of the tides and of the great sun itself will be the power of these slaves of civilization.

Slave women spun and wove slowly the clothing of the Athenians and the Romans.

Our clothing is made by slave fingers of steel. Great machines, gigantic looms, turn out in a day enough to clothe every citizen of Athens.

The slaves carried their masters in palanquins in Roman days. Steam and the lightning are the slaves that carry us today.

Huge fair-skinned captives from Gaul and Germany did the digging twenty centuries ago.

The slave digs for us today, and those that worked tied to the shovel and the pick until yesterday will soon be free to stand straight AND THINK, AND BE MEN.

It was glorious in the old days to see a strong nobleman's tower on a hill protecting the serfs and slaves at work in the valley below. That tower meant that the poor toilers were protected and kept free from marauders and from murderers.

It is infinitely more glorious to see a great factory above a waterfall in our day, to see the huge power building of Niagara sending over copper wires the invisible electric slaves that work with fearful force in cities miles away.

The old tower of the baron freed the slave from murder and the fear of sudden death.

The modern industrial tower, and such servants of man as the great shovel, WILL FREE THE HUMAN SLAVE FROM HIS SLAVERY.

And that wonderful accomplishment of the human brain, that conquest of Nature and her powers, that dominion over the earth accomplished purely by man's intellect, is the great glory and hope of the human race.

Go to the great steel mill at Gary, in Indiana, and there you see in wonderful perfection man's use of Nature as his slave.

The great ships bring the ore down the lakes. No man's hand has touched it. Jaws of steel have torn it from the ore bed and dropped it into the ships.

At Gary other steel jaws lift it and carry it to the furnaces.

It is melted and great machines pour it out. It is divided into huge ingots, and these, white hot, are carried to the first part of the rolling mill. Still no man's hand has touched that iron. No slave has toiled under its weight.

The ingot is squeezed by one machine, made longer and narrower, squeezed again and made still longer and narrower.

It starts on its journey along the rollers of the mill, squeezed, pressed, handled, turned over, and shaped as it travels hundreds of yards—by hand touching it.

It arrives at last, a red-hot steel rail, the right shape, cut the right length. Machinery turns it over, slides it on an incline. It has made the journey, changing from a shapeless ingot to a finished rail, handled by machinery, the machines guided and controlled by one or two mechanics sitting aloft, pressing levers or buttons, AND WATCHING.

Finished at last and almost ready, the rail slides down the incline, and for the first time a man deals with it. He is a young Scandinavian giant, six and a half feet tall, with yellow hair and a clear gray eye. With huge pincers he turns the rail, and, standing at one end, runs his eye along it. He is no slave, but a well-paid worker. Ten dollars a day is his pay for the use of that true eye. As he looks along the rail he sees the defects, moves the left or the right hand, and another man controlling the straightening machine straightens the rail in order.

And there you have side by side ten rails perfectly straight, and more always coming down the incline to meet the glance of that gray eye.

Do tired, hard-worked men come now to lift these heavy rails and stagger under their weight?

Not at all. They are not even touching black, but still too hot for any man's touch.

A man sitting in his little tower touches a button, and along overhead rails there comes gliding a great electric magnet—on a giant scale—the same as the magnet with which you used to draw little tin ducks across the water.

This magnet slides along, drops down upon the ten rails that weigh thousands of pounds, the electrician presses a button, turns on the current, and man's electric slave glues the rails to the magnet. The ten are lifted at once, as easily as a child would lift a pin; they are carried to a flat car, lowered on to the car, the current is turned off, releasing the rails, and the magnet travels back to get another load.

To realize what progress the human race has made, remember that the race lived for more than two thousand centuries not knowing how to use iron, and then see that giant magnet at Gary loading a car with steel rails, brought from an ore bed one thousand miles away, changed from the ore into the finished rail, AND NEVER TOUCHED BY A MAN'S HAND EXCEPT AS THE MAN WITH THE CLEAR EYE TURNED THE RAIL AND ORDERED THE MACHINE TO STRAIGHTEN IT.

There is SLAVERY, and the ideal slavery that will free the whole human race, by making Nature's power MAN'S SLAVE.

HOW BILL GOT ALONG

When Bill was called into his employer's office and accused of selling some figures on contracts to a rival firm he emphatically denied the charge and wanted to know who had accused him of such a thing. This the boss would not tell, but did tell him that he had been seen working over the books after the others had gone home. Also that it was known to the firm that he had been seen in a gambling house on a certain night, that he had been followed home, and the detective the firm had employed to watch Bill, after the suspicion rested on him, had overheard Bill talking about money he had won in the gambling house.

"Now, what have you to say to that, young man?" asked the boss.

"I have this to say," answered Bill, "that it's all a terrible mistake, and the real culprit is some one else, probably the one that accuses me. Also we are wasting time by not getting at him before he escapes."

"What were you doing in that gambling house?" asked the boss.

"You know I gave you your present job because I believed in you and that you were a steady, hard-working young man with no bad habits, and so, soon as you take charge of that department trouble starts. Now, explain to me what you were doing in that gambling house, if, as you say, you were not gambling."

This Bill could not do without telling about the money his friend Jim had taken from the people he worked for, but had since paid back, so he told the boss, "All I can tell you is that I was not gambling, and the only reason I was there was to try to get back some money my roommate had lost. I finally got this money and returned it to him. That was what your detective heard me talking about in my room when I opened the door unexpectedly and caught him listening. I thought at the time it was some one from the gambling house who had followed me home with intent to get the money from me if possible. That is all I have to say, but I shall try my best to find out who really sold the figures on those contracts."

"That's all for the present," said the boss.

As Bill walked back to his desk he noticed one of the men intently watching him, but Bill gave no sign that he had observed him. H. C.

(To Be Continued.)

The Two Sisters

By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER

CHAPTER LI.

"Oh, I say!" Hadley exclaimed admiringly as he took Caryl's hand in greeting. "You look as sweet as a peach this evening. Don't you know you do?"

"I'm glad you think so," the girl replied coquettishly.

Her eyes dwelt approvingly on his well-built figure in correct evening attire. Any coarseness which his face might have betrayed to the keen observer was not perceived by the companion. The stern simplicity of full dress was becoming to him, and Caryl thought him handsome and distinguished in appearance as he smiled down at her.

"Well," said Hadley, "the first thing for us to do is to decide where we'll go to dinner. Have you any particular preference?"

"None," said Caryl. "I'd rather leave that to you."

"Suppose we go to Livingstone's, then," the man suggested. "They have a corking good cabaret there, and I certainly do like music while my meals. Does that suit you? All right, then," as Caryl nodded. "come along with me."

He took her arm and guided her through the hotel lobby to the street.

Livingston's Restaurant was gay with the glaring over-decoration that passes for elegance under the electric lights. Women gowned in the ultra-stylish mode, chatted stridently with heavy-faced men seated opposite them at the small tables, while waiters hurried silently to and fro over the heavy carpet. At one end of the room a hectic pianist and a sallow, shock-haired violinist were attacking the accompaniment to the latest ragtime atrocity which a rouged woman sank shrieking in a high, piercing voice as she pirouetted up and down the aisles formed by the rows of tables. To Caryl's susceptible senses it seemed like a glimpse of a hitherto unknown world.

"It's wonderful!" she said ecstatically after an unctuous head-waiter had conducted them to a small table in the corner of the room. "This is the first time I have ever been in a place of this sort."

"I like it," her companion agreed. "Some people don't fancy the glitter and music, but I'm strong for them. Somerdyke loathes cabarets. I can't drag him into one."

The smile faded for a moment from Caryl's lips at the mention of Somerdyke's name, and, recollecting anew her grievance, she determined to be more than usually agreeable to her present escort.

"It was very kind of you to think of giving me all this pleasure, Mr. Hadley," she said archly. "I have so little amusement."

"The kindness is all on your side," replied the man. "I was rather afraid to ask you at first, but I let my desire get the best of my timidity. You certainly got my number the first time I ever saw you, girlie."

"I'm afraid that's what you tell every girl you know, Mr. Hadley," Caryl protested.

"Indeed it isn't!" he denied warmly, leaning across the table toward her. "You're different from all the rest, Miss Marvin. You appeal to me as no other girl I have ever met has done. That's the simple truth of the matter."

"Oh, Mr. Hadley!" stammered Caryl, startled into forgetfulness of the part she was assuming. The apparent earnestness of his manner had disconcerted her for the moment. "I'm sure you don't mean that."

"Please call me Ben," he begged. "I know this request seems rather sudden, and all that," he went on, noting with satisfaction how the rich color pulsed in the girl's cheeks, "but I'm going away so soon—and won't be back for some months—and I want you to learn to care a little about me before I go. Do you think I could make you do this?"

"Perhaps," faltered Caryl, her voice trembling with the joyous beating of her heart. Somerdyke had never talked to her like this. She told herself that she was realizing at last that for which she had longed, and her happiness made her breath come fast.

"Then will you begin by calling me by my first name?" Hadley urged, triumph shining in his eyes.

"Yes," promised Caryl, her cheeks crimson with excitement and gratified vanity. "But you mustn't call me 'Miss Marvin' any more, then. My name is 'Caryl.'"

"It's a bargain!" exclaimed Hadley, raising his glass which the waiter had just brought. "Let's drink a cocktail to our better acquaintance—Caryl!"

* * *

Julia had spent a dreary evening in her room. For an hour Mrs. Halloran had tried to entertain her with a lengthy and pointless story of the doings of some remote relatives in "the old country." The girl had listened with a show of interest which gratified the talker, but in reality her thoughts had been elsewhere. She was unaccountably uneasy about Caryl, a fact for which she chided herself.

Twice after Mrs. Halloran had returned to her own rooms in the basement Julia was on the verge of going out to telephone to Deline and ask him what he knew about the people to whom his friend had introduced the stenographer. Then a sense of loyalty to her sister and a mortifying recollection of that sister's insinuations with regard to Deline's attentions deterred her. At last she controlled her doubts and fears sufficiently to undress and go to bed, but sleep eluded her and she lay in the darkness listening for the sound of Caryl's footstep on the stairs. When her clock told her that it was after twelve, she rose, put on he rwrapper and slippers, and paced the floor in an agony of anxiety.

It was one o'clock when the door opened softly and Caryl entered the room. Her face was flushed and her eyes were unnaturally bright. With an exuberance of feeling which her sister had never seen her display before she ran to Julia and flung her arms around her.

"Oh, Judy, Judy!" she exclaimed rapturously, "I've had such a lovely time!"

Again, as once before, Julia's heart sank sickeningly as the acrid odor of liquor assailed her nostrils.

(To Be Continued)

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

Too Late

Mr. Carnegie must bitterly regret the fact that he was not born in time to prevent the Revolutionary War.

Natural Impatience

The dissatisfied stockholders of the New Haven road wish the government would hurry up and dissolve it.

Glooomy Future for Britannia

"Victoria," says G. B. Shaw, "was a Whig; Edward VII. was a Liberal and George V. is a Syndicalist." With a very vague idea of what a Syndicalist is, we have grave fears that the Crown Prince will turn out to be an anarchist.

"Pen" Pictures, So to Speak

Cartoons depicting the horrors of prison life got a man pardoned from the California penitentiary. The first thing the artist had to draw was the attention of the Governor.

Fighting Flight With Flight

Detective in flying boat overtakes thief. "Thieves can fly, so why can't I?" the detective observed, as he cranked up the engine.

Domestic Royalty

King George has invented a movable fireplace, probably because he never cares to wander from his own fireside, although the exigencies of the king business occasionally necessitate his gravelling.

Patent on This Suggestion Is Applied For

If advertising rates, based on circulation, were charged for all the "ads" in the Congressional Record, the volume of that journal would soon be decreased by about 49 per cent.

Small Favors, etc.

Cleveland, which wanted to tax John D. $12,000,000, got $51.60. Which was a pretty good haul, everything considered.

Mr. Taft Cites a Precedent

Mr. Taft says that the way to reduce is to eat apples. It certainly reduced Adam to a dire extremity.

Their Prerogative

Some day, perhaps, we shall have a Congress with the nerve to veto some of the President's legislation.

Dorothy Dix's Article

—ON—

The Lottery of Love—The Wisest and Most Learned Scientists Cannot Tell Us Why a Man Picks Some One Particular Woman to Be His Mate, or Why a Woman Gets Up and Follows Some One Man to the Ends of the World

By DOROTHY DIX

A CORRESPONDENT asks these questions:

"Why should a man or a woman go over all the reasons why he or she should not love some one, and all the equally forcible reasons why some other one who would be best and wisest for him or her to marry, while he or she knows that he or she loves and wants the undesirable party? In short, why should men and women in love be like one who flips a coin to decide a question, and when it comes down heads abides by the tail decision anyhow? Is this subtle thing we call intuition, or the sixth sense, a better guide in love than our coarse, and by no means infallible, reason?"

A general blanket reply to these queries is that men and women love by instinct, and not by rule. There is a mysterious attraction of the individual, just as there is an attraction between the sexes, that nobody can explain.

The wisest and most learned scientists cannot tell us why a man picks out one particular woman out of all the other women to be his mate, or why a woman gets up and follows some one man to the ends of the world. Nor do the man and woman themselves. The wife and husband a man and woman have chosen may be inferior in every way to hundreds of other men and women with whom they were associated daily. The world may wonder at their selection, but to the man and the woman there were only one other man and woman in the world.

It is part of the tragedy of love that the head and the heart do not always approve of the same person, and that the one who fires our fancy seldom comes up to our ideal.

This a man knows before he is hard hit by Cupid's dart, will tell you that the woman he marries must be intelligent, industrious, thrifty, domestic, not given to fashions or folly, and he will hold up his hands in horror over the very idea of a man choosing for a life's mate a giddy little thing who is as pretty and as useless as a painted butterfly.

Nevertheless, here comes along the little butterfly, and the next thing we know the sensible man is breaking his neck chasing after her.

Or it may be a woman who is poor, and who hates poverty with all the ferocious bitterness that a pretty woman feels. All her life she girl has longed for squalid surroundings and the squalid makeshifts that she has had to contrive. All her life she has longed for luxurious surroundings, for pretty clothes and jewels and all that would make a proper frame for her beauty. The sight of her parents' struggle and her little sisters' and brothers' necessities has wrung her heart, and she has grown up with the fixed resolve to marry money if the opportunity ever comes her way.

Finally it does. A rich man, who is good and kind and generous and steady, one who could be guaranteed not only to give her all that she wants but to be a model husband besides, asks her to marry him. She should by all the laws of reason bless all of her gods for her luck and fall upon his neck with devotion; but, alas! her breast heart has gone its own way and bestowed itself upon some youth without a penny to bless himself with, and who is wild and wayward and nothing that her sober judgment commends. To marry him will plunge her deeper into the slough of poverty than ever, and yet he is the one that her very soul cries out for.

Nobody can explain these things, and nobody can suggest a remedy, for when the head and the heart espouse different sides in matrimony there is happiness in following the lead of neither.

The marriage of reason where a man marries a woman because she is suitable, or a woman marries a man because he can give her a fine establishment, is a cold-blooded affair that has no more thrills in it than a jelly-fish, and that palls on one's appetite like a dinner of health foods. A woman may have all the virtues under the sun, but unless there is something in her that quickens a man's blood and makes his throat get a little tight when he thinks about her she will become the weariness of death to him. A man may be a very paragon of perfection, but unless every time she looks at him a woman sees him through a rosy mist of romance the bondage of her wifehood to him becomes iron fetters on her that clank in her ears as she moves.

Nor is there any way to change this. If men and women were not in love with each other before marriage they do not fall in love with each other after marriage, for matrimony is not a promoter of romantic sentiments. It is the fell destroyer of illusions, for both husband and wife inevitably see each other in their worst lights.

There are bound to be conflicts of opinion, clashes of temperament, days of taut nerves and irritability, all the sorry parade of little weaknesses, and vanities, and selfishness that disfigure poor humanity, and nothing else on earth but that inexplicable and indescribable something that we call love, and that makes one person's faults dearer to us than anybody else's virtues, one person beautiful to us, no matter how disfigured, that can make the touch of fever-parched lips sweeter to us than all the kisses of fragrant scented rosebud mouths, can offset all the disenchantment of matrimony.

Yet, on the other hand, if one follows the heart and disregards the head, there is only too often a bitter awakening after the first rapture of love has spent itself, for unfortunately life is a very practical affair and romance and sentiment are not legal tender with the butcher and baker and candlestick maker.

And, as Mr. James would say, "There you are!" Happy the few whose judgments approve their own choice!

Grief and Responsibility

By ELBERT HUBBARD

TO stand by the open grave of one you have loved, and feel the sky shut down over less worth in the world, is the supreme test.

There and then you prove your worth, if ever.

You must live and face the day, and each succeeding day, realizing that "the moving finger writes, and having writ moves on, nor all your tears shall blot a line of it."

Heroes are born, but it is calamity that discovers them.

Once in Western Kansas, in the early eighties, I saw a loaded farm horse wagon side and topple in going across a gully.

The driver leaped from his seat and tried to hold the wagon upright.

The horses swerved down the ditch instead of going straight across and the overturned wagon caught the man and pinned him to the ground. Half a dozen of us sprang from our horses.

But the man was dead.

In the wagon were his wife and six children, the oldest a boy of fifteen.

All were safely caught in the canvas top and uninjured.

That night the mother and the oldest boy sat by the campfire and watched the long night away with their dead. The stars marched in solemn procession across the sky. The slow, crawling night passed. The first faint flush of dawn appeared in the East.

I lay near the campfire, my head pillowed on a saddle, and heard the widowed mother and her boy talking in low but earnest tones.

"We must go back—we must go back to Illinois! It is the only thing to do!" I heard the mother moan.

And the boy answered, "Mother, listen to what I say: we will go on—we will go on. We know where father was going to take us—we know what he was going to do. We will go on, and we will do what he intended to do, and, if possible, we will do it better. We will go on!

* * *

The boy of fifteen arose and put fuel on the fire. After breakfast I saw that boy get a spade, shovel and a pick out of the wagon. With help of others a grave was dug there on the prairie.

The dead was rolled in a blanket that was tied about with thongs. After the fashion of the Indians. Lines were taken from the harness and we lowered the body into the grave.

I saw the boy pat down the mound with the back of the spade.

Then, in the uncertain, awkward, boyish hands the initials of his father, the date of his birth and the date of his death.

* * *

I saw him harness the four horses and help the little girls and sisters into the canvas-covered wagon.

I saw the boy help his mother climb to the seat. I saw him spring up beside her.

I saw him gather up the lines in his strong, calm hands, and swing the whip over the leaders as he gave the shrill word of command and started his horses to the West.

And the cavalcade moved forward to the West—always to the West.

The boy had met calamity and disaster. He had not flinched.

In a single day he had left boyhood behind and become a man. And the years that followed proved him genuine.

What was it worked the change? Grief and responsibility, nobly met.